THE BUFORD GOES ASHORE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MANILA, May 12.—The transport Buford ran ashore on May 11 while entering the harbor at Malabang, Island of Mindanao. The troops were landed. The transport will probably be refloated undamaged.

WAS DISTRIBUTING TROOPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Buford arrived at Manila May 5 from Portland, Or., with the Nineteenth Regiment of Infantry on board. It is the opinion of the transport officers here that at the time of the accident, the vessel was engaged in distributing these troops to the various military stations on the islands. This is a service for which she is well suited on account of her small size and light draught, as compared with most other transports. It is possible, however, that she may have taken men of other regiments from Manila to other island ports.

THE THOMAS TO ASSIST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, May 13.—The transport Thomas has been dispatched to assist the transport Buford, which ran ashore May 11, while entering the harbor of Malabang, Island of Mindanao.

SMALLPOX ON THE SHERMAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HONOLULU, May 12.—The United States transport Sherman, which left here at 11 o'clock today for Manila, returned to port tonight and went into quarantine. After leaving here a case of smallpox was discovered on the tranport.

THE GREAT WAR.

FORMOSA DECLARED IN STATE OF SIEGE.

Japanese Warn Shipping to Steer Clear of Routes Down China Coast.

Russia Has Been Supplying Japan With Munitions of War Sufficient for Squadron Guarding Straits of Sunda—France Accuses Japan of Violating Neutrality of Dutch East Indies.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, May 13, 8 a.m.—[By Pacific Cable, After Midnight Dispatch]. An imperial proclamatio declaring that martial law exists throughout Formosa, and declaring that country to be in a state of siege was gazetted today. The proclamation became effective today.

RUSSIA SUPPLYING JAPAN.

MUNITIONS FOR SQUADRON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It can be said on the highest authority Russia has been supplying Japan with munitions of war since March 15, and these supplies have been all sufficient for the Japanese squadron guarding the Straits of Sunda and operating in the North Sulu Sea. Confirmation of this can be had from the Crown Distilling Company of San Francisco and from a banking firm of world-wide fame, with houses in London, New York and Paris.

For a week past, the news has been discussed in the Army and Navy Club here, but not until today was the information clear enough to justify the statement that the Japanese Admiral, Kamimura, seized four steamships sent from San Francisco with provisions, guns and ammunition for Rojestvensky's fleet.

Diplomats in Japan, while stirring the world's interest by their criticism of the Russian admiral's stay in waters of Indo-China, have been laughing at the situation created by themselves.

The St. Petersburg government made a $3,000,000 war deal with an American banking house, by which deal cargoes were to be sent in seven merchant vessels from San Francisco to the relief of Rojestvensky, the ships to carry everything except coal. Two of them had guns, shells and powder.

Japanese in the United States not only knew of the deal, but were able to keep their government informed of the sailing of the fleet, the ports they could touch, and hence their choice of two channels in making an entrance to the South China Sea.

Only four sailed from San Francisco. When the first three had been captured—the last of the three April 4, off the Borneo coast—the Russian consul informed his government. The American banking house, through its Paris agency, was then told to hold the other ships in San Francisco.

It had become clear to the Russians that someone had betrayed their plans and that the dispatch of the other vessels would be only a waste of money.

The fourth ship, however, had sailed before Russia canceled the contract, and this vessel, it is positively said, was captured in Sibutu Straits, Sunday, April 30.

FOURTH BALTIC FLEET. LEAVES LIBAU VERY SOON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Friday May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The fourth squadron of the Baltic fleet will leave Libau next week. Two hundred and twenty men leave Hamburg today for Libau to form crews of five transports. These are said to include the Belgravia, the Assyria, the Constantine and the Valesia, which, according to reports, were sold to Russia by the Hamburg-American Company through the Wachter Company of St. Petersburg.

WARNED FROM CHINA COAST.

DANGEROUS ROUTE FOR SHIPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MANILA, May 12.—The Occident and Orient Steamship Company's Steamer Doric, outward bound from Nagasaki, met a Japanese scout ship and was warned not to take a route down the China Coast, which would bring her in proximity with the Pescadores Islands.

WILL STOP AT MIDWAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The steamship Coptic, which sailed today for the Orient with 125 passengers and 4000 tons of general merchandise, much of which is for Japan, will stop at Midway Island for cable advices before entering the zone of possible danger.

TRANSPORT STRIKES MINE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHEFOO, May 13, 8 a.m.—A merchant vessel which has arrived here confirms the report that the Japanese transport Sheyutsu with 1800 tons of provisions, bound for Newchwang, struck a mine May 4 near the Miaotao Islands. The entire afterpart of the transport was blown away. The Sheyutsu signaled the merchantman that she was in distress but she declined aid when she ascertained that the merchantman was a Chinese ship. The captain of the merchantman states that it seemed impossible that the transport could live in the storm prevailing at the time.

ROJESTVENSKY DOOMED.

ADMIRAL FOLGER'S OPINION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VANCOUVER, (B. C.) May 12.—Rear-Admiral Folger, who is retiring as commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, was a passenger on the steamship India from the Orient today. He said:

"I have no doubt of the result of the naval fight between Russia and Japan. Togo has a decided superiority in a class of armored cruisers which would play the prominent part in the fight. What is to prevent him making circles around Admiral Nebogatoff's slow moving squadron, which, it is reported, has only a speed of seven knots an hour, and hammering his ships to pieces? He could do the same with Rojestvensky."

THROUGH STRAITS, PERHAPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 12.—The Admiralty declines to divulge any information which it has about the ships of the Vladivostok division which are reported off the coast of Japan. The impression prevails in naval circles that, acting under the instructions of Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky, they have passed through the Soguru Straits into the Pacific Ocean, on a reconnoissance, to ascertain if the passage is free of mines and feasible for Rojestvensky's squadron, and also to threaten Japanese commerce. All the Russian naval divisions now in the Far East are acting under Rojestvensky's orders.

FRENCH WORM TURNS.

JAPAN'S BREACH OF NEUTRALITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, May 12.—A semi-official statement from high sources has been published, giving France's position in reply to Japan's charges of breach of neutrality. One of the headings is:

"Japan has done in the Philippines and Dutch East Indies the same as she accuses France of doing in Indo-China."

The conclusions are set forth as being:

"First—The French neutrality regulations were not established for the present war, but existed previously, without protest from Japan.

"Second—France has exercised her sovereignty to fulfill the regulations, not only to the full letter, but has also adopted special measures to maintain absolute impartiality.

"Third—The only direct purchase of coal by the Russians was at Algiers, where the quantity was insignificant. The main stock of coal was purchased in Germany and England, without protest.

"Fourth—Any advantages which the Russian Second Pacific Squadron obtained by anchoring off the French Coast were equally open to the Japanese if they had taken the offensive, instead of awaiting the Russians."

"BIG TIM'S" CHOICE.

NEW YORK, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Big Tim" Sullivan intends to end his career as Congressman, and next year he is going back to Albany as State Senator. He will not finish his term as a member of Congress but will resign to begin service at Albany. His reason for this move is that Washington is too far from the Bowery, and that reason satisfactorily explains everything to those who know "Big Tim" and the Bowery. The salary of Congressman is $5000 a year. He receives mileage, allowance for stationery and $100 a month for salary of clerk. The salary of State Senator is $1500 a year. The term is two years, the same as that of Congressman. The State Senator receives no allowance for clerk hire, but salary is no object with Sullivan, for he is reputed to be a millionaire. The foundation of his fortune was laid in the liquor business. Later on, he acquired racehorses and variety theaters. He started in life as a bootblack.

SECRETARY HAY NOT TO RESIGN.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 12.—Spencer M. Eddy, secretary of the American Embassy, has returned from Badnauheim. He found Secretary of State Hay greatly improved. After completing the cure, the Secretary will go to London, sailing for the United States June 7. Mr. Hay informed Mr. Eddy that there is no truth in the reports that it is his intention to resign the Secretaryship of State.

BUCKETSHOPS COMBINE.

Independent Board of Trade to be Established in Chicago, by Reason of Supreme Court's Decision.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An Independent Board of Trade to be run by the combined bucket-shop interests of the country is to be established in Chicago. Driven to the last extremity by the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, bucketshop proprietors have been devising plans for carrying on their former profitable game.

The name selected for the new establishment is "The Consolidated Board of Trade of Chicago." Its general object will be to manufacture quotations on grain and provisions as nearly as possible like those of the Chicago Board of Trade. Probably the first officials of the bucketshop organization will be: President, Sydnam McHie, Hammond, Ind.; first vice-president, C. C. Christie, Kansas City; second vice-president, W. J. Odell, Cincinnati. The officials of the Chicago Board of Trade question the ability of the proposed exchange to secure legal standing in Illinois.

CROKER'S SON DIES FROM DOPE.

OFFSPRING OF TAMMANY CHIEF KILLED IN KANSAS CITY.

While on His Way to Ranch in Oklahoma, Herbert V. Goes up Against Opium Joint and Expires on Train to Which He is Assisted by Negro, Who Has Been Arrested.

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Herbert V. Croker, a son of Richard Croker, the former Tammany leader of New York, was found dead on a southbound Santa Fé train near Newton, Kan., early this morning, and it is supposed that he died of opium poisoning. The body was taken from the train at Newton.

From letters on the dead man, it appears he was on the way from New York to spend a vacation at the One Hundred and One Ranch, Bliss, (Okla.) He stopped in Kansas City on his way west yesterday, but did not register at a hotel, or, so far as known, making his identity known to any one. He visited the Elm Ridge races in the afternoon, but his conduct was not unusual.

At 10 o'clock last night, Croker, in a condition of stupor, was put on board a chair car on a Santa Fé train by a negro, who gave him a purse containing $19 in money and a ticket to Bliss, Oklahoma. Croker imediately lapsed into a heavy sleep. His fellow-passengers noticed his sleep become quieter. No attention was paid to his condition until Newton had been nearly reached, when the conductor, seeking to arouse him to collect his ticket, found him dead.

The coroner at Newton began an inquest tonight, at which trainmen testified that Croker did not smell of liquor. The inquest was adjourned until tomorrow.

The police of this city found the negro who put Mr. Croker on the train. He was a porter at the Coates House, named Woodson. He said that Croker, when at the hotel, asked to be taken to an opium joint, that he took him to such a place kept by a Chinaman and that Croker stayed there for an hour and that then, at his request, Woodson took Croker to the train and helped him on board.

NOT DRUNK BUT DRUGGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWTON (Kan.) May 12.—The coroner's jury in the Croker case was excused tonight until tomorrow morning, after examining the trainmen. The testimony introduced at the inquest by the trainmen tended to show that Croker was not drunk, but had been drugged.

A brother of the dead man is coming from New York to take the body home, according to a telegram received here tonight.

WOODSON ARRESTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KANSAS CITY, May 13.—Charles Woodson, the negro porter who accompanied Croker to the train, was arrested this (Saturday) morning and held for investigation.

CABLEGRAM TO IRELAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—News of the sudden death of Herbert Croker, son of Richard Croker, was received in this city today from Newton, Kan., by his oldest brother, Richard, Jr., and his mother, at their home. The Croker home tonight was plunged into deepest gloom. Herbert Croker left this city a few days ago to take a vacation on a friend's ranch in Oklahoma. It is understood he had been in ill health and had gone to recuperate. A cablegram was sent to his father in Ireland.

SHONTS ON CANAL.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Panama Canal Commission, declared today that in the few weeks he had been with the work on the affairs of the canal he had discovered that, while the immensity of the project is likely to stagger even an enthusiastic supporter of it, the obstacles presented are by no means insuperable. Shonts left today for Washington.

DISASTERS.

EXPLOSION IN MINE.

Seven Men Dead at Butte, Mont.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUTTE (Mont.) May 12.—Seven men were killed and one injured, probably fatally, in an explosion in the Corra mine, one of the Heinze properties, this afternoon. The dead.

DANIEL O'BRIEN,
JOHN HOULAHAN,
R. H. HILL,
DAVE GILL,
NELS WAMPA,
JOHN KRAMER,
DANIEL HAILEY.

Injured:

The cause of the explosion is not known, and can only be surmised. Nels Wampa was carrying an armful of about forty sticks of dynamite, approximately twenty-five pounds, to be used for blasting purposes. He was climbing a ladder to join his companions on the 1400-foot level when the dynamite exploded with terrific force. It is believed that Wampa touched his candle to the explosive.

Wampa was blown to bits, fragments of his body being found several hundred feet away. Two men working near by were blown to pieces, their remains when picked up filling seven sacks. Four others, working about one hundred feet distant, were instantly killed, though their bodies were not mutilated.

The drift in which the unfortunate men were working was completely littered with human fragments. While Foreman Thomas Varden was groping in the dense smoke in an effort to rescue the men, he found half of the top of Wampa's head hanging to an electric-light wire, over a hundred feet distant from the scene of the explosion. Several of the rescue party were overcome by the terrible sight.

GAS HOLDER'S COLLAPSE.

MANY POINT BREEZE VICTIMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Four men were killed and two-score others were more or less seriously burned today by the collapse of an immense gas holder at the Point Breeze works of the United Gas Improvement Company in the southern part of the city. The dead:

GEORGE H. WAHELN, a tin roofer.
JAMES O'GILBIE, his assistant.
OWEN BRADY.
ROBERT FLEMING, employé of the gas company.

The gas holder collapsed from some unknown cause, and the great volume of gas which the holder contained exploded with such force that buildings within a radius of half a mile were shaken. It is believed that when the gas escaped from the holder, it was ignited by the tinner's furnace, causing a great flame.

WRECK OF 'FRISCO METEOR.

TEN PERSONS INJURED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Ten persons were hurt in the wreck of the 'Frisco Meteor, the Oklahoma and Texas Limited train, in the Rosedale (Kan.) Railroad yards tonight by the "Meteor" crashing into five box cars, which stood on the main line. The injured:

JOHN CLEVELAND, engineer, will die.

TOM JOHNSON, fireman, hip and shoulder hurt.

J. N. ATHERTON, mail clerk, back sprained and bruised.

B. H. HAWKS, baggageman, leg crushed by falling trunks.

H. A. BAUER, Custer, O. T., side hurt.

S. T. POST, arm crushed.

A. D. HARCLEROD, Bronson, Kans., wrist sprained.

WRECK ON COTTON BELT.

FOUR REPORTED KILLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WACO (Tex.) May 12.—In a wreck on the Cotton Belt Railway today between Texarkana and Waco, four persons are reported killed, including the fireman and engineer. The train was ditched. Details are not obtainable, as the telegraph wires are disabled.

BURIAL OF CORPSES OCCUPIES SNYDER.

Nearly a Hundred Victims of the Tornado Interred in the Little Town. Terrific Winds in Oklahoma, West Virginia and Indian Territory.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SNYDER (Okla.) May 12.—Nearly one hundred corpses were buried here last night and today, removing the most grewsome evidence of the tornado which nearly destroyed the town Wednesday night. None of the injured died during the night. Some of them have been kept alive only by the skillful efforts of physicians and nurses working in the emergency hospital. As soon as daylight came, people were at work getting ready to perform the last rites for the dead.

Three carloads of coffins arrived during the night from Oklahoma City, together with a dozen undertakers from the convention of undertakers in session there. Workmen also came in on a special train, furnished by the Frisco, and the work of burial was carried on with the utmost dispatch.

During the morning a heavy rain came up and rendered operations difficult. The floor of the morgue was covered with water. Most of the buildings that remain standing admitted streams of water through the roofs, and the temporary hospital where the injured remained leaked like a sieve, wetting a number of the patients. The rain, which was accompanied by some wind and hail, served to frighten the residents, but those who were able kept bravely at work throughout the water and mud, caring for their suffering injured and burying their dead. Several of the newly-made graves were filled with water.

Two more injured were discovered under some debris early in the morning, but neither was identified. They were pinioned under a house. One, a man, was delirious, and the other, a boy, was unconscious.

Owing to the failure to keep any records at the outset there has been great difficulty in securing an accurate list of the number of dead. The Associated Press representative secured the first list approaching completeness, Thursday afternoon, and but few alterations have been made. The two or three bodies that have been found since have not been identified.

Responses of a generous nature have been made by many cities and towns in the Territory, several thousand dollars' worth of food and clothing having been sent in and placed in charge of the local committee for distribution. Relief work has also been furnished sufficiently to meet every requirement.

During the day, complaints were made to the City Marshal that bodies of the dead had been robbed by vandals, and he issued an order that badges must be worn by every person in town. The order was accompanied by a warning that those who refused to wear the badges must go to jail or leave on the first train.

The Engineering Corps, a division of the Oklahoma National Guard, arrived from Lawton during the afternoon, and went into camp. It is presumed that the mission of the company is to assist in preserving order and protecting property.

One of the most remarkable phases of the disaster is the great percentage of killed or seriously wounded. There were remarkably few minor injuries in proportion to the dead, and the killed exceed 10 per cent. of the total population of the town. The number of dead as near as can be ascertained is ninety-five.

Tonight there are few unburied bodies left, and interment will be completed in the morning. The citizens will then turn their attention to the erection of suitable habitations for the living, many of whom are now compelled to live practically with no shelter while buildings that are habitable are filled to overflowing. A second appeal has been sent out by the local committee, stating that food and clothing have been received in abundance, but the necessity for materials for building homes for the homeless is pressing. It is thought that about twelve or fifteen of the most seriously injured will die.

DEATHS OUTSIDE OF TOWN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SNYDER, May 12.—One hundred and twenty lives were lost in the tornado that wrecked the town of Snyder Wednesday night, according to late reports received today. Reports brought in from the country, which has been cut off from wire communication for two days, say that twenty-five persons were killed outside of Snyder. The news of the loss in the country was brought in by farmers, who come to town by wagon, and verification naturally will be slow.

The counted dead at Snyder today is ninety-five, while thirty-five are still missing, and it is believed that nearly twenty-five of the injured will die.

Those who have investigated still maintain that the property loss will not be less than half a million dollars. Among the principal losers are:

B. C. Burnet, cotton gin, loss $14,000; carried tornado insurance for $8000.

Odd Fellows' Hal, $2000.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BINGHAMTON, May 12.—George Bailey, reported among the killed in the Snyder, Okla., tornado, is believed to be a native of this city, who went to Oklahoma, near Snyder, about a year ago.

TROOPS AND RATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LAWTON (Okla.) May 12.—Col. Kingsbury, commandant of the Eighth Cavalry located at Fort Sill, today made a requisition upon the War Department for orders to send troops to Snyder with rations for the tornado sufferers. The Engineering Corps of the Oklahoma National Guard started today for Snyder with seventy-five tents to be used as temporary homes for the destitute.

WRECK FATALITIES NOT ALL KNOWN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) May 12.—The exact number of lives lost in South Harrisburg, yesterday, by the crash of the second section of the Cleveland and Cincinnati Express into a car of dynamite in a wrecked freight train is not yet known. Eleven bodies have been identified, and nine charred corpses await recognition at the temporary morgue.

Superintendent W. B. McCaleb of the Philadelphia division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, on which the disaster occurred, said today that it is impossible to tell what the number of fatalities will be.

The identified dead are:

VICTOR L. CRABBE.
GEORGE ZIEGER.
JAMES R. PHILLIPS, all of Pittsburgh.
ANDERSON ALBERT CROSBY.
MRS. ROBERT G. DOUGHERTY.
J. F. SILVERMAN, all of Philadelphia.

Infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marions.

C. KUHLMAN, Altoona.

H. K. THOMAS, Philadelphia, engineer of Express train.

MRS. SHAW, Pittsburgh.

SAMUEL S. SHUBERT, New York.

Albert Crosby of Philadelphia, conductor of the Express, died last night at the hospital, and Samuel S. Shubert, the New York theatrical manager, died today at a hotel.

At the hospital, still in critical condition, is Joseph Ehrly of New York.

Of the 136 injured, 106 received treatment at the hospital. Of this number, fifty remained there and the six deaths that have occurred leaves the number still there forty-four. Several of the injured are in hotels.

United States Senator Knox, whose daughter, Mrs. J. H. Tindell, and her husband, escaped from the wreck with slight injuries and were taken to the executive mansion, arrived here last night and took Mr. and Mrs. Tindell to his farm at Valley Forge.

The coroner, George C. Krause, of Harrisburg, will not hold an inquest until after the railroad company has completed its investigation into the cause of the disaster. No estimate of the financial loss of the railroad property has been made by the company officials, although it is believed that $100,000 will not cover the loss of the passenger train alone.

SAM S. SHUBERT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Sam S. Shubert, who died at Harrisburg, Pa., today from injuries sustained in yesterday's railroad wreck, was one of the most successful of the young theatrical managers in the country. From newsboy in Syracuse, less than 20 years ago, he and his brother, Lee, rose through the ranks, until now the partnership controls several theatres in this city, a dozen or more in other cities in this country, and a playhouse in London. It was only recently that they secured control of the London house, the Waldorf. In addition to the theatres, the partnership owns several companies, which have produced most successful plays.

TWENTY-TWO DEAD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HARRISBURG, May 12.—Two more victims of the wreck of the Cleveland and Cincinnati express of the Pennsylvania road yesterday morning died today, bringing the total to twenty-two. Two others are in a critical condition. Sixteen of the dead have been identified. The bodies of the others are so horribly charred and burned that it is doubtful if they will ever be positively identified.

SEVERE STORMS ELSEWHERE.

INDIAN TERRITORY VISITED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) May 12—A severe hail, wind and rain storm visited Marlow, Duncan, Rush Springs and Chickasha, Indian Territory, this morning. At Marlow, about a dozen small houses were blown down and a few substantial structures were unroofed. Hail and wind destroyed much window glass, causing much damage to contents of buildings.

One family was quite seriously hurt by the collapse of a small house.

No damage was done at Rush Springs, except by the hail and water, the hail destroying window glass and permitting damage to stock of goods by water.

At Chickasha, the damage from hail and water is considerable. One house was destroyed by lightning.

IN WEST VIRGINIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HUNTINGTON (W. Va.) May 12.—A terrific storm of wind and rain which has prevailed for the past eighteen hours created havoc throughout this section. Rumors of loss of life cannot yet be verified. Above Cattletsburg, the torrent washed out three hundred feet of the big pipe line of the Triple State Gas Company and the residents of Cuyandotte, Huntington, Kenova, Cattlesburg, Ashland and Ironton and the smaller towns have been without light and gas for cooking. The unprecedented rise in Guyandotte River, 18 feet within twelve hours, carried between seventy-five and one hundred thousand logs out into the Ohio River. Heavy damage to farmers was reported along the streams, houses, barns, outhouses and livestock being carried away by the rush of water.

RAINFALL AT CINCINNATI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CINCINNATI (O.) May 12.—The rainfall for the past twenty-four hours reached 3.35 inches in this city, flooding streets, causing many washouts on the railroads, blocking traffic on several street car lines and doing a great deal of damage to houses and vegetation over a large seceion. Heavy damage was reported in the oil fields. Four persons have been struck by lightning and two of them are dying.

LOSS AT MARLOW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GUTHRIE (O. T.) May 12.—A terrific wind and hailstorm struck Marlow, Indian Territory today. Many business houses were damaged. Light structures were demolished, and great damage to residence property is reported. The Catholic Church was lifted from its foundation. Two children were seriously injured. It is estimated that the property loss will amount to over $30,000.

BREAK BONDS WITH STRIKERS.

Chicago Team Owners Make Demands Upon Shea.

Will Deliver Goods from Boycotted Firms.

Illinois Manufacturers' Association in Fight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The bonds of neutrality between the team owners of Chicago and the Teamsters' Union were broken tonight when the team owners, who have stood by the unions in their fight against the Employers' Association until their own business interests were threatened, demanded permission from President Shea and a committee of strike leaders to deliver goods from boycotted firms.

The committee of teamsters was asked to call off the strike or be forced into a position where a general strike of teamsters will be the only alternative, with all the business interests of Chicago lined up against them, determined to crush the organization in its entirety.

In addition to this surprising turn in the tide of affairs on the part of the team owners, the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, composed of 800 manufacturing concerns, determined to join hands with the Employers' Association in making the Employers' Teaming Company a permanent cooperative institution capitalized at millions of dollars.

THREE SEVERE BLOWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—Three severe blows were dealt to the cause of the striking teamsters tonight, and as a result the governing body of the organization, the teamsters' joint council, will meet tomorrow night to decide whether or not the strike shall be called off.

The decision to call this meeting of the council followed a two hours' session between the officials of the Teamsters' Union and the Team Owners' Association. The members of the latter body have all through the present strike been favorable to the teamsters rather than to the employers' association. Tonight, however, the team owners informed the teamsters that their cause was lost and that the best thing they could do was to call off the strike and do it at once. The teamsters demurred, but the team owners were obdurate and the meeting of the council was set for tomorrow morning.

The second blow came from the Team Owners' Association when the resignation of John C. Driscoll, its secretary, was tendered and accepted. Secretary Driscoll has been an official of the association since its inception, several years ago, and during the present strike has been a potent factor on the side of the teamsters. There was much dissatisfaction among the members of the organization with certain actions of Secretary Driscoll in connection with the strike. The exact nature of the difficulty that led to his resignation is not known.

The third blow was administered at the meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, which is made up from business men from all parts of the State. At a secret meeting held tonight the members of the association decided that they would uphold the cause of the Employers' Association, which has been conducting the fight against the strikers, and that they would do all in their power to make the Employers' Association a permanent institution.

SUMMARY OF SITUATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—Some employers laid off union teamsters today on account of lack of business. More than the usual number of teams, about 1800, it was said, made deliveries today, guarded by 2100 policemen and about the same number of deputy sheriffs.

A large number of the negro strike breakers have been dropped and their places taken by white men. The health authorities have decided to vaccinate all negro teamsters brought here from the South, as a precautionary measure, as there are 100 patients in the smallpox hospital.

There was practically no interference with non union drivers, and but little disorder today.

Socialists of national reputation, including William Mailly, former national secretary of the Socialist party, and Seymour Stedman, prominent in the party, have arrived in Chicago. It is said they came here to argue with the union labor leaders on the power of the ballot. Up to this time the Socialists never have been cordially welcomed by the teamsters, who, relying on strikes, looked upon the ballot as something of no value in correcting their grievances. But as a result of the crisis in the teamsters' affairs, the Socialists were received cordially today by President Shea of the teamsters and an amicable conference followed the arrival of the visitors.

"It is just such conflicts as the teamsters' strike that proves that wage workers must control the powers of government if they would get justice," said Mailly.

TO MAKE UP BLACK LIST.

It was stated authoritatively today that next week the Employers' Association will make up a black list of all teamsters who have gone out on strike. These men, 4300 in all, will be notified that they can come back to work any time during the week, but if they have not returned by the end of next week, they will never be reinstated, under any circumstance. The black list programme is said to be more complete and different than that which was followed during the A.R.U. strike, in 1894. It was stated by the Employers' Association today that already 2400 positions have been filled and that they were rapidly filling the others.

Spread of sympathetic strikes among public school children received a new impetus today, when pupils of the Carter H. Harrison school, at Twenty-third street and Wentworth avenue, went out on strike when wagons with non-union drivers arrived at the building to deliver coal.

At the Employers' Association's office it was said the number of men laid off because of dullness in trade and subsequent lack of demand for certain manufactured goods would run into the thousands, and would continue unless normal business conditions returned soon.

HUNDREDS OF WAGONS OUT.

Hundreds of wagons were sent out today by strike-bound houses, advertisements for teamsters filled the newspapers, and on every side was evidence of aggressiveness of the employers. The department stores, particularly, caused large advertisements to appear simultaneously in the newspapers, announcing that men are wanted to "fill permanent positions" as teamsters and deliveries. Protection was promised to prospective drivers, and the character of men the department stores desire to recruit was intimated by the fact that references are required from applicants. Most of the advertisements state that "union or non-union men" will be accepted.

Kinsley's restaurant, famed as the scene of banquets, where Presidents and royalty have dined, has been turned into a hotel where non-union colored and white teamsters are housed.

The teamsters' strike entered upon the sixth week today as an "endurance contest." Employers and strikers both declare the duration of the controversy now depends solely upon the steadfastness of the other side.

A move which the strike leaders are planning to make has relation to an appeal for a grand jury investigation of the Employers' Teaming Company. Attorney Seymour Stedman has conferred with President Dold of the Federation of Labor and advised the opening of a "personal" legal campaign against the employers. It was said that Stedman proposed the prosecution of individual employers for the violation of various city ordinances.

FEDERAL COURTS AND DIVORCE.

Separation Actions Should be Taken from State Tribunals Entirely, Says New York Judge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In his decision annulling the marriage of Marguerite Lemon Littell, an opera singer, now connected with the Metropolitan Opera Company, Judge Dugro of the Supreme Court said today: "There is something radically wrong about divorce laws. It seems to me that they ought to be changed. Divorces should be taken entirely out of the jurisdiction of State courts and placed under the jurisdiction of the Federal courts."

Continuing, the Judge said: "I would greatly prefer to make a different decision but it is plain that Chicago courts have not acquired jurisdiction in Littell's first wife's divorce suit and that the decree is therefore void. So, although there is no doubt that Littell married Miss Lemon, the law compels me to grant a decree of annulment."

In her action for annulment, the plaintiff asserted that the divorce obtained by Mrs. Mabel Littell, in 1899 was void.

Marguerite Lemon married J. Read Littell, a prominent patent attorney three years ago, and they lived together until a few months ago, when Mrs. Littell brought action for annulment.

Miss Lemon abandoned the stage when she married but returned to it again when she left her husband. She was the first flower girl in "Parsifal," and played Nedda in "Pagliacci," in San Francisco.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The American Bible Society yesterday held its eighty-ninth annual meeting, in Bible House. Arrangements will be made, it was announced, for a special celebration of the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the society, in May, 1904. Secretary Haven presented the report of the Board of Managers. It showed that in the year ending March 31, the society's receipts fell off somewhat. The disbursements were $610,018, of which $183,952 was sent to foreign agencies. They were issued 1,531,096 copies of the Bible, the New Testament and portions of the Scripture. The secretary stated that the society now has field agents in this country with headquarters at Boston, Spartanburg, S. C., Morristown, Tennessee, Cincinnati and St. Paul.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE "LINERS."

10 O'clock Saturday Nights.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier, especially Sunday real estate announcements, which in order to printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential in order to get the paper out on time to stop receiving real estate ads. at 10 o'clock Saturday nights.

Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays.

Sunday "Want" ads. will still be received by 'phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday nights.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

Department Commander—W. W. Russell, Marysville.

Junior Vice-Commander—A. T. Needham, Oakland.

Delegate-at-Large—A. D. Cutler, San Francisco.

Alternates—J. N. Hawk, J. J. Frank, J. J. Hawley, J. M. Bailey, John T. Nourse, E. O. Folts, James Haynes, William E. Lutz and G. W. Stopl.

Redding was chosen for the next meeting place, winning by a large majority over San José and Santa Barbara. The result was rather surprising, as Northern California did not expect encampments in succession. The retiring Commander, Charles T. Rice, was presented with a valuable badge by past Commander E. C. Seymour on behalf of the department.

Tonight the encampment and the other organizations had completed their work, and a big reception and dance was tendered to them. The most impressive feature of today was the presentation of a flag to the Marysville High School by the Woman's Relief Corps.

PACIFIC SLOPE.

NORTH HAS STRONG PULL.

Redding Gets Next G.A.R. Department Encampment.

Dr. W. W. Russell of Marysville is Commander.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

Department Commander—W. W. Russell, Marysville.

Junior Vice-Commander—A. T. Needham, Oakland.

Council of Administration—Horace Dutton, San Francisco; T. H. Mass, San Francisco; E. L. Hawk, Newcastle; C. S. Hiss, San Francisco; J. L. Hattery, San Bernardino.

Alternates—J. N. Hawk, J. J. Frank, J. J. Hawley, J. M. Bailey, John T. Dutton, E. O. Folts, James Haynes, William E. Lutz and G. W. Stopl.

Reading was chosen for the next encampment place, winning by a large majority over San José and Santa Barbara. The result was rather surprising, as Northern California did not expect the encampments in succession. The retiring Commander, Charles T. Rice, was presented with a valuable badge by Past Commander E. C. Seymour on behalf of the department.

Tonight the encampment and the auxiliary organizations had completed their work, and a big reception and banquet was tendered to them. The most interesting feature of today was the presentation of a flag to the Marysville High School by the Woman's Relief Corps.

ANOTHER BONDSMAN OR JAIL FOR FRENCH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—Dist.-Atty. A. M. Seymour and Deputy Sheriff Reese had a stormy time in San Francisco today. They were in that city for the purpose of inducing Frank French, the ex-Senator who is under indictment for accepting a bribe, to find another bondsman to take the place of J. W. Wilson of this city or to become an inmate of the Sacramento County Jail.

This morning at 10 o'clock Reese located French at his residence, on Duncan street, and arrested him. French requested to be taken to the office of his attorney, George O. Collins, and Reese accommodated him. He found Atorney Seymour there before him.

A two hours' talk followed and through it all Reese expected that Collins would produce a bondsman to relieve Wilson and at the same time relieve him of his prisoner. But the bondsmen did not appear and finally Reese headed his man toward the ferry to catch a train for this city.

But Judge Lawlor intervened. Before he reached the ferry, Reese was served with a writ issued by Judge Lawlor commanding him to appear before the court with his prisoner at 8 o'clock in the evening and show by what authority he was taking French from San Francisco.

Reese answered the summons in person, expecting to find the District Attorney on hand to fight his battle. But Seymour had disappeared—started for this city on a late train, it transpired—and Reese was compelled to get along without him. Reese asked the court for a continuance until 1 o'clock tomorrow in order that Seymour might be present, and Judge Lawlor granted the request.

Reese, after the session ended, telephoned to this city and Dist.-Atty. Seymour will leave for San Francisco on an early train tomorrow and will be in Judge Lawlor's courtroom to fight out the battle tomorrow afternoon.

H IS DEATH IS INOPPORTUNE.

JUDGE BELLINGER EXPIRES AT HIS HOME IN PORTLAND.

End of Oregon's Foremost Jurist Regretted Equally by All Parties Connected With Land Fraud Cases, and What Bearing it Will Have Upon Them is Matter of Speculation.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 12.—Judge Charles B. Bellinger of the United States District Court for the district of Oregon died late this afternoon of a complication of diseases.

Charles B. Bellinger was born at Maquon, Ill., November 21, 1839. His parents brought him to Oregon in 1847, when he was 8 years old. Judge Bellinger's education was obtained in the common schools of Marion county, Or., and at Willamette University, Salem.

He was admitted to the bar in 1863, but practiced law for only a year, when he became editor of the Arena, a Democratic newspaper published at Salem. Poor health terminated his connection with the paper two years later. He pursued the mercantile business for a year and reëntered the newspaper business as editor of another political publication, the States Right Democrat of Albany.

As a result of the prominent part he took in the political field he was elected to the Legislature on the Democratic ticket. He came to Portland to reside in 1870, and assumed editorial control of the Daily News, which he held about a year, when he was appointed Prosecuting Attorney.

During the Modoc War he served with such distinction as colonel of his regiment that he was commended for gallantry in action by Gen. Wheaton.

HIS LEGAL CAREER.

In 1880 he formed a law partnership with ex-United States Senator J. H. Dolph. Hon. Cyrus A. Dolph, Judge Rufus Mallory and ex-United States Senator Joseph Simon, as Dolph, Bellinger, Mallory & Simon, which for several years was the most prominent law firm in this State. He withdrew from the firm in 1893, when appointed judge of the United States District Court of Oregon by President Cleveland.

Judge Bellinger was a lawyer well versed in the knowledge of his profession. In addition, he possessed a finely-balanced judicial mind, as is evidenced by the number of his decisions sustained by the Appellate Court. His ideas of equity was strict, which, with the fact that he had no political affiliations with or antagonisms to the defendants in the present land-fraud cases, fitted him peculiarly to try with justice cases which involved the prominent representatives of the Republican party now at the bar.

For these reasons Judge Bellinger's death came at an inopportune time and is regretted equally by all persons connected with the important cases. What bearing his death will have on the land fraud cases is purely a matter of speculation.

CAPT. HART IN TROUBLE.

ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Franklin W. Hart of Washington, paymaster of the transport Lawton, is in serious trouble here, as he was arrested today for drunkenness and will be courtmartialed.

Hart, who was for four years on the cruiser Philadelphia, as paymaster, and was recently transferred to the Lawton, came down from Mare Island yesterday with orders for $10,000 on the navy pay office here. He turned up today so much under the influence of liquor that he was unable to transact business. He was accompanied by a friend who was even drunker than himself. Officials at the navy pay office, after trying to get a lucid statement from Hart, had him arrested.

It could not be learned what he had done with the $10,000 in orders.

DEMURRER IS SUSTAINED.

GRAY BROTHERS VS. THE TIMES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the suit of the Gray Bros. vs. the Times-Mirror Company, of Los Angeles, a demurrer to the complaint was sustained today by Judge Hebbard, on the ground that the allegations concerning the business of the plaintiffs are insufficient to connect them with the subject matter of the article set forth in the complaint.

Ten days are allowed to amend the complaint.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

To Resume Service With Valparaiso.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Pacific Steam Navigation Company is preparing to resume its steamship service between this port and Valparaiso, and so far have arrangements been made that it is announced that the first vessel will be in this port in August. It is said to be the purpose of the company to send their vessels as far north as Victoria and Vancouver, on Puget Sound.

Wins in Suit Against Water Company.

RED BLUFF, May 12.—Judge John F. Ellison has rendered his decision in the case of W. H. Guernsey vs. the Antelope and Red Bluff Water Company, awarding the plaintiff $5000 damages. The company's pipe line crossed the plaintiff's land, having been placed there in 1878, and Guernsey has used it from that time. In 1904, the water company removed the pipe and left him without water for his stock. Action for damages was then filed.

Taken Off as Insane.

STOCKTON, May 12.—A man who gave the name of Charles C. McDonald, and Everett, Mass., as his home, was taken off a Southern Pacific train here today, apparently insane. He said that people were plotting to take his life, and that he left a wife and daughter at Everett. It was with difficulty that he was controlled when taken to the Detention Hospital.

TIN BOX IN ZEIGLER SUIT.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Today during the probate proceedings begun by Dr. L. C. H. E. Zeigler to recover for alleged medical services $126,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Harriet G. McVicker, widow of James H. McVicker, the theatrical manager, counsel for Zeigler informed the court that an attempt would be made to show that a tin box seized by the public administrator contained, among other things, three checks payable to Dr. Zeigler and signed by Mrs. McVicker, the checks calling for $16,500.

GOING TO EUROPE.

BOSTON, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Among the saloon passengers who will sail for the Mediterranean tomorrow on the White Star Liner Canopic are the following from Southern California: Mrs. W. C. Cochrane, Mrs. Flora H. Heffner, Miss Bertha Hall, Los Angeles; Miss Emily V. Hadley, Whittier; Mrs. S. A. Johnson, Miss H. L. Newell, Miss Pearl Powers, Los Angeles; Miss Helen Plimpton, Riverside; Mrs. H. C. Veazie and Mrs. Cecilia A. White, Los Angeles.

LABOR-STRIKE TRAGEDY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAMMOND (Ind.) May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The final scene was enacted in a pitiful labor-strike tragedy, when Joseph Spenner and his wife were forcibly separated from their four young children and committed to the insane hospital at Logansport. Spenner was employed by the G. H. Hammond Company two years ago, and went out on the strike which resulted in the packing company taking its plant from the city. Spenner and his wife brooded over his inability to secure employment. Recently a mortgage was foreclosed on their home. The Spenners were arrested after they had told a horrified neighbor of their intention to kill their children as a sacrifice.

FOR A WIDOW'S HALF.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sensation was caused here today when it became known that Mrs. Mary Leafgreef, who lives on Union Boulevard, filed a claim in the Pobate Court for a widow's half of the estate of the late LaClede J. Howard, head of one of the oldest and wealthiest families in St. Louis, who died April 5, 1904. Mrs. Leafgreef claims that the wealthy St. Louisian was married to her under the name of Henry Howard, in 1883.

FOUND HUSBAND AT LAST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After mourning her husband as dead for thirty years, Mrs. Ellen Wilson of Toledo, O., has discovered him living in the little town of Seymour, Iowa, with the woman who was formerly his servant girl. In 1871, the Wilsons were living at Delphos. He went to Chicago, and when he never returned, it was supposed he was a victim of the great fire that year.

MISS GIBNEY'S FATE SEALED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Late tonight, the jury in the $50,000 breach-of-promise suit of Miss Edith Gibney of St. Louis against Klaus J. Steiner returned a sealed verdict. It is rumored that Miss Gibney was awarded $16,000 damages. The jury was out over six hours

Chinese Minister's Circular to Chinese in America.

Advises Watchfulness of Exclusion Matters.

Kaiser Desires Friendliness. Bowen and Loomis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] What is regarded as a remarkable document, issued by the Chinese Minister, Sir Chentung Lang Cheng Cheng, for the purpose of inciting hostile feeling among the Chinese toward the United States government, has fallen into the hands of administration officials. It has not been determined, yet, what action will be taken in the matter, but in all probability, a protest will be made to the Chinese government with the possibility that the recall of Sir Chentung will result.

The document is a circular which was issued from the Chinese legation in Washington and sent broadcast over the United States, addressed to Chinese subjects, and urges them to keep a watchful eye open for cases of unjust exclusion of Chinese. It appears that Sir Chentung proposes to gather evidence regarding the enforcement of the exclusion law for the purpose of bringing action against this government for damages. It is stated that the terms of the circular are such as to instill a feeling of enmity against the United States, and that some of the language employed may properly be considered highly objectionable from foreign ministers.

Some of the government officials believe that the circular, or doctrine which it preaches, is responsible for the boycott which has been organized among the merchants in China against American goods. This boycott is regarded by the government officials as a very grave matter. One official declared today that it is one of the most serious developments in the present foreign relations of the United States.

KAISER'S FRIENDLINESS.

WARMING TO UNCLE SAM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is a matter of common gossip among the members of the diplomatic corps here that the Kaiser is making desperate efforts to cultivate friendly relations with the United States. He is going out of his way to promote the feeling of friendship between the two nations. The only jarring note has been the new German tariff, and on account of the very evident desire of the Kaiser to stand well with the United States, it is believed that the State Department could negotiate a reciprocity treaty under terms most advantageous to this country.

"Recent developments in Europe," remarked a diplomat today, "have given much uneasiness to Germany. The Kaiser finds that while alliances are being formed right and left about him, he has been left absolutely alone. There are indications that France is warming up to England as a sort of reserve partner, in case her alliance with Russia should prove unprofitable. Japan has an ally in Great Britain. Now the Kaiser knows that if he could come to an understanding with the United States he could afford to laugh at all alliances that are being formed in Europe.

"Emperor William realizes that the United States does not make foreign alliances, so he is doing the next best thing in endeavoring to create a bond of good will and sympathy between the two nations in hope that it may ripen into the strongest and most enduring relations."

BOWEN-LOOMIS MATTER.

SUBJECTS OF INVESTIGATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Bowen-Loomis matter, which is regarded as the most serious question to be laid before the President, will not be taken up before Monday. Secretary Taft is not yet ready to go ahead with it, having several other affairs that require immediate attention. The first thing to be determined will be the nature of the investigation. While the President will, in all probability, direct this and act as umpire, it will very likely proceed in a legal manner. Sifting of the charges will involve the closest scrutiny of claims and other papers that have to be matters of court record.

It is understood that the most serious charge which Loomis will be called upon to face is that relating to the alleged purchase of the so-called Malvina claim against the Venezuelan government and his reported offer to sell it to the Venezuelan authorities.

The allegations referring to the $10,000 check have dropped into the background. Loomis, who is now at Orange, N. J., has done nothing for the past week but devote himself to defense against the Bowen charges.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Brief Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Some matters of importance were considered informally at today's meeting of the Cabinet, but no decision on questions of concern was reached.

John Paul Jones's Burial.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The President today approved the recommendation of Secretary Morton that the body of John Paul Jones be buried at Annapolis.

ROCKEFELLER'S MAN AROUND.

State's Attorney Convinced Standard's Secret Service Official Was Present During Session of Jury.

PEORIA (Ill.) May 12.—According to a statement made today to the Associated Press, there was no error in the requisition papers for the two indicted Standard Oil officials, presented to the Governor recently, but the authorities at Springfield, acting, presumably, on the advice of the Attorney General's office, refused to grant them, on the ground that, as the alleged subornation of perjury was committed in Ohio, the men should be punished there.

Schaefer, State's Attorney, says that he does not believe that the Governor ever saw the papers and that he is going to lay the matter before him personally.

Sheriff Clay of Tazewell county took the papers to Springfield and they were presented to the Governor's secretary. Later, they were returned to him, with the statement that they would not be signed, for the reasons above given.

Schaefer is now convinced that a secret service man in the employ of the Standard Oil Company was present during the session of the grand jury which convicted the two officials.

UNITED BRETHREN CONFERENCE.

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 12.—Today was purely a business session with the general conference of the United Brethren at Representative Hall. Several brief addresses and responses on the condition of church work and its betterment were indulged in. Numerous reports were read. A committee was appointed to govern the conference from day to day. The first report of this committee was to reverse the order of elections, which makes the election of officers commence May 17 and to continue each afternoon until completed. After a spirited debate, the report was adopted. This shows a very keen division of the conservative and the more progressive or radical elements. The indications are that the South and the Pacific Coast will each be given a bishop of the six to be elected.

KOREAN CHARGE KILLS HIMSELF.

LONDON, May 12.—Yi Han Eung, the Korean charge d'affaires, here, committed suicide by hanging at the Legation today. He wrote a letter this morning to the Korean Consul General, W. R. Morgan, asking him to come to the Legation, as he was going to die today. A few minutes later, Morgan heard from a neighbor that Eung had killed himself. The deceased had recently shown signs of mental troubles.

OBITUARY.

A. L. Hall.

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—A. L. Hall, at one time a resident of Sacramento, but who had for a long time been the Wells-Fargo Express Company's agent in Bakersfield, died today at a local hospital, where he was undergoing treatment. He was for many years with the express company and became widely known over the Pacific Coast as a route agent.

ROOSEVELT'S CABIN.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 12.—The log cabin in which President Roosevelt lived for three years while he was a rancher has been placed in the Agricultural Building at the Lewis and Clark Exposition as a part of the State of North Dakota's exhibit. The cabin was taken apart and pieces numbered, so that it could be put together again exactly as it was when the President lived in it as a cowboy. It stands near the south wall of the Agriculture Building.

It was in 1883 that Mr. Roosevelt went to North Dakota and purchased the Maltese Cross ranch, a place on the Little Missouri River eight miles south of the town of Medora. On taking possession Mr. Roosevelt changed the name to Chimney Butte, on account of a chimney-shaped butte a short distance away. The rough cabin which he bought with the ranch was the future President's only home for nearly three years, and in it he lived the life of a cowboy.

In the cabin there will be exhibited also a number of interesting mementoes of the President's life at that period. An old straw hat, which Mr. Roosevelt wore when he went to the ranch, but which was discarded shortly afterward as unsuitable to the kind of life he must lead, was found in an old sack in a corner of the cabin, and will be shown to visitors at the Western World's Fair. Other relics include the Presidents' old gun, his "chaps," boots, and the war bag in which he stored these articles when he gave up his cowboy life.

While the Roosevelt cabin probably will prove the most popular feature of its participation, North Dakota will have a most interesting display at the fair. The citizens of that State are proud of its resources, and when the Legislature refused to appropriate money for representation at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, they raised the required money by private subscription, under a plan proposed by Gov. E. Y. Searles.

North Dakota being an agricultural State has placed its entire exhibit in the big Agricultural Building at the Exposition, where wall space 26 feet wide by 90 long is occupied. In this space an exhibit of grains and grasses and other farm products has been installed with the view of showing to the world the greatness of the State as a farming country. Commissioner Warren N. Steel of Bismarck is in Portland, superintending the installation of the exhibits, which is practically completed.

TRIES TO BREAK IN AT WHITE HOUSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A man who said his name is Daniel Constable, an Italian, was arrested by Policeman Hopkins while trying to force an entrance at the rear door of the White House, about midnight tonight. He was locked up at the police station.

When questioned as to the reason for being on the White House grounds, he declared a spirit had entered his head and told him that his murdered wife was to be found in the White House.

The man was hatless. He was first seen by a negro climbing over the iron fence surrounding the grounds of the White House, and attention was attracted by the sound of an attempted entrance at the rear door. He was tugging frantically at the door and shouting: "Francesca, it is I."

Policeman Hopkins rushed up, hurled him to the ground, when he made a dash for liberty, and six men were necessary to hold him.

THE REVOLT IN RUSSIA.

LITERATURE FOR TROOPS.

Man Caught Throwing Pamphlets Into Trains.

Officials Hold Jews Responsible for Massacre.

Coming Relief for Hebrews Rumored in London.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHITA (Siberia) May 12.—A man named Biltner has been condemned here to a long term of imprisonment at hard labor for distributing proclamations to passing troop trains, calling on the soldiers to throw down their arms and surrender to the Japanese.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 12.—Some private reports from Zhitomir place the number of persons killed as high as forty.

The Governor of Volhynia has caused the streets of Zhitomir to be placarded with notices to the effect that the troops have received instructions to fire upon any persons interfering with the Jews.

The Official Messenger's account of the Zhitomir outbreak attributes it to the alleged provocative attitude of the Jews who, it adds, used a portrait of the Emperor as a target in shooting practice and committed many assaults on Christians in the streets. The official announcement of the disorders says that a general massacre was prevented only by the energetic measures taken by the authorities. It attributes the outbreak largely to the situation created by the Jews and revolutionary agitators, citing the follo ving:

"April 22, 300 armed Jews assembled in the state forest near Zhitomir for target practice and used a portrait of the Emperor as a target. When the peasants, attracted by the firing, protested against this use of the Emperor's portrait, the Jews explained that the Israelites would soon govern Russia. A few days later, a Jew struck a Christian boy of 15 years, who used a penknife to defend himself. He was immediately surrounded by a crowd of threatening Jews and was rescued by the police. Still later, while several Jews sentenced for political crimes were being conveyed to prison, their co-religionists made a demonstration, loudly cursing the Emperor. In another instance, the Jews set upon a Christian who had entered the Jewish quarter, covering him with mud and beating him. They also forced several shops to close."

PRODUCED BY REVOLUTIONISTS.

The official statement concludes as follows: "The Minister of the Interior has also received news of other cases in which Jews have insulted and even beaten women. The Christians are greatly incensed and excited. Besides this, the social revolutionists have scattered proclamations telling Jews that a massacre is contemplated. Everything shows that the cruelties were perpetrated under the influence of the revolutionists, which is embarrassing the authorities in preventing encounters between the Jews and the Christians. The governors have been instructed to urge the better class of Jews to persuade their co-religionists by their conduct not to excite hatred of themselves."

RUMORS OF COMING FREEDOM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 12.—The Jewish Cronicle today announces: "We are informed on high authority that important developments may be anticipated in the situation of Jews in Russia. We are informed that a measure is more than under consideration which will give unhoped-for relief to Jews. Absolute freedom of movement and residence will be granted in all cities and towns, but not in villages, as the authorities are not willing to run the risk of a repetition of the Kishineff affair.

"We understand that the murder of Jews causes the government more anxiety than of persons of other nationalities, because of the reprobation it arouses in Europe."

ANTI-SEMITISM INCREASING.

TROOPS HUNT WITH THE MOB.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Anti-Semitism is increasing in Russia. In an outbreak at Drishati, Jewish shops were looted and destroyed. Two Hebrews were killed and fifty seriously injured. Many were slightly hurt. There have been outrages at Winnica and Czeladz, Poland. Soldiers at Winnica joined the mob in plundering Jews.

CZAR NOT AFRAID NOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch to the Telegram from Vienna says it is asserted in circles in close touch with the Russian Embassy that the Czar is about to leave his seclusion at Tsarskoe-Seloe, and will go to the Winter Palace in St. Petersburg in a few days.

It is expected that thereafter he will spend one day every week in St. Petersburg.

SHOT AT HIS DOOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NIJNI NOVGOROD (Russia) May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Greschner of the Gendarmerie was shot dead at the door of his home at midnight, as he was returning from the theatre. The watchman at Greschner's home was also shot and seriously wounded. The assassin, a man named Nikiforoff, was captured. He was armed with a revolver.

COUNT RADEL SEIZED.

NEW YORK, May 12.—A man who said he was Adolph Radel, a count of the German empire, was taken to Bellevue Hospital tonight, after having attempted to enter the residence of Cornelius Vanderbilt for the purpose of calling on Mrs. Vanderbilt, with whom he declared he was well acquainted, and who had been his guest at his castle on the Rhine. The "Count" had a fine gold watch from which hung a large gold and silver trefoil, on the leaves of which were the following inscription, "Presented to Count Adolph Radel by the Emperor of Germany for services to the country," "Presented to Count Adolph Radel by King Leopold for services to the country," and "Presented to the Count Adolph Radel by Emperor Francis Joseph for services to the country." Around his neck he had a wide ribbon from which suspended a silver filigree ornament which he said had been given to him by King Edward. He said that he had just arrived at New York from California.

VENTURA

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, May 12.—The Sheriff this morning attached the dry goods store and stock of T. J. Donovan, the well-known merchant, in the name of Murphy, Grant & Co., the San Francisco, wholesale merchants. The amount claimed to be due is in the neighborhood of $5600. This affair was somewhat surprising as it is known that Mr. Donovan has done a good business and it was thought he was entirely solvent.

The closing of the store is said by one of the attorneys for Mrs. Donovan, who is suing her husband for a divorce and alimony, to be due directly to this divorce proceeding. The attorney said that Mrs. Donovan's father, J. C. Daly, deputy Attorney-General of the State, contemplated bringing action to have a receiver placed in charge of the affairs of Mr. Donovan in the interest of his daughter, and that the Donovan's San Francisco creditors, hearing of it hastened to place an attachment upon the business to save themselves.

The affairs of the Donovans have created considerable talk in town, where both are well-known, and where Mr. Donovan has been in business for many years. Recently Mrs. Donovan moved to San Francisco, where she commenced proceedings for separation and a division of the property. Mr. Donovan insisted that the case be tried here and won his point.

BAKERSFIELD RAILWAY.

There has been filed in the office of the Recorder here a trust deed from the Bakersfield and Ventura Railway Company to the Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles and Eben Smith covering franchises in this county, and a chattel mortgage, same to same, covering all rolling stock, etc., both being given to secure notes aggregating $150,000. This is the property of the people represented by John Burson, who has been working so long along electric road lines in this county. Work is now being prosecuted on the road near Hueneme, the hauling of piles for the trestle near that town having begun this week.

LINEVITCH WINNER IN SMALL ENGAGEMENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST PETERSBURG, May 12.—Gen. Linevitch, in a dispatch from the front dated May 11, reports a series of small engagements for the possession of a pass seven miles southwest of Chimiotse, May 5 the Russians retired to Chimiotse, and May 6 the fighting was resumed and lasted all day long. The result was indecisive. Simultaneously, detachments were engaged seven miles from Ufangu. The Japanese advancen up to the Russian bayonets but were repulsed. The night of May 6 the Japanese were reinforced and the Russians commenced to retire. May 7 a third Russian detachment advanced to Tavangau Pass and met the Japanese, against whom the former operated successfully for possession of the pass. May 7 the Japanese resumed a decisive offensive against the Russian right flank, but were repulsed.

Vronski, the military expert of the Novoe Vremya, explains that the failure of Field Marshal Oyama to undertake the advance, as well as the failure of the Japanese to send an expedition to the Island of Sakhallen, is due to the appearance of Rojestvensky's squadron in Chinese waters. "In his hands is now the destiny of the Far East," the paper says. "May God grant him success."

The Slovo reproaches the Imperial Guard for not going to the front, saying: "Its place is on the battlefield. In all Russia's wars, the Guard has won glory. It is composed of the picked men of the empire and should show the world what Russia can do."

Baron Tiesnhausen and Count Massinpuskin, according to the Slovo, have declined to accept the challenges of Alexandrovsky, former head of the Red Cross in the field, to fight duels, unless the last-named disproves the charges brought against the administration of the Red Cross funds, which Alexandrovsky, upon his arrival here, April 29, indignantly denied and announced that he was preparing a complete account for the public.

The transfer of Ambassador Cassini from Washington to Madrid was officially gazetted today, under date of May 9, but the appointment of Baron De Rosen to succeed Count Cassini at Washington has not yet been gazetted. In fact, Emperor Nicholas is awaiting a formal notification that Baron De Rosen is persona grata to the United States before signing his decree of nomination. Not the slightest doubt exists here that the Baron is perfectly acceptable to the government at Washington, where, besides his high reputation as a diplomat, he enjoys the personal acquaintance of not only many officials, but of the President himself.

JAPANESE MINISTER'S CALL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, May 12, 8:50 p.m.—Dr. Motono, the Japanese Minister, called at the Foreign Office this evening and had an extended interview with Foreign Minister Delcassé on a subject not disclosed, but which is supposed to be the neutrality question which is generally considered to have been much if not entirely relieved by the departure of the Russian second Pacific squadron from French waters.

STEAMER SOBRALENSE SUNK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, May 13.—The British steamer Sobralense, bound from Newchwang to Kobe, struck a mine off Port Arthur yesterday and sank immediately. Boats from Port Arthur rescued all the Europeans aboard, but it is believed that several of the crew and passengers were drowned. It is also believed that the steamer was inside the zone that ships have been warned to avoid.

MUNITIONS OF WAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Chronicle says: "There is over $1,000,000 worth of munitions of war, contact explosive shells, unloaded, lying on the long wharf on the Oakland side of the bay. The shells are consigned to Kobe, Japan, but were "made in Germany," hence there is a suspicion that their ultimate destination may be Vladivostok. The work of loading these shells began on two steamers, but was stopped today, when the masters of the vessels ascertained the character of their consignment.

The Mail and Good Roads.

The farmer who at first regarded the rural delivery with comparative indifference is now a confirmed convert to it and likes it. He prefers to have his mail delivered to him instad of making a trip to town in bad weather to get it. He looks for the mail cart, and its arrival is an event in his daily life.

The rural carrier, however, is under contract to deliver mail only when the roads are open and reasonably passable. He is under no obligations to "buck" huge snowdrifts or to flounder through quagmires or to break a new road where the old one is clearly impassable. His business is to carry mail, and if the roads are in such a condition that he cannot reasonably do so, the mail has to wait until the roads are repaired.

As a result of this situation, the farmers are interested in the state of the roads, and, where necessary, are keeping up the highways of their own motion. Last winter, according to the Iowa authority quoted, roads were kept open that used to be abandoned. The farmers turned out and shoveled the drifts, so that the mail cart could get through. They are filling up the mudholes this spring. The mail carrier has become a prominent figure in the good roads movement.—[Chicago Chronicle.

CURE FOR A QUEEN.

"You have a cold, eh?" said the physician. "Well, suppose I give you the same prescription that Queen Elizabeth used?"

He took down an ancient folio.

"Dr. William Bulleyn's prescription for a cold, which Queen Elizabeth used all her life, was this," he said:

"Takes nutmegges, the root called dornike, which the apothecaries have; setwall, galagangall, mastike, long pepper, the bark of pomecitrone, of melon, of sage, hazel, marjorum, dill, spikenard, wood of aloes, cubebe, cardamon (called grayness of paradise,) lavender, penioyalls, the bone of a hart's heart grated, cut and stamped, and beat your spices grossly in a mortar. Put in ambergrice and musk, of each half a drachm. Distil this in a simply aqua vitae, made with strong ale, in a serpentine. To tell the virtue of this water against cold, phlegme, dropsy, heaviness of mind, coming of melancholy, I cannot well at the present, for it is too great."—[Philadelphia Bulletin.

Passing of the Peso.

An event which will give general satisfaction everywhere except in Lincoln, Neb., where it will be regarded as a calamity, ushered in May Day in the sister republic of Mexico. On that date the standard of monetary value of the republic was changed from silver to gold and the value of the peso, the old Spanish milled silver dollar, dropped to 50 cents.

The passing of the peso destroys the last supporting prop of Bryan and the free-silver freebooters who followed his dishonest leadership. They are now denied even the indulgence of their old confidence game of crossing the border and exchanging one dollar of honest money for two pesos and pretending that the latter is the true standard of value and that gold has doubly appreciated. Mexico's standard dollar is now the gold dollar of every other nation with an honest currency.—[Chicago Chronicle.

HALF-BREED MURDERS AN INDIAN POLICEMAN.

Consents to Have His Wife Taken by Another, but the Taunt of the Officer Proves Too Much for the Outraged Husband—St. Johns Dam Damage Not so Heavy.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) May 12.—Trouble over women appears to have about the same effect in an Indian village that it has in the white man's cities. Frank Harper, a halfbreed Mohave, living in the Colorado Valley a short distance above Fort Mojave, lost his squaw by desertion to the wickiup of Jim Lambert, chief and capitalist of the tribe.

Harper complained to "Lying Jim," the reservation policeman, who not only refused to enforce the Indian law on the case, but offered further insult to the injured husband. Then Harper complained to Superintendent McArthur of the Indian school. Mr. McArthur sent Harper and Lambert together, and Lambert purchased the squaw and all was seemingly made serene.

Harper still remembered the words of the Indian policeman, whom he sought out forthwith and murdered, firing the unarmed man and shooting him through the head. Then, after giving another rifle bullet through Jim's body for good measure, Harper surrendered himself at Fort Mohave. He was found dead next morning. He had cut his throat with a rusty and dull pocket knife, with which he had also severed the head from the body. The bodies of murdered man and suicide were turned over to their friends and were duly and solemnly placed on funeral pyres and burned to ashes.

DAMAGE NOT SO GREAT.

The wild estimates of a quarter of a million damage from the flood that followed the breaking of the St. Johns dam in the Little Colorado River have been materially pared down. The total loss is estimated at about $60,000, of which $22,000 went in the dam itself. It will probably be the last money spent in Arizona upon a high dirt dam to melt away like sugar as soon as water passes its crest. Seven thousand dollars went in the breaking of the new dam and the rest of the losses fell mainly upon crops and farms destroyed.

The Santa Fé Railroad Company sustained much slighter loss than had been feared in the washing out of its roadbed west of Holbrook. At one point along the river a dance was in progress when the flood came along. The men promptly turned out to fill sandbags and to make a fight against which the rising waters could not prevail.

Chevelon Creek, usually a rill of small volume, swelled to such a point as to carry away the horses and buckboard of an unfortunate mail carrier, bound for Winslow. The man made his way to safety, but the mail was lost. The buckboard was found in the trees a mile below the crossing and the horses managed to save themselves.

With the larger stock of information concerning the power and vagaries of Arizona floods, the Santa Fé Railroad Company is strengthening its track eastward of Kingman. The track has been protected by rip-rap-ping and by breakwaters of piling and every culvert has been given rock abutments and steel floorings.

CHAFFEE'S STAY SHORT.

The stay of Gen. Chaffee at Whipple Barracks and in Prescott was short, the general being at 4 o'clock Monday evening the hour of the departure at 1:30 p.m. the next day. Monday evening the Yavapai Club was the host of the general in a function that will be remembered as a distinct social event. The next morning was spent at Whipple, where the War Department is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in the construction of a modern battalion post. During his stay, Gen. Chaffee was the honored guest of President F. M. Murphy of the Santa Fé, Prescott and Phoenix Railway system. The last visit made by the general to Arizona was while he was only a major, and the inspecting officer of the military department of Arizona.

CANYON LAND LAWSUIT.

The Santa Fé is mixed up in an interesting lawsuit with Dr. E. B. Perrin over a valuation of forty acres on the edge of the Grand Cañon Railway. The railroad company wants the land because it embraces a small hill of red sandstone needed for the ballasting of the main railway roadbed, but calls the desert land, worth not over $2.50 an acre. Dr. Perrin seeks to show that in getting the sixty miles of railway will take 12,000 carloads of cinders, which, in the aggregate, $60,000. It is denied that the court may condemn the land at all, as it is not necessary to the construction or maintenance of a railway.

TERRITORIAL STRAYS.

C. L. E. Tutt, president of the Arizona Power Company, and A. C. Balch, a heavy investor in the stock of the corporation, are here from Los Angeles and will spend several days on an inspection of the plans of the company and its works on the Verde River. From the fall from Fossil Creek is to be utilized in the generation of water power for transmission electrically to the mines in the vicinity of Prescott. On May 16 the people of Winslow will vote upon the question of granting a franchise to a company which proposes to establish electric lighting "in their midst."

George Smith, a mine foreman, fell from a wagon in which he was riding with Fred Iron King Wednesday. Somehow he was left where he fell and near midnight his body was found nearly a mile later. Death appears to have been from natural causes. A brother lives in Los Angeles.

The second trial of J. P. Storm, charged with embezzlement of $15,000 of county money, has begun in the District Court in Prescott. Much less difficulty than had been expected was met in the choosing of a trial jury. It is believed that the prosecution has secured new evidence of sensational nature since the last trial, which resulted in a hung jury.

Frank Roemer, the burglar who had made his wife as driver in nightly raids upon stores, he secured wagonloads of valuable goods and provisions from the leading stores of Prescott, has been sentenced to serve a term of ten years in the Territorial Penitentiary.

Lieut. W. Campbell has started on a journey of 200 days in the Coconino County Jail at Flagstaff. Campbell was convicted from Fredonia, a little Mormon settlement north of the Colorado River, only three miles from the Utah line, and his crime was the selling of liquor to Indians. He was arrested and dismissed court overland by two deputy sheriffs a distance of nearly 200 miles.

The most important event for Northern shots resulted in five ties between F. Ruhstaller, Burgi, Walker, Fissel and Hall. In the shoot-off, Fissel of Davisville won. The best shooting of the day at live birds was credited to W. E. Green of Pacific Grove, who killed every bird shot at.

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

I've been reading a lot of books on business success and I asked the old man if that wasn't the proper thing for me to do. He said, "Yes, books are all right, but dead men's brains are no good unless you mix live ones with them. It isn't what a man's got in the bank but what he's got in his head that makes great merchants. Rob a miser's safe and he's broke, but you can't steal a man's brains." Take it in the manufacture of hats or any other article of merchandise, the raw material may be identical, the labor may cost the same ,but there's more brains in one man's make of goods than the other, put the two articles side by side and you'll pass the one up and buy the other every time. In selecting goods to offer to the public, one buyer often displays lots more taste than another. I guess our buyer is considered one of the cleverest in the United States, that's no doubt one of the reasons we always show the new styles first. We'll be open at both stores until 11 o'clock tonight. We'd like to have you drop in and see the proper styles in spring fixings.

HEADACHES.

Make a headache that is attributed to a disordered stomach really is the result of some ailment of the eyes. An examination by an optician would determine this point.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Take Warner's Safe Cure, the Great Kidney and Liver Cure, and Regain Your Health.

Many women suffer torture through nervedebility, caused by disorders of the kidneys which affect the female organs. They drag along day by day constantly growing worse.

The telltale dark circles under the eyes, loss of sleep, nervousness, loss of appetite and flesh, backache, headache, bearing down sensation and irregularities of the periods are never failing signs that the kidneys and liver are seriously affected, and utterly unable to do their work properly. When the kidneys and liver are out of order all other organs feel the effect.

Warner's Safe Cure

performs wonders for suffering women. It purifies the blood, restores the kidneys, bladder and liver to a healthful condition, and causes the female organs to do their work naturally. It makes the eyes bright, the complexion clear and the step springy.

SAFE THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE.

"Safe Cure has always done me so much good, especially for female ills incident to change of life, that I cannot recommend it enough. I weighed only 86 pounds, am now 53, weigh 160, and am well and hearty. I take a dose now and again to keep me in perfect order." MRS. ALBERT ANGLE. Welsh Run, Pa.

We have thousands of such letters, testifying to the healing powers of Safe Cure.

Safe Cure is purely vegetable, contains no harmful drugs, is free from sediment and pleasant to take. It is a most valuable and effective tonic; a stimulant to digestion; awakens the torpid liver; repairs the tissues; soothes inflammation and irritation; stimulates the enfeebled organs and heals them. It builds up the body, gives strength and restores energy.

At any drug stores or direct; 50 CENTS AND $1 A BOTTLE.

ANALYSIS FREE

If you have any doubt as to the development of the disease in your system, send a sample of your urine to the Medical Department, Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y., and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report, with advice and medical booklet, free.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES AND IMITATIONS

They are worthless and very often exceedingly dangerous. Ask for Warner's Safe Cure; it will cure you.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE "LINERS."

10 O'clock Saturday Nights.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier, especially Sunday real estate announcements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential in order to get the paper out on time to stop receiving real estate ads, at 10 o'clock Saturday nights.

Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays, when possible, or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays.

Sunday "Want" ads, will still be received by 'phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday nights.

LOVE-SICK MAN'S CRIME.

Rejected Swain Kills Woman and Then Himself.

Brightman Comes Here from San Jose to do it.

Prepares for Shooting and Leaves Notes to Friends.

Angered and half crazed by the thoughts that the woman he loved beyond all others was married to another man and out of his reach, A. Brightman of San José, who is said to be an electrician, murdered Mrs. Donna Gurney at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and the next minute completed a double crime by killing himself.

Brightman died in a few minutes but Mrs. Gurney lived over an hour, dying

The double killing was done with a single-shot 44 calibre derringer and the scene of the crime was at No. 619 Loomis street, just west of Seventh and Figueroa streets. Mrs. Gurney, who is the wife of an ex-Herald reporter, was shot on the front porch of the house and as she fell down the steps in a dying condition. Brightman ran around to the side of the house, reloaded his pistol, shot himself in the head and fell on the lawn of the adjoining house.

Back of the shooting is a story of love unrequited or hopeless affection of Brightman for Mrs. Gurney. It appears that Mrs. Gurney and Brightman had known each other for six months or more, for letters were found in his pockets written by her to him in San José dated as long ago as last December. These were more or less loving in character and encouraged Brightman to continue his attentions. At that time Mrs. Gurney's name was Miss Mabel Vincent and not until about ten days ago did Brightman learn that she was married.

Mrs. J. Vincent and her daughter Mabel came here about a year ago from St. Paul, Minn., and some months later the girl met Brightman who is said to have been an electrician. An affection between them sprung up and developed into love on Brightman's part but it does not appear that Mabel considered it anything more than friendship. Five or six months ago she met Charles H. Gurney a reporter on the Herald and the two fell in love with each other. The girl's mother objected to Gurney and favored Brightman's suit but despite her mother's objections the girl married Gurney about six weeks ago. It was in the nature of a runaway wedding, for without telling her mother the girl went to the Courthouse one day and with a marriage license the couple went into the District Attorney's office where they were married by Justice Pierce.

Brightman had gone to San José in the meantime and still continued his attentions to his lady love by writing to her occasionally. Since her marriage however, she has had little or nothing to do with Brightman; but when he came to this city several days ago from San José, it was doubtless for the purpose of reviving his love affair.

Little is known of Brightman or where he has been staying since he came from San José, but it was rumored that he was lodging with friends near Glendale. At all events he appeared in this city Thursday morning and went to No. 619 Loomis street and had a short talk with Mrs. Gurney. He doubtless told her he would return yesterday for he went to the house about 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Gurney was sitting on the front porch with Miss M. York who with her mother rents the flat at No. 619 Loomis street. They were talking about nothing in particular and Mrs. Gurney had a letter in her hand which Brightman had sent her. It was unopened and as Brightman hove in sight Mrs. Gurney told Miss York that he was coming to see her and she would give him back the letter and tell him not to call on her in the future. Miss York then went in the house and upstairs.

Within five minutes they heard a report. Miss York said it sounded like a pistol shot but her mother thought it was the noise of lumber falling. Miss York however remarked that she believed the man had shot Mrs. Gurney and on running down stairs and opening the door saw that her suspicions were true. Mrs. Gurney lay on the porch steps bleeding from a wound in her right temple.

The shot attracted the notice of men working on a building across the street and they started in pursuit of Brightman, but he ran away, loading his single shot derringer as he ran.

Within fifty feet of where he had killed the woman and before the men could reach him he shot himself in the right temple and died in a few minutes.

His body was taken to Bresee Bros. undertaking rooms while Mrs. Gurney still alive, was hurried to the Receiving Hospital as soon as assistance could be summoned. Nothing could be done for her. She remained unconscious until her death at noon.

Mr. Gurney left for San Francisco about two weeks ago and it is said that he is now employed there. The dead woman's mother, Mrs. Vincent, started for her home in St. Paul on Wednesday, expecting that Mrs. Gurney would go to her husband in San Francisco this week or next.

In the dead man's pockets were found a bundle of letters from Miss Vincent and three other sealed letters. One was for the woman's husband Charles Gurney, another for a Mr. Pierce at No. 925 Ellis street, San Francisco, and the other for Mr. and Mrs. Mains in San José. He had some loose cartridges in his pockets and a few cents in change. He appears to have been a laborer and was plainly dressed.

The inquests on the remains will be held this morning.

ROMANCE BEGAN AT PASADENA.

GURNEY TALKS ABOUT TRAGEDY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The romance of Donna Maybelle Vincent and Charles H. Gurney began last New Year's Day at the Festival of Roses in Pasadena. Gurney saw the young woman on the trip home, he said today, and soon after secured an introduction through friends. The admiration was mutual and Gurney's visits to the home of Miss Vincent became more and more frequent until Mrs. M. F. Vincent, her mother, objected so strongly that they were discontinued. After that, the enamoured couple met clandestinely whenever possible and every night when Gurney went home from the office of the Herald he found a note slipped under his window.

Gurney stated today that he and Miss Vincent grew weary of these half-covered meetings and agreed they would marry. Accordingly, March 27, Miss Vincent, upon the pretext of attending a downtown bargain sale, gained permission to leave her home. She met her lover in front of the courthouse and they went to the office of District Attorney J. A. Donnell. Another friend of Gurney's was there to act as witness. Judge H. A. Pierce performed the ceremony. Then Mrs. Charles Gurney went back to her home.

For several days, the secret was kept, but the young husband feared his attentions might compromise the girl and so Mrs. Vincent was informed. Gurney claims that Mrs. Vincent was very angry, and though the young couple took apartments under the same roof with Mrs. Vincent, the latter felt so bitter about the elopement that she made it very unpleasant for Gurney and his wife.

"That is the reason," says Gurney, "that I came to San Francisco to see if I could establish myself here. In the meantime, I sent my wife what money I could. Though my mother-in-law is wealthy, she refused to help her daughter. It was our plan to live in this city as soon as I got on my feet.

ABOUT BRIGHTMAN.

"This man, Adelbert Brightman, was living in Los Angeles during our courtship and used to write my sweetheart annoying letters, protesting his love. We merely laughed at them and gave little serious thought to the matter. We little dreamed what it would come to. He is a linotype operator, I think, though I never saw him in my life. Before our marriage, he went to San José, where he worked for the printing firm of Munroe & Wright. He continued to write to my wife even after we were married and I know that he sent Mrs. Vincent a registered letter only last Tuesday.

"That was the day my mother-in-law left for her old home in St. Paul, where she has property. I blame this whole tragedy on her. She encouraged Brightman's attentions when she knew they were distasteful to her daughter, and then tried to make trouble between us after we were married. But it is all over now. They say my wife is dead, but I will not believe it. They say he is dead. If he isn't I shall have something to do when I reach Los Angeles tomorrow. As for me, I, too, might as well be dead."

Gurney is said to be well connected in the East and has appealed to his relatives there for assistance. His mother and grandmother live in Newtonville, Mass.

CLERKS CATCH COUNT BY COLLAR.

FAKE NOBLEMAN FAILS TO MAKE WAY WITH DIAMONDS.

Strolls Into Broadway Jewel Shop With Fairy Tale About Winning Heiress and Floats Out With Priceless Gems About His Clothes. Was Trying to Recoup.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—An Italian giving the name "Count Carlo" is under arrest after an exciting chase through Broadway. He is accused of having attempted to replenish his fortunes at the expense of a West Twenty-third street jewelry store, where he was being shown a line of fine stones. A $1500 diamond brooch claimed by the shopkeeper was found in his gloves.

With an impressive air and aristocratic mein, "Carlo" strolled into the shop and stated in French that he had left his ancestral chateau days ago to make glad the heart of an American heiress whose smiles he had won on her trip abroad during the winter.

All of this was preliminary to the request that he be shown something superfine, as a gift for the girl. Nothing seemed quite good enough and finally the "Count" was conducted to a burglar-proof cage where the best gems in the shop were exhibited. He selected several fine ones, chose a design for their setting and asked a salesman to accompany him to a prominent hotel, where he had deposited $10,000.

Apparently awaiting the salesman, the "count" strolled languidly to the street. When the clerk reached the door his customer had vanished. A quick look at the jewel casket showed that one of the brooches had gone likewise. Two or three clerks rushed into the crowded street and luckily overhauled "Carlo" four blocks distant, slowly walking along Broadway. One of them unceremoniously grasped him by the collar and called him a thief. Carlo shook him off easily and broke into a run. A crowd gathered at his heels and he was soon halted by a mounted officer.

After he had been locked up several hours, "Carlo" told an interpreter that he came to America three weeks ago from Monte Carlo, where he had lost $7000, all he possessed.

GOT LETTER FROM MOTHER.

BROKE BRIGHTMAN ALL UP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, May 12.—Brightman worked here in a printing office for two months or more. About four weeks ago he received a letter from Los Angeles from the mother of Mrs. Gurney, telling of her daughter's marriage. This completely disconcerted Brightman, who took Theodore Wright, one of his employers, into his confidence. He asked for a few days leave of absence, to go to see the girl. Wright remonstrated with him, saying he should keep away. Later on, he showed Wright a letter from Mrs. Gurney, which seemingly encouraged Brightman in his resolve to see her. She intimated then that she was already weary of her married life.

Brightman left here about a week ago.

Former President Cleveland has returned from a cruise in southern waters, which began two weeks ago, on E. C. Benedict's steam yacht Oneida. Mr. Cleveland left the yacht at New York for his home in Princeton.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Nan Patterson was released from the Tombs today after spending almost a year within its walls, awaiting determination whether she had murdered "Caesar" Young. She will leave for Washington this afternoon or tomorrow. She was loudly cheered by a crowd of 2000 persons as she left the prison.

Her release was made at the instance of District Attorney Jerome, who said he did not believe another trial would result other than a disagreement. At the same time, he declared that there had been a serious miscarriage of justice. He said many of the newspapers had labored to create sympathy for the girl and that this case had "caused one more step in this cause toward a trial by newspapers rather than trial by jury." He approved of all his assistant, Rand, had done or said in conducting the case, and added: "The people for whom I care approve our action. From the sane part of the community, we have received nothing but fairness. I have information that admits of no doubt that there was unanimity in the juryroom on three points: First, Morgan Smith bought the pistol; second, Nan Patterson took the pistol in the cab with her; third, 'Caesar' Young did not commit suicide. I ask that the prisoner be discharged on her own recognizance."

As Miss Patterson left the criminal court she was met at the threshhold by her father, who threw his arms around her and exclaimed: "Thank God, my daughter!" She was driven in a carriage to her two lawyers' offices, in the World building, where she remained a short time. When she left that building, another outburst of cheering and handclapping by a crowd greeted her. She then went to the St. Paul Hotel, where she had lived before Young's death.

J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Mrs. Julia Smith, Nan aPtterson's sister, were discharged from custody by Judge Cowing in the Court of General Sessions today. Both had been held on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the Patterson case. As soon as he was discharged, Smith was rearrested on an attachment for failing to obey a subpoena issued by the grand jury, and was committed to the Tombs for examination Tuesday next. Counsel for Smith said he would make application before the court for a writ of habeas corpus to free him.

District Attorney Jerome replied that he would do what he could to aid in Smith's release, and Judge Cowing, upon signing the order for commitment of Smith, said he was also agreeable and if he had erred in any way the Supreme Court would adjust the matter. Judge Cowing then fined Smith $250 for contempt of court in failing to obey the subpoena served on him. Smith's fine was paid and he was released.

Miss Patterson, when she came into court, was smiling gaily, but as Recorder Goff began to address her the tears came into her eyes and before he concluded she was weeping. The Recorder spoke with a kindly note in his voice, which seemed to affect her very much. He said: "The District Attorney has seen fit to recommend your discharge. I fully coincide with him and believe that the interests of justice will be fully subserved by granting this motion. There have been two trials and in each of them the jury failed to agree. These two trials must have been terrible ordeals to you. There is nothing I can add in this case that has not already been said, but let me entreat you in all your future life to remember the terrible experience through which you have just passed and permit every action of your life hereafter to be guided by that experience. I feel sure that you will do so, that you will remember your ordeal." Miss Patterson declared she would not return to the stage.

During the court proceedings in the Smith case today, counsel for Smith said, in answer to a direct question by District Attorney Jerome, that his client would admit that he fled from the State in wilful defiance of the court, and this action was taken on advice of counsel for Miss Patterson.

This afternoon, Miss Patterson received a check for several hundred dollars and at once sent $250 down town to pay J. Morgan Smith's fine. The remainder of the amount called for by the check was turned over to Lawyer Limburger, Smith's counsel, in part payment of his fee. The name of the sender of the check was not revealed.

MRS. PATTERSON COLLAPSES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The first intimation that Mrs. Patterson, mother of Nan Patterson, had of her daughter's release was contained in the Associated Press bulletin from New York. Mrs. Patterson at first would not believe the news but when convinced that the report was correct she collapsed and physicians were hastily sent for. After restoratives had been administered, Mrs. Patterson rallied and through Mrs. Lowell sent word to the reporters outside that her one desire now was to see her daughter. The news of the release of Mrs. J. Morgan Smith was likewise received with manifestations of joy by the members of her family. Mrs. Patterson, upon recovery from her fainting spell, insisted upon knowing all that was happening. After a conference, her daughters decided to inform her of Mrs. Smith's release.

THREE BAD MEN ESCAPE AND POSSES GIVE CHASE.

Bandits Are Overtaken Near Summit of Wyoming Mountains, Where Officers Give Battle, Which is Witnessed by Citizens at Distance, Using Field Glasses.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CASPER (Wyo.) May 12.—While Deputy Sheriff Webb was giving water to a prisoner in the County Jail tonight he was overpowered and disarmed by Edward Lee, Martin Tour and William Wardlows, prisoners, who made their escape after securing guns, ammunition and clothing from the Sheriff's office and horses and saddles from the stables. They bound and gagged Webb's wife and choked her, but before departing removed the gag and bade her good-by. The trio rode away in the direction of the Casper Mountains.

Deputy Sheriff Hart organized a posse and started in pursuit, overtaking the bandits near the summit of the mountains, seven miles from town, where a battle occurred. Citizens with field glasses witnessed the beginning of the fight, but night came on and the outcome is not known.

Lee was formerly a deputy sheriff, and knows every foot of the country. He was awaiting trial for horse stealing. Tour is charged with stealing cattle and Wardlows is charged with forgery.

Big Crowd Vents Its Indignation for Hold-up and Robbery of White Man by Black Member of Society as it Exists in Swamp Lands. Bloodhounds Helped in the Chase.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CAIRO (Ill.) May 12.—Tom Witherspoon, a negro, was taken from officers at Belmont, Mo., fifteen miles below Cairo, at 6 o'clock this evening by a mob of several hundred persons, and hanged in the public square to a large swing.

Early this morning a negro, said to be Witherspoon, who only recently returned from the Missouri Penitentiary, went to the home of Fred Hess, three miles below Belmont, and, at the point of a rifle, demanded $600. Hess, who was formerly a member of the Legislature, told the negro he did not have that much money in the house. The negro ordered him to go to Belmont and get the money. He compelled Hess to hitch up a horse and buggy and ordered him to get in with his wife and child. The negro then saddled another horse, and, mounting it, told Hess to drive toward Belmont. When that place was near, the negro forced Mrs. Hess and the child to get out of the buggy and enter a deserted shanty.

The negro then told Hess to drive to Belmont and to send the money back by a negro preacher inside of one hour or he would kill his wife and child.

Hess hurried to Belmont and got the money and sent it back with a negro preacher. The desperado immediately mounted the horse and rode up the Iron Mountain tracks. A posse was organized at once of Belmont and Columbus citizens and a small party followed the negro on a switch engine and discovered that he had taken refuge in the swamps around First Lake. Bloodhounds were secured from Charleston and a negro was found in a deserted shanty. He was captured and taken to Belmont by the officers.

A mob of several hundred persons had formed in Belmont and they immediately took charge of the negro, and, despite his beggings and pleadings, they rushed him into the public square and secured a rope from a large swing and strung the negro up as the guilty man.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALINAS, May 12.—While attempting to protect his daughter, aged 12 years, from an assault made by Andrew Escobar, at Monterey, Monday, A. Romero was cut by the assailant. Romero's condition becoming serious, Escobar, who was arrested for committing the assault, has been held to answer on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Romero will be crippled for life.

HOCH SHOWED HIS ROLL.

ASKED JOHANNA TO TAKE TRIP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—During the trial of Johann Hoch, today, Mrs. Johanna Reinhall testified that Hoch had called at her house on the night preceding his departure for New York and, showing her a roll of money, containing $1,000, asked her if she would not like to take a trip East. Mrs. Reinhall said that she would not, and Hoch went away.

Detective Loftus, of the Chicago police force, told of conversations he had with Hoch, in which the latter said that the powder found in his fountain pen was tooth powder, but later admitted it was arsenic. When asked why he carried arsenic, he refused to reply.

SAN RAFAEL, May 12.—Convict Joseph Davis, who yesterday attempted to destroy the jute mill at San Quentin by fire, was today brought before Justice Magee on a charge of arson. After hearing the evidence of witnesses, he was held over to the Superior Court. Bail was fixed at $5000.

JOHANN HOCH'S TRIAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—Testimony in the trial of the alleged "Bluebeard," Johann Hoch, was today largely devoted to a rebuttal of any evidence the defense might offer as to the presence of arsenic in the embalming fluid used on the body of Mrs. Walcker-Hoch, or the presence of arsenic in medicine given her by Dr. Reese.

OFFICER HAS CLOSE CALL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

RED BLUFF, May 12.—Ex-Marshal Orville Pate, now a member of the local police, narrowly escaped being killed last night by John Welch, a recent arrival from Oregon. Welch, who had been arrested and fined twice for drunkenness, was ordered to leave, which he agreed to do, but instead, went to a saloon, where he was found by Pate. As the officer opened the door, Welch drew a revolver and fired at him. The bullet struck Pate's watch and fell into his vest pocket. Welch was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

UNIONS MAKE GOOD SHORTAGE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Building Trades Council has unanimously voted $2000 to City Treasurer John E. McDougald to aid him to cover the shortage which has arisen in his office from the cashing of a check for $15,000 by Deputy Devoto for ex-Tax Collector Edward J. Smith. One thousand dollars additional has been contributed by individual members and promises of more have been given by affiliated unions. The Milimen's Union has already given $50. Treasurer McDougald has been an officer of the Building Trades Council for eight years, serving as treasurer without remuneration.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION.

Bishop Johnson Announces a Change of Programme.

Methodist Interest in New Colored Church.

Epworth League is Sixteen Years of Age.

The annual diocesan convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will convene at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral next week. The territory is composed of the seven counties south of the Tehachepi, having within its bounds about sixty churches.

These conventions of the Episcopal church have always been of the most interesting character under the leadership of the Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of the diocese, who, while being broad enough to give the greatest latitude in debate, never permits a body to get out of his control, and freely adds his own spice to the discussion.

Dr. J. J. Wilkins, dean of the Pro-Cathedral, who during his residence here, has been a moving spirit in the conventions and a leader on the floor, presumably voicing the sentiments of the bishop, is at present in impaired health, and has been compelled to forego the honor of preaching the convention sermon at the opening session on Wednesday morning.

A change has thereby been caused in the recognized order on the programme, and this year instead of delivering the "bishop's charge" at the afternoon session on Wednesday, Bishop Johnson has determined to take the place of the dean and deliver the charge in connection with the convention sermon, at the opening session on Wednesday morning. As this charge of the bishop is the chief event of the entire convention, embodying as it will the recommendations of the bishop and the discussion of great questions that may be agitating the church at large, the change is especially important to the clergy, who naturally expect to hear it in the afternoon.

The Sunday-school mass meeting that always precedes the convention, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when Bishop Johnson and General Missionary McConnell will deliver addresses. The Sunday-school convention will be organized on Monday morning, following a communion service at 9:30. The feature of the afternoon session will be a discussion of "Sunday-school Pedagogy," led my Miss Mary Foy, teacher of history in the Los Angeles High School. Other interesting discussions will mark the day.

The convention of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, sessions being held both morning and afternoon.

Wednesday morning the convention proper will be organized in the new parish hall, being preceded by two services in the Pro-Cathedral—at 7:30 and 9:30—the Holy Communion being celebrated at both. At the close of the latter service Bishop Johnson will deliver his annual charge, and the convention will be organized in the parish house at 12 o'clock noon.

The convention will continue through the week, the bishop's reception being tendered at Kramer's Hall on Grand avenue on Thursday evening.

NEW COLORED CHURCH.

CORNER-STONE TOMORROW.

The corner-stone of the new Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, colored, which was to have been laid on last Sunday, but had to be postponed on account of rain, will be laid tomorrow at 3 o'clock, at the corner of Eighth and San Julian streets.

The ceremonies will be in charge of Dr. A. W. Adkinson, presiding elder of the district, and the sermon will be preached by Dr. W. H. Ryder, pastor of Westlake Methodist Church. The laying of the stone will be done by Rev. G. R. Bryant, pastor of Wesley Church. Other ministers who will take part are Rev. Will A. Knighten, Rev. G. E. Foster, Rev. B. C. Corey, Rev. Robert S. Fisher and Rev. S. W. Hawkins, colored.

Wesley Church, during the two years of the pastorate of Mr. Bryant, has more than doubled its membership and now numbers 325 communicants, with a very large following of colored people outside the church. They have a lot paid for and have in hand a cash fund of more than $12,000 to put into the building, which insures its success from the start. The completed structure will be one worthy the city and will cost $25,000, and all the Methodist churches of the city are deeply interested in making it not only an ornament, but a power for good among the colored people.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

SIXTEENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist Church will hold a special service on Sunday evening, commemorating the birth of the league sixteen years ago. It will have a somewhat unique distinction in having on its programme for the evening four nationalities. Chun Kin Sing will tell of the Methodist Missions, a Jap, named Shiom, will talk of Japanese Missions, and Hugh Cynn, of the work in Korea. Other addresses on the work of the league will be delivered by Byron Hanna, Miss Pearl Strong, and John Reid.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

ODD FELLOWS TO HEAR SERMON.

The officers, converts and workers of the Union Rescue Mission will worship with the Temple Baptist Church Sunday morning, and will take part in the service. In the evening at the mission Mrs. Coral Sloan will speak and will recite "How Salvation Came to a Mining Camp."

The members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will worship with the Union Avenue Methodist Church on Sunday evening, when the pastor, Rev. W. C. Botkin, will preach to them on the principles of the order.

The Central Presbyterian Church will celebrate its tenth anniversary Tuesday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock, at the church, No. 229 South Hill street. Rev. R. P. Howell, pastor of the West End Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will preach both Sunday morning and evening, having returned from a vacation spent in the southern part of the State.

Rev. Francis Murphy will take for his subject at his gospel temperance meeting in Blanchard Hall on Sunday evening, "Judge Not." Oscar Lawler will preside and H. J. Stevens will speak. Special music will be the usual entertaining feature of the programme.

Rev. E. Ray Mills has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, but will preach at the Belasco Theater on Sunday morning, when his subject will be "A New Interpretation of Jesus." Mrs. Rev. E. Mills will preach in the evening at Simpson Auditorium.

Methodist Interest in New Colored Church.

Epworth League is Sixteen Years of Age.

The annual diocesan convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will convene at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral next week. The territory is composed of the seven counties south of the Tehachapi, having within its bounds about sixty churches.

These conventions of the Episcopal church have always been of the most interesting character under the leadership of the Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of the diocese, who, while being broad enough to give the greatest latitude in debate, never permits a body to get out of his control, and freely adds his own spice to the discussion.

Dr. J. J. Wilkins, dean of the Pro-Cathedral, who during his residence here, has been a moving spirit in the conventions and a leader on the floor, invariably voicing the sentiments of the bishop, is at present in impaired health, and has been compelled to forego the honor of preaching the convention sermon at the opening session on Tuesday morning.

A change has thereby been caused in the recognized order on the programme, and this year instead of delivering the bishop's charge" at the afternoon session on Wednesday, Bishop Johnson has determined to take the place of the usual and deliver the charge in connection with the convention sermon, at the morning session on Wednesday morning. As this charge of the bishop is the chief event of the entire convention, including as it will the recommendations of the bishop and the discussion of great questions that may be agitating the church at large, the change is especially important to the clergy, who naturally expect to hear it in the afternoon.

The Sunday-school mass meeting that always precedes the convention, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when Bishop Johnson and General Missionary McConnell will deliver addresses. The Sunday-school convention will be organized on Monday morning, following a communion service at 10. The feature of the afternoon session will be a discussion of "Sunday-school Pedagogy," led my Miss Mary Sumner, teacher of history in the Los Angeles High School. Other interesting features will mark the day.

The convention of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, sessions being held both morning and afternoon.

Tuesday morning the convention will be organized in the new church, being preceded by two services at the Pro-Cathedral—at 7:30 and 10—the Holy Communion being celebrated both. At the close of the latter Bishop Johnson will deliver his annual charge, and the convention will be organized in the parish house at 3 o'clock noon.

The convention will continue through the week, the bishop's reception being tendered at Kramer's Hall on Grand avenue on Thursday evening.

CORNER-STONE TOMORROW.

The corner-stone of the new Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, colored, whose was to have been laid on last Sunday, but had to be postponed on account of rain, will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the corner of Eighth street and San Julian streets.

The ceremonies will be in charge of Rev. A. W. Adkinson, presiding elder of the district, and the sermon will be preached by Dr. W. H. Ryder, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church. The laying of the stone will be done by Rev. W. S. Bryant, pastor of Wesley Church. Other ministers who will take part are Rev. W. A. Knighten, Rev. G. E. Foster, Rev. R. C. Corey, Rev. Robert S. Hall and Rev. S. W. Hawkins, pastor of Trinity Church, during the two years the pastorate of Mr. Bryant, has more than doubled its membership and now numbers 325 communicants, with a very large following of colored people outside the church. They have a lot paid for and have in hand a cash fund of more than $12,000 to put into the building, which insures its success from the start. The completed structure will be one worthy the city and will cost $30,000, and all the Methodist churches of the city are deeply interested in making it not only an ornament, but a power for good among the colored people.

SIXTEENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist Church will hold a special service on Sunday evening, commemorating the birth of the league sixteen years ago. It will have a somewhat new distinction in having on its program for the evening four nationalities. Chan Kin Sing will tell of the Chinese Missions, a Jap, named Shiom, will talk of Japanese Missions, and Mr. Cyrn, of the work in Korea. Addresses on the work of the league will be delivered by Byron Cole, Miss Pearl Strong, and John Mills.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

ODD FELLOWS TO HEAR SERMON.

The officers, converts and workers of the Union Rescue Mission will worship at the Temple Baptist Church Sunday morning, and will take part in the services. In the evening at the mission, Mrs. Coral Sloan will speak and recite "How Salvation Came to a Drunkard's Camp."

The members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will worship with the Avenue Methodist Church Sunday evening, when the pastor, Rev. W. C. Botkin, will preach to them on the principles of the order.

The Presbyterian Church will observe its tenth anniversary Tuesday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock, at Church No. 229 South Hill street. Rev. R. F. Howell, pastor of the West Methodist Episcopal Church, will preach both Sunday morning and evening, having returned from his vacation spent in the southern part of the State.

Rev. Frank Murphy will take for his subject at his gospel temperance meeting in Blanchard Hall on Sunday evening, "Drink Not." Oscar Lawler will sing, and H. J. Stevens will speak. There will be the usual entertaining programme.

Rev. Fay Mills has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, but will preach at the Belasco Theater on Sunday evening, when his subject will be "The Interpretation of Jesus." Mrs. Fay Mills will preach in the Simpson Auditorium.

SUNDAY, MAY 14.

John xvii, 15-26: Jesus Prays for His Followers.

THE CONNECTION.

We left them in the upper room, where they were celebrating the Passover supper for the last time. During that supper Jesus washed the feet of His disciples. Soon after that, Judas went out to do his dark deed, and Jesus instituted the new supper with the bread and wine. It was natural that He should talk much with them and should pray. The prayer was very touching and tender, and was spoken aloud. He first prayed for Himself that He and the Father might be glorified, that their true character might be manifested, and that He might soon have restored to Him the glory which He had even before the world was created. Next He prayed for the disciples and then for all the redeemed of all time. Our lesson comes from that prayer. It is called "the priestly prayer."

THE LESSON.

I.

"Prayer for the Apostles." (Verses 15-19.)

"I pray not that thou shouldst take them from the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil one. They are not of the world, even as I am of the world. Sanctify them in the truth; thy word is truth. As thou didst send me into the world, even so I sent them into the world. And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they themselves also may be sanctified in truth."

(1.) He had already prayed that they might have eternal life, that they might be kept from evil, and that they might have his joy remaining in them. In making this prayer He has a basis of confidence in the facts that He had equipped them with His word of truth, that they belonged to the Father, who had given them to the son, and that He had carefully defended and trained them.

(2.) He had deliberately decided to leave them in the world. Because they are needed in the world, to tell them of Jesus, and they were His representatives. They were to be light to dispel the world's darkness; salt to arrest the world's putrification; seed—the good seed of the kingdom—in whom righteouness is soon to bloom amidst its thorns and nightshades. Then they were to represent Christ here. And because they needed to stay here for the discipline it would give them. No one grows without struggle against adversaries and in behalf of others. This world of conflict is the way to conquest. And also because Christ needs us here. Here we glorify Him by making Him known in His glorious character and by securing the reproduction of that character in ourselves and others. He leaves us here, but He secures our safety.

(3.) He prays for special help for them.

Not that they might be shielded from the world's work and warfare, but from the world's wickedness. The evil one is at the bottom of the world's evil, and they must be under the sway of the holy one. They must stay sin without being stained by it. They would be stained, if they allowed themselves to use sinful methods in doing good, or if they gave way to evil on the ground that they were justified in doing so, as a reward for doing good, or if they got their instructions from the world, or fell into the habits of worldly people.

(4.) The method of keeping them is to be through sanctifying them. That means to set them apart to their heavenly vocation, while living in the world. It means an actual growth in holiness through following that vocation. The instrument of that sanctification is the truth He had been giving them and would further give. Through that truth the setting apart is affected, as it guides the life; through it, the inner holiness is secured as the world is made to live in the inner soul.

(5.) Three powerful facts breathe through the prayer.

First, that these disciples are not of the world. Their new birth was from above. From above they get their instructions and ideals, not from the world. And they are like Him in that, for He was from above. Next, that they had been sent on the same mission to the world that he himself was then on. They were ambassadors. They were His associates. And last, that Jesus had given them an example of how to set themselves apart to their mission. With that heavenly nature and mision and example, He could hopefully pray that they be kept and set apart and made successful.

II.

"Prayer for All Believers." (Verses 20-26.)

"Neither for these only do I pray, but for them also that believe on me through their word; that they may all be one; even as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they may also be in us; that the world may believe that thou didst send me. And the glory which thou hast given me I have given unto them, that they may be one, even as we are one; I in them, and thou in me, that they may be perfected into one; that the world may know that thou didst send me, and lovedst them, even as thou lovedst me. Father, I desire that they also whom thou hast given me be with me where I am, that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me; for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world. O righteous Father, the world knew thee not, but I knew thee; and these knew that thou didst send me! and I made known unto them thy name, and will make it known; that the love wherewith thou lovedst me may be in them, and I in them."

This includes believers in all times and climes and characters and conditions. It includes us. Jesus prayed for you that night. He throws light on His method by securing additional followers, "through their word." That is the way He won His followers, each through the word or testimony of another. That is the one and only way He ever will employ.

(1.) He prays for their unity. That is something better and deeper than union. Unity is sinternal; union external. Unity is vital; union is mechanical. Unity is involuntary, structural, essential; union is voluntary and may or may not be. Christ's prayer is answered, we have Christian unity—all we know what to do with, more than we make proper use of. We can have and shall have more union.

That unity is secured through Christ. They share His life and are parts of His body. Their unity with each other is similar to that between Christ and the Father, not optional, nor merely ethical, from having similar aims, but vital, from living the same life.

(2.) He gives two results that will follow on their unity. First, the world will believe. They are at one with Him who rules the universe and their testimony will command attention. They will be a new phase of human life and have in themselves a new power to impress mankind. The world will not only believe, but will come into the conviction that involves knowledge. To make the world believe in Him and trace with certainty the connection between Him and the Father had been the desire and has now become the dream and the determination of His soul. These disciples will show that fact to the world. Another result will be the appearance in the disciples, themselves, of the glory that had heretofore belonged only to Him and the Father. The divine character would be seen in them, reproduced in them and raying forth from them. And Jesus whose self-giving was His highest passion, longed to see Himself there reappearing in them.

(3.) He further prays that they may be given the very highest enjoyment that mortals can dream of. First, to be with Him, at last in His home, where they shall be "forever with the Lord" after the painful separation and the hard struggles of life. He has not seen the last of them and He is arranging with His Father to bring them on with Him to heaven. The end is to be close to Him in person as they shall have been in spirit, all along through life. That will be joy. But more joy awaits, for He asks His Father to reveal to their admiring eyes all the glories they have both enjoyed. But that is not all. He wants the Father to crown them with that love which He had shown to the Son from eternity. Jesus wants His disciples to see the workings of that love in its perfection. He had already told them that He loved them as the Father loved Him. That thought had tremendous power with them even now, but after their earthly experience of it they will be able to appreciate it all the more when they go to be with Him in the house of many mansions.

(4.) That His love may be in them. He prays, realized here on earth. The love of God shows itself in self-giving and it finds gratification in the degree in which it can embody and manifest itself in those to whom it is given. This petition for them reveals His devotion to His Father as well, for He knows how the Father is gratified when His love is fully accepted. He cheers us and cheers them with the assurance that they can know God and do know Him. Yet all their knowledge came through Jesus and we can never know God save through Him.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Centuries before the day of John the Baptist, and even of Elijah the Tishbite, the notion existed among orientals that the world was evil, and that withdrawal from the world, or being taken away from it, was a prerequisite condition to, or identical with, being kept from evil. To the Brahman life was misery, and the cessation of all personal existence was the supreme good, and hence a life of asceticism was inculcated and practiced. This notion penetrated into Judaism, and in a modified form manifested itself in the Jewish sect of the Essenes, which still flourished during our Lord's earthly ministry; and the notion is far from being extinct today.—[Howie.

To see the number of Christ's sincere followers increasing is to His disciples truer joy than to see their own business extending. And it would help us all to do so were we to believe that Christ's interest in us is such as this prayer reveals, and that the great subject of His intercession is that we be kept from the evil that is in the world and be helpful in the great and enduring work of bringing into truer fellowship men's lives and God's goodness. Alongside of all our profitless labor and unworthiness of aim there runs this lofty aim of Christ for us; and while we are greedily following after pleasure or thoughtlessly throwing ourselves into mere worldliness, our Lord is praying the Father that we be lifted into harmony with Him and be used as channels of His grace to others.—[Dods.

POINTS TO IMPRESS.

(1.) That we can conquer evil only as we meet it.

(2.) That strength for good is gained only in struggle with evil.

(3.) That the disciples have the same mission in the world that Christ had.

(4.) That we are to consult Christ rather than convenience, in doing our work.

(5.) That to know that Christ prayed for us is to prompt us to seek the things He prayed for.

(6.) That the great example for us is Christ Himself.

(7.) That, as Christians are one in Christ, they must be one in ideals and aims.

(8.) That to make God known is to glorify Him.

(9.) That we must love each other as the Father loves Christ.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

THE SECRET OF POWER.

Terse Comments Upon the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, Christian Endeavor, Epworth League, Baptist Young People's Union, etc., for May 14: "Spirit-filled Christians."—[Acts ii, 1-4, 41-47.

By William T. Ellis.

The explanation of the rise and power of the Christian religion in the world is to be found in the presence of a mysterious, supernatural and omnipotent Spirit in the church. 2 The story of the marvelous growth of Christianity baffles explanation until we accept the theory put forth by Christians themselves, that they have a divine Enabler within and above themselves, through whom they have been assisted to a more than natural endurance, endeavor and holiness.

It is not necessary to understand the mystery of the spirit in order to experience it.

The church began at Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit descended in tongues of fire. Straightway she began to have power. The fearful, feeble disciples were made unafraid and effective. Their words began to burn and glow. Men gave heed to them, and consciences were smitten and hearts pierced. The fearless testimony of the friends of Jesus at once had a strange weight with the people, so that thousands joined themselves to the way. Christianity began to attract attention. High and low took notice of it, and its wide and rapid dissemination became one of the marvels of the time. All this was due to the spirit which animated the church. She had power from on high, and that power was none other than the very Spirit of God.

Christianity is an inexplicable riddle unless we accept the truth of the wonderful Spirit as its key.

The man who is filled with the Holy Spirit is less likely to talk about his own holiness than his neighbors. Fault-finding is nowhere enumerated among the fruits of the spirit.

There must be fullness before there can be overflowing. Only the disciple whose life is crowded with God can overflow in godliness and blessing to other lives. A person cannot impart what he does not first possess. In vain does he hope to show Christ to the world unless Christ dwells deeply in his own heart.

"Thou must be true thyself
Ere thou the truth canst teach;
Thy heart must overflow,
If thou another's heart would reach;
It needs the overflow of heart,
To give the lips full speech."

No man who had the spirit of the Lord ever bragged about it.

"A tree is known by its fruit." The one sure test of the presence of the Spirit in a Christian's heart is the appearance of the fruits of the Spirit in his life. Now "the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control."

"Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty"—liberty from selfishness, liberty from fear, liberty from love of sin, liberty from all that makes for the lower life, and liberty to walk in the way that leads to whatever makes for true life and holiness.

The faint-heartedness which is the first temptation of every Christian is surely conquered by the Spirit's presence. The infant church offered as its first recorded prayer a supplication for boldness, or free utterance, in bearing witness. And straightway the answer came, "And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spake the word of God with boldness."

There are many conceptions of the wonderful spirit, and some of them are not clear to humble minds. But the simplest, plainest and sufficient statement of this third personage of the trinity is that given by the departing Savior to His friends—that the spirit should stand to them in His stead. All that Jesus had been the spirit would be. His office is to represent Christ, as the Son is man's advocate with the Father, so the Spirit is the Son's advocate with man. He is the tender, comforting friend, the wise Counsellor and Teacher, the comrade and inspiration of the disciple today, even as Jesus was to the little band which traveled together about Palestine two thousand years ago.

All the Spirit's strength is for every Christian's sustenance.

The Christian who is filled with the Spirit is a songful Christian. He lives rejoicingly and sunnily. The gloom that is sometimes mistakenly attributed to religion, really belongs only to those who know not the peace and gladness of inner communion with God.

The fullness of one's religious life is measured by man's willingness to receive, and not by God's capacity to give.

The life yielded to the Spirit is wielded by the spirit.

"I am often troubled by much that I hear in religious meetings concerning the Holy Spirit," once said a busy religious worker; "I hear men talk about wondrous baptisms by the Spirit, and memorable experiences when they received Him. Now I know nothing about that. I believe my life is unreservedly dedicated to the Maste, and I have only one ambition, which is to do his will. Furthermore, I am very certain than any success in Christian service which I may have had, any ability to help men, and any growth in character, have been due absolutely to a power beyond my own, a power that I have always reverently believed to be the Holy Spirit." There are diversities of workings, but the one Spirit; a man may live by the Spirit and be used of him, without ever having been conscious of the Spirit's having taken possession of him. But if he bear the fruits of the Spirit he may know that he is animated by the life of the Spirit.

NEWS AND NOTES.

The Pope still continues to reduce Vatican expenses, in the interest of economy.

The Methodist Episcopal church has revised its hymnal, in cooperation with the Southern church.

The Presbyterian Board of Publication has elected Rev. Alexander Henry of Philadelphia, a member of the board, as its secretary.

In China there is a Christian cathedral more than three hundred years old. It was built in 1602 by the Portuguese, and it is just about to be restored.

May 21 will be generally observed by Presbyterians as the four hundredth anniversary of John Knox's birth.

The convention of all of the Baptist denominations on the North American continent, which is to meet in St. Louis, May 16 and 17, is attracting even more attention among Baptists than the world's congress in London in July, to which latter meetings several hundred Americans are going.

FOR SALE— SUNNYSIDE PARK ADDITION.

LARGEST LOTS, FINEST SOIL, BEST VIEW.

Those who failed to get lots in Sunnyside Park tract, which I recently closed out on short notice, will do well to visit this addition early and make their selections at once. As the tract is new, any frontage, east, west, north or south, may be had now. Every modern improvement will be added immediately. Lots are large, streets graded, sidewalked and curbed and lined with palm and other shade and ornamental trees. The purest water from inexhaustible wells piped to every lot.

LOCATION THE BEST IN THE WHOLE SOUTHWEST. FIGUEROA STREET, HOOVER STREET, VERMONT AVENUE. TWO ELECTRIC LINES—20 MINUTES. QUARTER ACRES, $300. HALF ACRES, $400. SMALL PAYMENT DOWN, $10 A MONTH.

For homes where flower beds and truck gardens prosper, where chickens, pigeons and other domestic fowl and animals are most profitable and where you are always within reach of the business center in 20 minutes, Sunnyside Park Addition offers advantages to the homeseeker more attractive than any other tract in the southwest. Remember, too, that this is another Fifth tract, bought outright and sold less agents' commissions, for small profits.

Call at the office for map and receive tickets free. Salesmen always ready to show you if you want further information. Reservations made by mail or telephone receive prompt attention.

FOR SALE—Country Property.

FOR SALE— BARGAIN! BARGAIN!

We have for sale one of the cheapest high-grade ranch property on the Los Angeles market. It consists of 45 acres of first-class soil, located 2½ miles north of Hollywood, and within 9½ miles of the Courthouse, Los Angeles. The soil is a sandy loam, and cannot be surpassed in Southern California for growing alfalfa, berries, walnuts, potatoes and all other vegetables. The soil will average 12 tons per acre in alfalfa, and will run $150 per acre in potatoes. It will easily pay for itself in less than 21 months. Adjoining properties run from $1200 to $1500 per acre. You have the advantage of being close to the Los Angeles market, have the best of soil and plenty of water. Do not fail to investigate this property, as you are in the market for a bargain. Price only $125 per acre.

FOR SALE— We have a client who owns a first-class 10-acre ranch, comprising 5 acres of navels, 3 years old, and 5 acres of Valencias, 5 to 7 years old. The soil and location are ideal for citrus fruits. It is bounded on 3 sides by water at a very low rate. Circumstances over which he has no control force us placed him that he is in danger of losing the property under foreclosure. A very small sum will take his equity, and the crop returns will easily pay for the balance due on mortgage. We have the full particulars to submit to anyone who has a few hundred dollars with which to get this snap.

THE PEOPLE WHO BOUGHT GOOD TONOpah and Goldfield stocks at the start have made fortunes. The men who buy the solid stocks in Bullfrog today will get rich also. The Sierra Syndicate people have been working for months finding out about the Southern Nevada camps, and the principal mines there. They place at your disposal entirely free of charge all their information and advice. They have some interesting literature which they will gladly give you if you will write or call at their office. It is only a question of months when the railroads will reach Bullfrog and the producing mines go on the dividend list. Nobody can beat the Syndicate on prices. Send or call for market suggestions and other literature today.

Some Car Lines' Alleged Operations Exposed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago Great Western Railway, has appeared with the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce a statement in favor of giving the Interstate Commerce Commission power to fix rates. He says that such power would be the most satisfactory arbitrator in the matter of rebates, he says "since the injunctions, the Supreme Court directors have stopped the payment of rebates on grain shipments, but in lieu thereof have adopted the cowcatcher fees, which is another way of giving rebates."

"The government commission would be unhampered by commercial bodies or a desire to secure tonnage for any particular line, and would frame an equitable ...

Just how far Senator Clark, president of the new Salt Lake line, will extend his liberality to members of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of taking them on an excursion to Salt Lake City is a matter on which those members are awaiting a decision.

When the Senator spoke at the Chamber of Commerce reception last Monday evening to the visiting members of the Salt Lake Commercial Club, who had come here as his guests, he intimated that it was his intention to extend a somewhat similar courtesy to the Los Angeles organization.

There is a vast difference, however, in the size of the two bodies. About 150 members of the Commercial Club came to Los Angeles and were accommodated easily on one train.

There are 1750 members of the Chamber of Commerce, however, and, if the president of the road should undertake to extend his courtesies to all these, it is likely that he would attract a crowd which would tax the capacity of three or four trains.

No one doubts that the Senator will do the handsome thing by Los Angeles, but there is some curiosity as to just how he can get around the puzzling difficulty that confronts him in caring for such a horde as would jump at the chance to make a free trip to the City of the Saints.

While it is probable that some arrangement will be made to take a certain number to Salt Lake on free transportation in celebration of the opening of the new line, there will be charges for sleeping and dining car accommodations, as well as for entertainment at Salt Lake City—all of which may tend to hold down the enthusiasm of some persons.

No advice has been received by the officers of the Chamber of Commerce as to what arrangements may be made, but it is likely that some notice will be received within a few days.

It is said that, if the excursion be run, it will be between June 1 and 15.

Already there have been many inquiries at the Chamber of Commerce as to the excursion, indicating a widespread interest in the project. Until further advices are received from the railroad company, however, no definite reply can be made.

CINCH FOR US.

FREIGHT RATES TO VEGAS.

Unless Los Angeles merchants are slow to take advantage of their opportunity, they have an excellent chance to capture the trade of the growing Nevada mining district tributary to the line of the new Salt Lake railroad.

Under the freight tariff sheets just published by the company it is shown that the rates on various kinds of freight are lower from Los Angeles to Las Vegas than from Salt Lake to the same point.

As Las Vegas is the shipping point for Bullfrog and the numerous other mining camps, there is prospect that Los Angeles jobbers will build up a large trade in that section, as well as in the town of Las Vegas, which promises to be of considerable commercial importance.

In striving for a "square deal" for each of its terminals, the railroad company was guided by the geographical situation. It made Moapa, Nev., the dividing point, this place being almost exactly midway between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City.

Las Vegas, however, is about forty-nine miles nearer to Los Angeles than to Salt Lake City and for this reason the rates to the new town on the desert will be correspondingly lower from this city.

The territory that the Salt Lake merchants can reach with greater advantage than Los Angeles in the matter of rates extends for a distance of more than one hundred miles beyond the line separating Utah and Nevada, and includes Caliente and many other towns that have been established for a number of years.

From Las Vegas, the freight for the mining country is transported by wagon. Since the opening of the new line there has been a great increase in this kind of traffic, while there are large daily shipments from Los Angeles to Las Vegas, indicating that local men of commerce are getting into the field.

RAILROAD VISITORS.

NEW YORK CENTRAL MEN.

W. B. Jerome, general western passenger agent at Chicago of the New York Central lines, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday with Carleton C. Crane of San Francisco, Pacific Coast agent of the same system. With F. M. Byron, Southern California passenger agent, they will go next Tuesday evening over the new line to Salt Lake City.

Mr. Jerome says passenger business in the East is exceedingly active, so much so that his company has just placed a new train on the Michigan Central from Chicago to Buffalo, to be known as the "Wolverine," and to make exceedingly fast time. The "Second Empire" is another fast train out of New York City for the West, being a counterpart of the "Empire State Limited" of railroad renown.

STICKNEY'S PRAISE.

THE PRESIDENT'S COURAGE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A. B. Stickney testifying before the Interstate Commerce Commission today, said that he thought that the commission should be allowed to fix minimum, as well as maximum rates, or discriminations could not be prevented. Mr. Stickney criticised the free-pass system.

"As an individual rule of action the law against free passes," he said, "was ignored by the Congressmen who passed it and by the President who approved it, and subsequent Congressmen and Presidents with rare exceptions have ignored its provisions.

"There is one man, and but one man," he said, "whose example would be effective, and unless the American people have misjudged character, if he realized that he was transgressing the law in accepting the courtesy of free transportation, Theodore Roosevelt would have the virtue and courage and the ability to set the example which shall awaken officialdom and all good citizens to a sense of the individual duty to obey the law."

PEACH OF A BRIDE FOR JACK JEFFRIES.

Jack Jeffries and his bride.

WHERE are the people who believe that heroes of the pugilistic arena cannot do anything without its being previously exploited in the daily prints?

Let such persons take notice and annul their ideas.

Jack Jeffries, big Jim's brother, has taken unto himself a wife, one of the prettiest and most attractive girls in Los Angeles. They were married on May Day.

Mrs. Jack is spending her honeymoon at the old family home of the Jeffries on the sloping hills back of the Arroyo Seco, counting the days until she can join her husband and begin to "keep house" for Jack.

The bride was Miss Sadie Newman, daughter of Mrs. Marian Newman of No. 460 Solano avenue. The wedding took place at the Jeffries home, and was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Rawson, a retired Episcopal clergyman. Only the members of the two families were present, besides the attendants of the bridal couple.

The bride was gowned in a natty traveling suit of pastel green, and was attended by her intimate friend, Miss Estelle Heady. The stalwart bridegroom had Tom Smith as his best man.

At 3:40 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jeffries were on the train, bound for Santa Barbara, where they spent several days. The next Sunday they returned to Los Angeles, and early Monday morning Jeffries started out with a gang of men for the mines belonging to himself and Brother Jim, near Quartzite, Ariz.

Mrs. Jeffries wanted to go with her husband. She would have liked nothing better than to join him in roughing it in a miners' camp for a few weeks; but she was finally prevailed upon to abandon the idea, and await here in Los Angeles the labors of Jack, as he planned the erection of a cottage at the Jeffries mines. There she will go on the next trip of her husband.

Old British Port.

Lord Palmerston used to tell this story of his grandfather, Lord Pembroke. When the latter was questioned about adulterated wines, he would answer: "There, gentlemen, are my claret and champagne. I give it to you on the authority of my wine merchant. My port I can answer for; I made it myself." Palmerston declared that he had never tried the recipe from which it was made, but he preserved it, and here it is: Eight gallons of genuine port wine, forty gallons of cider; brandy to fill the hogshead. Elder tops will give it the proper roughness, and cochineal whatever strength of coloring you please. The quantity made should not be less than a hogshead. It should be kept fully two years in a cask, and as long in bottle before it is used."—[Chicago News.

MINES AND MINING.

FROM GOLDFIELD TO BULLFROG.

SURVEYORS ARE WORKING TO THE SOUTHWARD.

Tonopah-Goldfield Railroad People Casting Eyes at the New Camps. Nevada Men in Inyo County—Arizona and Sonora Copper Companies Are Doubling Business.

Stirred in all probability by the reports of the railroad building from the south the owners of the Tonopah and Goldfield line are casting eyes at the Bullfrog district and may continue their line through to the southern mines. According to the Goldfield News they have a party of surveyors already at work to the south of Goldfield. Their grading for the line from Tonopah is now within eight miles of that camp and July 15 is now given as the probable date of completion. Should the line be then rushed through to Bullfrog it may be able to get in with its rival from the south.

Col. A. E. Browne the Colorado mining engineer who recently made an examination of the country between Ivanpah and Goldfield for the Santa Fé, is again in that section, having outfitted at Ivanpah some two weeks since and started into the desert where he goes to examine some properties which attracted his attention on the former trip.

LOS ANGELES COMPANY.

Willis George Emerson and Fred H. Vahrenkamp of this city, now in Goldfield, have organized the Bonnie-Claire Goldfield Mining Company with a capital of $2,000,000 to operate the Rattlesnake and Corbett properties near Goldfield, a two-thirds interest in which was purchased from Louis E. Chiatovich, who has been working them for a number of years. He retains a one-third interest. It is said that the price paid was $200,000.

The officers and directors are: W. G. Emerson, president; Fred H. Vahrenkamp, vice-president; L. E. Chiatovich, superintendent; S. H. Kitts.

COMBINATION MILL STARTS.

The Combination mill at Goldfield which first started operations on April 15 but was obliged to shut down after a few days on account of shortage of water, resumed work last week. A plentiful supply of water has been obtained by piping from Alkali Springs, a distance of ten miles. The mill will handle forty tons a day running twenty-four hours with three shifts of workmen. The water supply of the mill amounts to 72,000 gallons a day. The mill is expected to handle the ore from the Combination and January mines.

According to a report received yesterday from Ballarat, Inyo county, J. G. Rush, well-known in Los Angeles, has bonded his property fifteen miles southeast of that place to eastern people for $250,000. The veins on these properties assay from $35 to $100 in gold and are very wide and well-defined, one being said to have a pay streak twenty feet wide. A ledge of $12 ore 150 feet in width is said to have been uncovered.

Inyo county whose mineral wealth has long been neglected, is coming more to the front all the time. The broad-gauging of the Carson City and Colorado railroad is certain to aid development by giving better transportation facilities and if the proposed road from Mojave is built the country is likely to be pushed to the limit of prospecting and development.

The great boom in Southern Nevada is having its effect upon Inyo county and considerable capital from across the line is finding its way into the Panamint range. Monte Montgomery, brother of E. A. Montgomery of Bullfrog fame, is operating in Pleasant Canon where he is said to have taken out many thousands within about five months, according to reports coming by way of Goldfield. He has a small stamp mill in operation. Another report coming from Nevada says that Capt. De Lamar, owner of the famous Pioche mines in Lincoln county has purchased the Radcliffe mines in Inyo county and will operate them extensively.

ARIZONA'S COPPER.

The great Copper Queen smelter at Douglas is being added to continually, to provide smelting capcity for the enormous shipments of copper ores that come to it daily. A sixth great furnace has been blown in and a seventh is ready. Already copper production from the works has reached 2,500,000 pounds a month. The smelter buildings have been doubled in size and work has been begun on an addition that will give the power-house room for the housing of a half-dozen more powerful engines. The battery of oil-burning boilers is the largest in the Southwest.

The Calumet and Arizona reduction works at Douglas also are being doubled in size, the improvements made already this year costing about $300,000. A 200-foot steel smokestack is one of the improvements now nearly complete. Two electric cranes are to be added to the equipment, as well as a new boiler house, containing seven new boilers. A fourth large furnace is being added to the smelting plant. The monthly bullion production of the works is about 2,700,000 pounds.

George Mitchell of Los Angeles, formerly associated with the Greene interests at Cananea, lately had a survey made for a smelting plant at Naco, to handle ores from a number of outside Cananea properties. There is an expectation at Cananea that several of the larger independent mining companies that lately have struck ore at Bisbee will also place their reduction works in the same neighborhood. Water is to be had in plenty and transportation facilities are as good as at Douglas.

A small furnace has been running for some time at Gleason, turning out copper matte for the Copper Belle Company. The same company has in course of erection a 150-ton copper furnace, which is to be put into operation in about a month.

The new custom smelter at Benson has not yet blown in, though everything is said to be in readiness. It is understood that shipments of ore have been light.

The first six days' run of the new five-stamp mill of the Gold Nugget Company, in Apache Pass, near Bowie, resulted in a clean-up of $700 in gold, which was taken to Bisbee for the edification of the stockholders, who are mainly miners in the latter camp. The company has decided upon adding another battery of stamps and a concentrating plant.

John C. Loss, a pioneer mining man of Arizona, has just purchased the property of the Crown Consolidated Company, ten miles south of Casa Grande Station. The mechanical equipment consists of a twenty-stamp mill, a fifty-ton lead and silver furnace and a fifty-ton copper furnace, with air compressors and power plant. Mr. Loss represents an Illinois corporation, styled the Arizona Mercantile Transportation and Smelting Company. In addition to working the ores of several mines of its own, it is the purpose of the company to operate a general custom reduction plant.

The Cienegulta Company has ordered three additional copper furnaces, which are to be in place before the end of the year on the property of the company in Southern Sonora. A 200-ton concentrating plant is to be erected as well.

MAP OF

LINCOLN COUNTY, NEVADA

Scale 1"=100

Information as to Sale of Lots in Clark's Las Vegas Townsite, Las Vegas, Nev.

Owing to the great number of applications that have been received for the various lots in this townsite, and the impracticability of deciding as between applicants for the same lots, it has been decided in fairness to all, to conduct an auction sale of these lots at Las Vegas, commencing at noon on May 15, 1905.

A special rate of $16.00 from Los Angeles and $20.00 from Salt Lake City, for the round trip, will be made along the line of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad to Las Vegas. Tickets will be sold on the 13th and the 14th and return portion must be used before the 18th. Purchasers of lots will receive as a rebate the amount paid for railroad fare to Las Vegas.

The bidding will be as to choice of lots at the following scale of prices: From $150.00 to $750.00 for corner lots and from $100.00 to $500.00 for inside lots. All streets are 80 feet wide with alleys 20 feet wide running through the center of each block.

Terms of sale: Twenty-five per cent. down and balance on execution and delivery of deed by the Company within sixty days thereafter. The sale of intoxicating liquors will be prohibited, excepting on blocks 16 and 17.

Further information and particulars can be obtained from Mr. F. A. Waters, Room 507 Pacific Electric Bldg., Los Angeles, or at the office of the Company at Las Vegas, or from W. E. Vigus at the office of Houston Real Estate & Investment Co. at Salt Lake City.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Zeehandelaar North.

Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has gone to San Francisco, to attend a meeting of the Citizens' Alliance.

Postal Clerks' Reception.

Postoffice clerks have issued invitations for a dancing party to be given on Tuesday evening, May 30, at Kramer's Hall, with J. G. Stamm's Orchestra furnishing music for the affair.

Contractor Fails.

John E. Crouch, local contractor, filed insolvency papers with the United States District Clerk yesterday. Crouch places his debts at $7695.27, and alleges that his assets only amount to $175.

Saloon Cracked.

Burglars entered the Burbank Theater saloon early yesterday morning by breaking the glass of a side door, and then unlocking the door. Once in they smashed open the cash drawer, took $20 and skipped out.

Thief Needed Hose.

Mrs. F. A. Butler of No. 1428 South Los Angeles street reported to the police yesterday that Wednesday night a thief broke into her house, which was unoccupied at the time, and stole about fifty feet of rubber hose.

Court's Half-holiday.

Patrons of the police courts should remember that there will be sessions this morning, but not this afternoon. Hereafter there will be half-holidays every Saturday afternoon in accordance with the law passed by the last Legislature.

Triangle Club Election.

At a well attended meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Debating Lyceum, held yesterday evening in the association rooms on South Hill street, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing term: Jesse Land, president; Chester Versaned, vice-president; E. H. Barrett, secretary; Jesse Grow, treasurer.

Salt Lake's Mail Service.

A rumor comes from Washington that the new mail service on the Salt Lake road will go into effect on May 22. This will save many hours in transmission, and Postmaster Flint believes that after the Santa Fé Limited is taken off practically all the day mail will go by this route. This means that the new road will get the greater part of the service.

Temple Baptists Find Location.

Yesterday the officers of the Temple Baptist Church completed arrangements for the use of Masonic Hall, on South Hill street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, during the building of the great Temple Auditorium. It is expected this congregation will use its new quarters early in June, as after the close of the May Festival workmen will begin the demolition of the old pavilion.

Sells Picture to the King.

J. W. Barter, Esq., of Cork, Ireland, formerly a Times pressman, and known in Los Angeles as Johnny George, who several years ago fell heir to a large landed estate in Ireland, has written friends here of the sale of a painting from his home to King Edward VII. The picture represents the arrival of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert at the Cove of Cork on Queen Victoria's first visit to Ireland, on August 3, 1849.

No Trace of Bell.

Yesterday brought no news of the missing Methodist minister, Rev. W. B. Bell, who mysteriously disappeared from his home a week ago. Unless some definite news of his whereabouts is received by Monday it is expected that searching parties will be sent out through the near-by foothills and cañons, which it is known the missing man took delight in visiting. Some of his brethren in the ministry are fearful lest he may have fallen ill from exhaustion or have attempted taking his life.

Caught a Tartar.

Sam Rose, a newsboy, who sells his wares at Fifth street and Broadway, was treated to a surprise yesterday afternoon when he started a fight with Louis Harowitz, another urchin, who is a cripple. Rose called Harowitz a "buttinsky" when the latter tried to sell a paper to a passing stranger, and then he waded into the cripple. Harowitz wielded his crutch with such telling effect that Rose was sent to the Receiving Hospital with a four-inch gash in his scalp and a battered countenance.

Good Work Appreciated.

During the fire at Eighteenth and Flower streets, a week ago, when the residence of J. Perry was destroyed, Patrolman C. E. Johnson climbed to the top of an adjoining building and saved it from destruction by using a garden hose before the arrival of the fire department. Neighbors who witnessed the policeman's act sent a token of appreciation in the shape of a box of cigars, and last night Johnson was invited out to spend the evening in one of the Flower-street homes, where a dinner was served in his honor.

"La Somnambule."

The intermediate department of the Westlake School for Girls gave an acceptable presentation of "La Somnambule" on Friday evening at the school, No. 612 South Alvarado street. As an inception the School Glee Club gave two selections, (a) OO, Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast" (Mendelssohn;) (b) "Estudiantina" (P. Lacome.) Those who took part in the cleverly given little "comedie" were: Misses Anita Orena, Marie Nance, Ida Ross, Herminia Orena, Marjorie Langmuir, Mildred Hubbard, Violet Rennie, Marie Peyton, Nelsina Freeman and Alice Trafton.

Naturopaths Will Protest.

A mass meeting will be held at Blanchard's Hall on the evening of May 18, under the auspices of the Naturopathic Association of California, for the purpose of protesting against the present medical law and the arrest of some of the members of the association. Dr. Haney and Dr. Carl Schultz will speak on the object of the Naturopathic Association, and why it is opposed by the medical trust; Grant B. Bennett, Esq., formerly law partner of Robert Ingersoll, will speak on "Unjust Medical Legislation, and Why Naturopathics Should Be Legalized."

Bad Indian.

Dr. L. A. Wright, special disbursing agent to Indians, appeared before United States Commissioner E. H. Owens yesterday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Rosindo Ellis, a red man of the Tule River reservation. Ellis is charged with assault with intent to commit murder, said assault being perpetrated May 4 on the person of James Alto. Ellis and Alto quarreled, and the former shot him. Alto was known to the sporting world as "Big Jim" Alto, and in the international match held at San Francisco in 1896 won the world's fourth championship as a wrestler. He is said to be dangerously wounded, and his assailant will be brought in as soon as he can be found.

BREVITIES.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier; especially Sunday real estate announcements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential, in order to get the paper out on time, to stop receiving real estate ads at 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays. Sunday "Want" ads will still be received by phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday nights.

The ladies' rest room on the top floor of the new wing of The Times' Building, is open daily from 9 to 5. Ladies from town or country will find this a convenient place to write, rest or read. GUN FOR PRESENT.

Handsome Weapon Presented to Constable De la Monte by Five of His Deputies.

In his office at the Courthouse last night Constable De la Monte was made the recipient of a handsome gift by five of his admiring deputies—a 38-caliber, pearl-handled Smith & Wesson revolver. The constable starts tomorrow on a trout-fishing expedition along the San Gabriel River, and it was thought well by his subordinates to specially equip him against attacks by the finny tribe, whose secret fastnesses he proposes to invade. The presentation speech was made by Attorney Frank Collier. The men responsible for the gun gift are Deputies Brown, Adams, Holman, Watson and Thomas.

BORNING OF A NEW COURT.

First Day's Doings of the Appellate Bench.

Examination Most Rigorous Ever Known Here.

Already, before it's a day old, the new court is buried under a staggering load of cases panting for decision—at least a year's work, thrust upon it by the overburdened Supreme Court.

It was an impressive scene yesterday when the three newly-created justices filed into Department Two of the Supreme Court chambers for the first time.

It is a solemn thing to take upon one's shoulders the ermine of judgeship; a solemn thing to go to a seat where you know you must, in time, hold the lives and hopes of some pleading, hapless human being, and weigh his sorrow against your duty to this helpless, sprawling thing called the "people;" a solemn thing to know that some day you must deny the appeal of a wretch dragged to the gallows protesting his innocence; to know that you must turn against the claims of helpless poverty.

At the head of the little procession was the presiding justice, Hon. Wheaton Gray, a bulky, gray-mustached man, very huge about the shoulders, a kindly face with calm gray eyes.

Mr. Justice Smith, a Virginian, a gentle old man with a soft voice which the budding lawyers found could ask the darndest stem-winding questions ever devised in mortal brain; a smile as sweet as a woman's.

At the left of the presiding justice, Mr. Justice M. T. Allen, chosen from our own Superior bench, accounted one of the ablest men who ever graced it, a tall, picturesque gentleman of courtly grace.

It was a trio of whom any community might well be proud.

NOT SO EASY.

It must be confessed, however, that they didn't make much of a hit with a bunch of young law students who came before them, asking permission to hang out their shingles.

The examination the boys got was enough to make their eyes bulge.

The examinations by the Supreme Court have been getting easier and easier every year, considerably to the disgust of the older members of the bar, who claim that it took almost superhuman ingenuity to fail to pass; but the new Court of Appeals holds a different view. What the boys went through yesterday was simply a "corker" of an examination.

Two of the boys yesterday were girls, and two were colored. One of the girls is a stenographer in a lawyer's office; the other just a girl with a "hankering."

When court had convened they were called eight at a time to sit shivering at the long table before the three justices.

The picture of them sitting there will be a great consolation in days to come.

When you are kept for four hours in somebody's outer office, cooling your heels waiting for his augustness to come out, and when you are finally ushered in to be told that, "I do not try my cases in the newspapers; good day!" it will be comforting to think how you saw him fumbling and hemming and hawing, growing red and wiping away the cold sweat, just so far up a stump he couldn't even jump down.

One of the colored men was so frightened he could hardly talk; he kept tearing at his collar as though he were choking to death, and rubbing his cold, trembling palms.

One green country boy had a long, loose coat and kept ducking down into his collar; if the examination had lasted a little longer, he would have ended it under the tables, clinging to the table legs.

A nervy youth snickered when the court asked him a question, and another told Justice Smith coldly that Blackstone was mistaken! To the vast delight of the justice!

The court had asked him what kind of action it would be to bring suit to recover possession of a horse—a real or personal action.

"Personal," said the boy promptly.

The justice looked over his glasses at him kindly and tried to help him with a hint. Finally he read him a definition from Blackstone.

The boy shook his head and blushed.

"Well," he said, "I know that it sounds from that definition as though it were a real action—but (defiantly) I know better."

"Well, stick to it if you think so," said the justice, smiling with amusement.

"I know it sounds funny, but I can't help it," insisted the boy.

The other judges had come out of their reflection, and were all three looking down at the boy—delighted with him.

"Well, Stevens on Pleading says so," the boy said sullenly.

The justices exchanged glances, and Justice Gray said kindly, "That is true; so he does."

He went on to explain with delightful courtesy that the strict technicalities of the law were with Stevens, but of more recent years the common-sense view of the law classes the recovery of a horse in the same character of action as the recovery of real estate.

Another boy, a long, lean one with taffy hair, was so startled when the court suddenly shifted onto international law that he talked in sputters.

He had been answering questions about contracts, saying that those made under duress would not hold.

"What about the agreement of France to pay Germany £5,000,000,000 at the end of the Franco-Prussian War? Wasn't that duress? Was she bound to stand by that agreement?"

The boy simply gaped with astonishment.

"Why," he said "why, she got licked."

And the justices all laughed.

Every boy who fell into Justice Smith's hands yesterday probably had a happy dream last night of meeting Mr. Blackstone, resurrected from the dead, of first caving his face in with a paving stone, and then covering him with tar and feathers and throwing him down a deep well, to be eaten up by snakes.

The boys were turned over to Justice Allen, who gave them a severe examination on the technical points of pleading, less on elemental lines.

Justice Gray, at the last, began at one end of the line and went down to the other; he wanted to know all about the personality of each boy, where he got his education and how he studied law.

A LIFE STORY.

His questions disclosed one interesting life story.

Near the end of the line sat a heavy, square-browed man, his black hair was turning to silver, who seemed tremendously in earnest, pathetically in earnest.

It turned out that in his early days, when he was a boy in England, it had been the ambition of his life to be a lawyer. He obtained employment in a law office, as an engrossing clerk, the job like that of our stenographers. It was so slow in the old country, and the way was so discouraging and long, that he could not stick it out.

He came to America, and now as he is drifting through the narrows beyond middle age, the chance he has longed for all his life has come to him.

GIRLS' FATE.

The two girls got as severe an examination as the men. Their fate still hangs in the balance, so in accordance with their custom, their names are withheld to spare them posible mortification in case they "flunk."

One of the colored men turned out to be a graduate of a law school in Washington, D. C.

One pale-faced young man said he worked in the Title Guarantee and Trust Company and studied law after hours.

"Yes, sir," said the title clerk with nervous apprehension.

And in a minute he was ducking before a shower of questions about titles. He had to tell about life estates, tenants in common, joint tenants, estates for years, estates by courtesy, titles in fee simple and about 800 other, sundry and various sorts and degrees of titles until he had to hang on by the ropes and the other sufferers made ready to run for life.

Attorneys who heard these examinations declare they were the most elemental of any ever given in the city.

One question that floored an entire class was "Trace the history of the action-in-ejectment, stating out of what maner of action it grew."

IN THE FUTURE.

All examinations for the bar in the future will be conducted before the district courts of appeal.

It has not yet been decided when they will occur—probably four times a year. These and other details will be

THE ORPHANS HAVE A TIME.

Sunny Humorist Burnishes His Reputation.

Annual Meet of Los Angeles Orphans' Home.

It may be considered as somewhat remarkable that the managers of the Los Angeles Orphans' Home succeeded in getting a week-day audience that crowded the Broadway Christian Church on the occasion of its annual meeting.

It was held yesterday afternoon, and the programme was as fine as the audience was large. Inspiration was furnished by a couple of hundred children from the home, who, by their presence and by their singing furnished an object lesson on the subject about which older people were talking.

The oratorical attractions were Rev. Robert J. Burdette and Rev. Robert McIntyre, and the two Roberts added luster to their fame. Very few people, for instance, have ever heard Mr. Burdette talk to a bunch of children, but he did it yesterday, and the sheen on his reputation as a humorist is brighter today.

Like many another fellow who has something good to uncork, Mr. Burdette had a convenient toothache yesterday, and after declaring that he did not come to talk to big people, he told the orphans about his toothache. Some of them laughed until the ache was probably transferred to their own childish anatomies.

"I have more aches than I have teeth," said the humorist, "and if I had more teeth I'd have more aches.

"I'm going to take a little bit of a text for little people, by a little bit of a preacher, and I'll talk about little things. Look out for the little things. I never stole a horse in my life—never; I never fell over a three-story house or a hay wagon—never."

Some of the youngsters quickly caught the point, and they laughed outright. One of them got such a tickle that he couldn't stop laughing, and Mr. Burdette was compelled to pause and take a turn at his own funny bone.

Miss Buela Wright of the University of Southern California followed, and through a mere coincidence also told a bear story that was hilariously received.

HE WAS ONE OF THEM.

Dr. Robert McIntyre gave a pathetic touch to the occasion, that deeply moved not only the audience, but himself as well, for it touched directly on his own life.

"I come to talk to and of the orphans," he said. "I did not hear it nor read it—I felt it, for I was one of them.

"I was not only an orphan, but I was in a strange land; an alien without a relative this side 'the pond,' and I was cared for by Christian men and women—a part of this very band that cares for these.

"This is the first time I have ever spoken from the platform on this topic. As I sat here, more than forty years rolled off my shoulders, and I was again in the days of my childhood; because I was one of them, I am there with them now."

Dr. McIntyre made a most eloquent plea for the support of the institution that he declared was doing the greatest possible service to mankind. He declared that when help is extended to the hordes who crowd the offices of preachers and other purveyors of charity, one instinctively knows that in almost every case they have brought misfortune upon themselves, but in the case of these orphans there is an absolute certainty that "every ounce of their misfortune was shoved on them by others."

"The purity of the motives of those who engage in this work," said Dr. McIntyre, "has a match in the purity of those who receive it. I am so glad that this warm-hearted mother-State of California does not hand out her charity through cold hirelings, but through loving Christian men and women."

Taking the old-time drama of the "Two Orphans" as his text, he said: "Thank God I have lived to stand before a country of women who have no time to weep over pretended orphans, but shed their tears over real orphans who are in need of their care."

Mrs. Mayne Stephens, the first president of the society when it was organized twenty-five years ago, spoke briefly of the work that has been accomplished and pointed out instances where boys and girls have gone into honored walks in life from the home.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. B. Woodhead, president of the society, who skillfully directed the programme and herself read an exhaustive report covering the work of the past year. She said in part:

"One year ago we thought that ere this year rolled around we would have been asking aid of the public, but kind friends have come and we have been able to tide over. We shrink from soliciting aid of the individual public. We believe that there are enough people in the city of Los Angeles who are lovers of the orphans to supply all our needs by merely joining our society and paying our annual dues of $2 per year, if they only knew of the good work being done with the limited amount of funds at our disposal.

"At the present time it requires nearly $5000 per year over and above the State aid. For this $5000 we are dependent upon the relatives and friends of the children and the charitable public. Our greatest financial advantage is in the known fact that every dollar donated to this home goes directly to the care and maintenance of the orphans themselves, not one dollar being taken out of any subscription or donation in the way of commissions for soliciting or for the payment of salaried officers of the home."

The following officers were elected to have charge of the affairs of the home for the ensuing year: Board of directors, Mmes. C. B. Woodhead, A. M. Davidson, J. W. Dawson, W. W. Murphy, C. C. Wright, J. S. Chapman, E. R. Threlkeld; board of council, Mmes. A. C. Balch, T. J. Barkley, N. W. Stowell, Oliver Bryant, William Dunn, William Pridham, Jules Kauffman, J. A. Winans, J. H. F. Peck, C. Smith, R. H. Variel, Roger Page, Mayne Stephens, D. J. Frick, E. H. Sanderson, A. Shorten; honorary member, Mrs. Mary Parcels.

There are now more than 300 children in the home, 101 having been admitted and 76 discharged during the past year.

HOW HATFIELD TAMES RAINS.

PROFESSOR LECTURES ON WAY TO BUST DROUGHTS.

Audience Almost Invisible and Afraid of the Queer Pump-handles. Lecturer Flickers Out at the Tail End, Leaving Many Things Unsaid. May Work Next Season.

Prof. Hatfield lectured last night at Simpson's Auditorium on how to make and tame rains.

This ignorant community doesn't seem to care a rap about genius. There was but a hatful of people there.

Hatfield explained how he can take a young unbroken rain, lasso it himself and make it follow him around like a dog, lying down or barking at the word of command.

The lecture was threatened for 8 o'clock. Every few minutes from that on, Prof. Hatfield would peek out through a crack of the door at the aching desolation of orchestra chairs and run back.

Finally a young man came out and announced a number of things that B. Fay Mills intends doing in the sermon line, suddenly remembering with a start, to introduce Prof. Hatfield to the audience.

Hatfield is a pale young man with the air of a startled fawn. He kept one eye on the audience, as though he were looking for signs of hostile demonstrations; the audience was equally uneasy regarding Hatfield.

He took his stand in front of a rack that had a lot of wooden handles hanging down.

The first time he nervously grabbed one of these everybody ducked and reached for their umbrellas. It was supposed that this was a rain machine, and that one handle was for rain, another for hail, one for snow, etc. The one he pulled must have been for frost.

The rack turned out to be a system of charts, each one showing one of his triumphs. He said each one did, anyhow. There were a lot of chalk circles and wavy lines, so it must be so.

His lecture gave out before he got through his list of triumphs. The last three triumphs stumped him utterly. He pulled each one of them down and said "Um," and looked pained and far away. Finally he said he was sorry, but he couldn't think of anything more to say; and everybody went home.

Part of his lecture was dramatic.

He said the first shower he ever did was a little toy shower down on his father's ranch in San Diego county. He found it was too easy for him, so he waited around for droughts.

He said in February, 1904, the business men came around and pleaded with him to get up a rain.

"You know I have seventeen rains to my credit?" said Hatfield with dignity.

"Yes," admitted the miserable grovelling merchants.

Hatfield told them they would have to put up the money for the eighteenth.

The millionaires "they went and done so."

"When February rolled around," said Hatfield, picturesquely, bringing pictures to the mind's eye of a jagged, tipsy old February, "it found me at La Crescenta."

The audience breathed hard down its nose. What did it find Hatfield doing at La Crescenta? He didn't tell. He just let it go at that.

"February second," breathed Hatfield.

"Gee!" panted the excited audience.

"Harrah!" whispered Dr. Chapman.

"What followed?" demanded Hatfield hoarsely.

"Oh my," said the audience in a nervous tension.

"Rain," said Hatfield, breaking the secret. "Results.

"Nothing else don't amount to nothing; just results. Results like what followed each and every experiment I made."

"I was to be rewarded," said Hatfield in a reminescent mood. "That is to say, I was to be compensated; or as you might say—they paid."

"It rained," he said exultantly. "It rained here, while poor old Eureka, 600 miles away, got only .48 of an inch.

"How do I get moisture, you say, when no moisture exists?" asked Hatfield craftily.

He glared around, but nobody knew.

"Ah," said Hatfield, "but the Colorado basin and Arizona gits its showers."

He finally decided, however, that there was no use trying to dodge any credit and accepted the responsibility of making the moisture in the Colorado Basin, too.

Hatfield is waiting for a real dry, musty old drought. The trouble is he can't find anything dry enough for him. If he could just find a place where it never did rain, what he would do to it would be a sin and a shame.

DR. WESTLAKE IS NO MORE.

Death of Man for Whom Park Was Named.

Was the Pioneer of that Far Famed Section.

Amassed Fortune, but Gave Much to Charity.

Dr. Henricus Wallace Westlake, who gave the name to Westlake Park, died yesterday afternoon at his home at No. 817 Burlington avenue.

He was a comparatively young man, and leaves a large fortune. In a quiet way he was a philanthropist, and his death will be widely mourned. He leaves a widow but no children.

Dr. Westlake was born in Canada forty-eight years ago. He had a splendid medical education, being a graduate of McGill Medical College and of the Toronto Medical College. Having completed his work in those institutions he went abroad to study. He entered the best universities in Scotland and in Vienna, taking degrees at both places.

Seventeen years ago he came to California and settled in Los Angeles. The rolling hills to the west of the town attracted him, and he decided to improve some of them. His friends laughed at him, but he insisted that that was the choicest section of the city, and there he built his house. For a long time it was the only residence to be seen in what is now the fashionable Westlake district. There was an unsightly gully down there in those days. In the winter it filled with storm water, which in time became stagnant. That place is now a part of beautiful Westlake Park.

He had lived here only a year, when he married Miss Fannie Farquhar, who was also a native of Canada.

Growing up with the city, he did not lose the financial opportunities as many of the old-timers did. He died leaving many large financial interests. He was president of the California-Cordova Citron Company and of the Westlake Rommel Oil Company. He had also Arizona interests.

About five weeks ago he became seriously ill. Every effort that medical science could make was exerted. An operation was performed by Drs. Bryant & Pahl, but it was hopeless. Yesterday afternoon his life seemed to sink away. He was conscious to the very last, however.

No arrangements have been made as yet for the funeral. His body lies at Bresee Bros., near Broadway and Sixth street.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Union and Confederate Soldiers Will Mingle in Paying Their Tribute to the Honored Dead.

With a fraternal mingling of the blue and the gray, the strewing of flowers over graves of both Union and Confederate soldiers, and the marching in one column of men who fought on opposite sides of the greatest conflict the world ever saw, the coming Memorial Day in Los Angeles gives promise of being a noteworthy occasion.

It is expected that this observance will surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in the West, especially as the feature of fraternity among those who were on the winning side and those who lost is to be given prominence. It is also expected that the various patriotic societies of the city will join in making this one of the largest celebrations ever held in Los Angeles on any Memorial Day.

It has been planned to hold a memorial service on Sunday, the 28th inst., to be attended by all the Grand Army posts and Woman's Relief Corps and Ladies of the G.A.R. circles of the city. This will be held at the Temple Auditorium, and Rev. Robert J. Burdette will be the speaker. A fine programme of patriotic music will be given.

On Memorial Day the forenoon will be devoted by the various posts and other societies in visiting the cemeteries and decorating the graves of comrades. Bartlett-Logan Post will visit Evergreen Cemetery; Stanton Post will go to Rosedale, and Kenesaw Post will be assigned to some of the other cities of the dead.

In the afternoon the various posts will march from their respective halls to Central Park, and thence to Temple Auditorium in one column. At 2:30 memorial exercises will be held there, with Rev. B. Fay Mills as chief speaker, and short addresses by several others. Delegations will go down to the sea to assist in the ceremonies of strewing flowers on the waves in honor of the sleeping sailors.

Indications are that there will be a more general response to the invitations to societies to participate than ever before, and it is probable that an overflow gathering will be provided for at Central Park.

WARNING TO POSTMASTERS.

Small Offices Through This End of State Cautioned to Look Out for Safe Blowers.

Having become convinced, in their investigation of the robbery of the postoffice at San Pedro before daylight, Thursday, that it was the work of semi-professional safe blowers, the postoffice inspectors and secret-service officials who have been working on the case have sent out a general warning in the hope that they will be able to forestall similar crimes in other small cities. This warning has been addressed to postmasters, but it applies also to owners of stores in the smaller towns throughout Southern California and postmasters have been requested to give their neighbors the benefit of it.

It is believed that the men who blew open the San Pedro safe are the same who committed a similar crime in Los Angeles the night before, when a safe in a North Main-street warehouse was demolished with nitro-glycerine. It is seldom that a peace officer has the opportunity that was afforded one of the officers in San Pedro when he saw the men almost in the very act of looting the safe, and it is also seldom that any peace officer does what he did in going for help without getting even a description of the burglars.

Andrew Carnegie has offered to Radcliffe College $75,000 for a library building on condition that an equal sum shall be raised among alumnae and friends of the college for endowment of the library. An effort will be made to meet the requirements of the gift.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

City Engineer Stafford, acting under the direction of the Board of Public Works, has prepared new specifications for "improved" streets which discriminate against the product of the local oil field.

Members of the Council, weary of being pointed out as "easy marks," say they will increase no more salaries until after the first of the next fiscal year—maybe not then.

A sensational divorce application was made by William McClelland in Judge York's court yesterday, but the court made an order that served the purpose of a wet blanket and stopped the threatened eruption of unsavory details.

The difficulty in the Bresee family broke out at a new place yesterday, when Ernest A. Bresee applied to the court for a modification of the divorce decree so far as it affects baby Grace.

"Prof." Fandrey, a Main-street truss doctor, was convicted in the Police Court of being minus a State license.

AT THE CITY HALL.

OIL MEN WILL MAKE PROTEST.

NEW SPECIFICATIONS WOULD BAR LOCAL PRODUCT.

City Engineer Prepares Plans for Street Improvement Which Bar the Use of Petroleum from Los Angeles Wells — Councilmen Say Streets Need Heavy Oil.

Local oil is not heavy enough for use on city streets; the city will no longer provide a market for the product of Los Angeles oil wells.

Acting under the directions of the Board of Public Works, City Engineer Stafford has prepared new sets of specifications for improving streets. Some of the features are:

Two sets of gravel specifications; a light 4-inch coat will be accepted on residence streets; nothing less than an 8-inch coat on business streets.

Fewer gallons of oil to the square yard than that provided in the present specifications, but a heavy body oil, heavier than any produced in the local field, and carrying a higher per cent. of asphalt.

Natural soil, or gravel hereafter will not be considered an improvement to a street, all thoroughfares must be coated with a layer of gravel before they will be accepted by the city as improved streets.

Councilmen show a marked reluctance to discuss the letter of these specifications. They resolved several weeks ago to discontinue the use of local oil. But the oil men made such vigorous and prolonged protests that the legislators have been trying to keep their proposed action a secret until the new specifications were adopted.

Yesterday afternoon, however, a deputy in the Engineer's office forgot his orders and the proposed discrimination against local oil became an open secret.

During the last two weeks Mayor McAleer, City Engineer Stafford and several Councilmen have taken freetrips of inspection over the oiled streets.

The outcome of these trips is the new specifications which will be presented to the Council Monday.

It is expected that the oil men will be on hand to explain some knotty points about street oiling which they claim the councilmen have not yet fully solved.

Over $50,000 was spent by the city last year on oiled streets. A greater part of this was paid direct for oil. This meant increased consumption for a home product and helped to steady a weakening market.

It has been a rule of councils for several years not to accept streets as "improved" unless they are in condition to stand hard service for a number of years. A street is first improved at the expense of the abutting property owners. After it is once accepted by the city, all subsequent improvements must be made by the street department, the money coming out of the general tax fund.

Naturally the more streets improved with "natural soil" or with a thin layer of gravel, the greater the expense to the city for maintenance.

NO MORE RAISES.

ALL NOW FOR ECONOMY.

The consensus of opinion in councilmanic circles now seems to be that it is time to call a halt on salary increases in municipal departments.

Because they granted a number of increases that the former council had promised, the present legislators have come to be regarded as "easy marks" by the placemen.

During the first four months of their terms as councilmen they have granted almost as many increases as their predecessors granted in two years.

SEEKS STOLEN MONEY.

Foreman of San Francisco Grand Jury Comes to Los Angeles to Locate Smith's Funds.

Strong boxes in the safe deposit vaults of the city are to be searched for gold which defaulting Ex-Tax Collector Edward Smith of San Francisco is supposed to have secreted here prior to his flight to St. Louis.

Foreman Andrews of the San Francisco grand jury came down yesterday to conduct the search for missing funds but so far he has not asked the local police to assist him. The Pinkertons also say Andrews has not invoked their aid. After completing his search and placing his information in the hands of the police of this city, it is stated that Andrews will go on to meet the defaulting Tax Collector now en route to San Francisco under arrest, to question him concerning the alleged shortage of $165,000.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE "LINERS."

10 O'clock Saturday Nights.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier; especially Sunday real estate announcements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential in order to get the paper out on time to stop receiving real estate ads. at 10 o'clock Saturday nights.

Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays.

Sunday "Want" ads. will still be received by 'phone and over the counter until 11 p.m. Saturday nights.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

SUED HIS WIFE FOR ALIMONY.

AGED HUSBAND SOUGHT FINANCIAL BALM FOR DIVORCE.

Tried Also to Prosecute Her Father on Charge of Sending Improper Letter and Incidentally Took a Whack at His Own Attorney, but He Got Nothing.

William McClelland is an elderly man who appeared yesterday before Judge York to ask that the decree giving his wife a divorce be vacated, his plea being that snap judgment had been taken on him. The application was opposed, of course, and before the hearing was half through there were enough sensational charges made on both sides to keep the courts going a month.

Mrs. McClelland obtained an interlocutory decree on October 24 last year, and the husband began the present proceeding just four days before the legal time limit. He said he had placed his case in the hands of Earl Rogers, and that his attorney had allowed his wife to take the decree without taking any action. The attorney, however, convinced the court that he had never been retained, and except the writing of certain letters, had taken no action in the matter and had received no fee.

Mrs. McClelland also made an affidavit in which she said that after the divorce had been granted that her erstwhile husband wrote to her and enclosed a lot of memoranda in the shape of a diary. In this he had written a threat that he would seek revenge.

On the witness stand McClelland tried to explain several things which the other side brought up, but he was not very successful. He indirectly charged that the divorce had been secured by use of money and related how his father-in-law had flashed a roll containing $10,000 in his face and told him he would get the divorce in spite of him.

It was also brought out that McClelland had received a letter from his father-in-law which he considered obscene, and placed it in the hands of the postoffice authorities and asked that his father-in-law be prosecuted. That matter is being investigated. Another of his charges was that his wife had requested that she be given a decree in order that she might marry a wealthy young man. All this and more, McClelland related under oath, but he failed to show any good reason why he had not more strenuously contested the divorce case when it was before the court last year, nor did he convince the court that a certain demand for $50,000 made upon his father-in-law because of the divorce, was the "joke" which McClelland said it was. There was nothing to show that McClelland ever intended to contest the divorce suit and Judge York refused to reopen it.

FOUND HER LEVEL.

HUSBAND GETS DECREE.

F. D. King was granted a divorce from Etta King yesterday after making a showing that proved that he had been a long-suffering and patient husband. It was proven that while the couple lived at San Jacinto, the wife developed tendencies which indicated that she was a kleptomaniac or worse, and got into trouble as a result. She made frequent trips from home, but the husband suspected nothing. The end came when she appeared with her father, represented that she was acting under order of court, and stripped their home of all its contents. Then she deserted her husband. She is now reveling in the company of persons of her own class in a wild life at San Pedro. Judge York granted King the decree.

BRESEE CASE AGAIN.

HUSBAND TURNED DOWN.

Mrs. Alma Bresee having obtained her divorce from Ernest A. Bresee, peace prevailed for several months. Now the unpleasantness has broken out in a new place. The little daughter, Grace, is the cause of the quarrel.

The father appeared before Judge York yesterday in support of an application to modify the decree of divorce so far as to permit him to see his baby daughter out of the home of the mother, be allowed to give it driving exercise, and to prohibit the mother from taking the child out of the State and out of the county without giving proper notice.

He filed an affidavit setting forth that the child was not being properly exercised and that she had no playmates. The mother and grandmother came back at him with counter affidavits supported by testimony of a physician. That settled it. The court refused to modify the original decree.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

HALF HOLIDAY. Beginning today the law passed by the last Legislature proclaiming Saturday a half holiday for all county officials will go into effect, or rather, the county officers will take advantage of this law for the first time today.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

TRUSS DOCTOR FOUND GUILTY.

CONVICTED ONCE BEFORE FOR HAVING NO LICENSE.

Made no Defense Other Than an Attempt to Show Value of a Truss Sold a Patient—Bad Picture Man Heavily Fined—Negro Servant Girl Convicted of Theft.

If a $6 truss is sold for $100, it is fair to assume without hearing any more evidence that the best someone is going to have handed to him is the worst of it. At present, in Justice Austin's Police Court, someone looks very much in the dark, as if it might be "Prof." Joseph Fandrey, rupture "specialist," maker of trusses to hold up suffering or supposed-to-be-suffering humanity, and doctor, who does not seem to believe that the modern advertising healer should provide himself with a license from the State board.

"Prof." Fandrey was on trial in the Police Court Thursday afternoon and yesterday morning for practising without a license, and yesterday the "professor" received the painful information that he was guilty, and will be sentenced this morning. The "professor" sold an Irish girl a truss that he said was worth $100, but as she was poor he let her have it for $50; but the truss experts now declare the harness in question is not worth over $6, if that much. If the "professor" had been a sporting man this would be called a bunco, but as he is not, it is just a business transaction as hundreds of citizens put through every week. With the harness went a jar of salve, two small sponges, and a bottle of lotion that looks like weak coffee with mud in it. The doctor, however, was not tried for selling this stuff at a good price, but for selling it without being licensed to.

His only witness yesterday was his "lady attendant" from his shop, who had the nerve to go on the stand and testify that the outfit for the Irish girl was worth $100. It might have been worth that much, but later developments showed she had neither appendicitis nor a rupture, for which the "professor" treated her. Two years ago the defendant was fined $100 for the same kind of offense he was convicted of yesterday. His fine today will probably reduce his profits for months to come.

Wallace W. Weideman, Esq., is making a great fight for the State Board of Medical Examiners against these humbug practitioners.

BAD PICTURE MEN.

GIVEN COSTLY SHOCK.

H. A. Konold and W. C. Powers, two photographers with a shop on North Main street, will not forget their experience yesterday in Justice Chambers's Police Court. They were arrested April 24 on the charge of printing indecent and lewd photos, and have been awaiting trial ever since. Yesterday Konold repented, went into court, withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty, and in view of several mitigating circumstances His Honor said he was inclined to impose a light fine instead of a jail sentence, and accordingly fined Konold only $200! Rich people will shudder to think what the amount might have been if there had been no circumstances. As justice was appeased, the case against Powers was dismissed.

ROSA GUILTY.

THIS WAS DIFFERENT.

Mrs. Rosa Martin, the young colored woman who was charged with stealing a lot of personal property from Mrs. Clara Jennison, several months ago, was convicted in Judge Chambers's Police Court yesterday on the charge of stealing a pin from the Jennison House while working there. She will be sentenced today. Several weeks ago she was tried on a charge of stealing a lunch cloth from the house, and was acquitted. There was still another charge against her of stealing a silk dress, but this was dismissed on her conviction yesterday.

SHACK WAGON MEN.

TO TEST FIRE ORDINANCE.

R. J. Shaefer and N. E. Newell, who represent the canvas tamale-wagon and popcorn business on the street within the limits of the fire district, were arrested yesterday by Patrolman King for violating the ordinance. It is understood they will test its validity. They were released by Judge Chambers, on their own recognizance, and will appear next Wednesday, when arguments on their demurrer will be heard.

[AUTHORIZED ANNOUNCEMENT.]

IT'S IN SANTA MONICA.

Beautiful Serra Heights Tract Lots Will be Sold Today Only, at One-fifth Reduction.

Last Tuesday the Southern California Realty Company placed on the market a tract on Oregon avenue, Santa Monica, known as Serra Heights, and have placed the prices within the reach of all. The result is that they have sold considerable property. They have been selling lots 112x170 at $500 each, on easy terms. This is the same figure that the 50-foot lots are selling for in the immediate neighborhood. Today (Saturday,) however, they will make special inducements, and will give, FOR THIS DAY ONLY, 20 per cent. discount off the above prices. This is positively the last opportunity that people will have to purchase such desirable property in this vicinity at any such prices. Take the Santa Monica cars today, via Sawtelle, and get off at Berkeley street, and buy one of these fine building sites. The property is on the north and clean side of Oregon avenue.

This company also has just placed on the market some five and ten-acre farms, with plenty of running water, on the Playa del Rey electric road. This property will be sold at from $350 to $450 an acre, according to the proximity to the railroad, on very easy terms.

The main office of the company is at 138 Pier avenue, Ocean Park, and their Los Angeles office is at 129 South Broadway, Mason Operahouse Building.

Though the Southern California Realty Company has been organized only since the first of last December, it has made a remarkable record. It is at the present time doing a volume of business that is second to no other company outside Los Angeles.

NINETY-ONE FREAKS.

Amazing Tangle in Streets in Southwestern Part of the City Straightened Out — Wholesale Changes Made in Names and Lines.

"GOOD morning! Have you learned yet what street we are living on today?"

This is the form of salutation for a district comprising two square miles in extent, lying between Jefferson and Fiftieth streets.

There is something wrong with the street names and numbers down there—something that persistently refuses to right itself.

The district comprises the rough outlines of a great right angle triangle of which Jefferson stret is the hypotenuhe and Western avenue and Forty-first street form the other two sides.

Subdivision of the Vernon and University districts commenced fifteen years ago at the east and west city limits respectively and developed slowly toward a common center.

That center has proved to be Figueroa street. There Fortieth street, opened in spots westward from Central avenue, collides with Fiftieth street which comes meandering eastward from the University section. On one side of the street there the house numbers are in the 2900 block; on the other side are the 4900's.

Imagine walking across the street and finding yourself ten blocks from home!

Down in the heart of the district the streets are strangely wrought and twisted. The delivery man who started east on Thirty-ninth street, traveled four blocks straight ahead to find that he was going due west on Thirty-seventh street no longer occasions even a languid interest.

Thirty-ninth street and Fortieth street cross each other almost at right angles three times within less than a mile.

Main street, New Main street and Main Street boulevard, each a separate thoroughfare, are so badly twisted that the map maker in the Engineer's office turned gray over night trying to untwist the twisters.

They initiate green carriers at the postoffice by sending them down there to deliver mail. If the newcomer isn't in Highland at the expiration of ten days Postmaster Flint enrolls him as a member of his political staff.

And it is into this interminable maze that City Engineer Stafford has injected thirten new street names, on the plea that he is straightening out the tangle.

NINETY-TWO CHANGES.

Monday the Council passed an ordinance making ninety-two changes in street names in the locoed district. They did it at the instigation of the Engineer.

He did it—well, for one reason, he isn't a candidate for office and wants to get even with some of the people down there.

When the ordiance was presented in the Council no one protested. Mr. Stafford says that this was because they were satisfied with the changes. But there are others who intimate that it was because those who formerly protested are either insane, dead, dumb, or have moved away.

Mayor McAleer has the ordinance before him for consideration. He has the plan laid out like a map and says he likes to study it; that the exercise is better than jiu jitsu.

Mr. Stafford's plan of renaming the street so as to make the numbers balance on both sides is somewhat unique. He cut out the old numeral names of ten streets between Thirty-fourth and Fiftieth streets west of Figueroa and substituted arbitrary names. The other six streets he named in numerical order. This brought Fiftieth street down to Fortieth street, making the street numerals east and west of Figueroa agree. But to accomplish this he has changed the name of practically every street between Jefferson and Fiftieth streets west of Figueroa street, and most of the names between Jefferson and Fortieth streets west of Figueroa street.

HERE YOU HAVE 'EM.

Athena street: The first thoroughfare south of Jefferson street, extending from Figueroa street to the western city limits; this street was heretofore mostly Portieth street.

University avenue: A thoroughfare immediately south of the new Thirty-fifth street, extending from Grand avenue to the western city limits, except where it is not opened through the university campus, formerly Thirty-sixth and adjacent streets.

Madison street: A thoroughfare immediately south of modern Thirty-ninth street, extending from Wesley to Western avenues; made up chiefly of pieces of old Portieth street.

Morrell street: An old friend under a new name, extending from Vermont to Halldale avenues; its chief ingredients are portions of old Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets.

Harrington street: An extension of what was formerly Forty-ninth street; it connects Normandie and Budlong avenues.

Haven ktreet: A continuation of Forty-first street, west of Main street, between Main and Figueroa street; it was formerly Forty-first street; from Figueroa street west it comprises what was formerly Forty-second street.

Miles street: A compilation of a number of short streets extending, with a few breaks, from Central avenue west to the western city limits, north of the new Forty-first street.

Forty-first street is now the southern boundary of the locoed district; it runs parallel with Washington street almost across the city. It was formerly known as Fiftieth street west of Figueroa street.

Thirty-sixth street from Budlong avenue to Durango street is changed to Athena street; from Vermont avenue to Hough avenue, changed to University avenue; from Wesley avenue to Grand avenue, changed to University avenue; from Del Monte street to Main street, changed to Thirty-fifth street; from Main street to San Pedro street, changed to Thirty-fifth street; from South Park avenue to Griffith avenue, changed to Thirty-fifth street; from Eureka street to Hooper avenue, changed to Forty-first street.

Thirty-seventh street from Budlong avenue to Figueroa street is changed to Thirty-fifth street; from Durango street to Budlong avenue, changed to Thirty-fifth street, from Moneta avenue to to Del Monte street, changed to Jones street; from Main street to San Julian street, changed to Jones street; from Maple avenue to San Julian street, changed to Jones street; from San Pedro street to Hooper avenue, changed to Polk street.

Thirty-eighth street between Grand avenue and Moneta avenue is changed to Thirty-sixth street; between Figueroa street and Grand avenue, changed to Thirty-sixth street; between Grand avenue and Moneta avenue, changed to Thirty-sixth street; between Main street and Maple avenue, changed to Thirty-sixth street; between San Pedro and Alameda streets, changed to Forty-second street; between Durango and Figueroa, changed to Simpson street.

Thirty-ninth street, all the way from Santa Monica avenue to Western avenue loses its identity by being merged into Thirty-sixth street; from Figueroa street to Widnes street it is changed to Thirty-eighth street; from Moneta avenue to Del Monte street it again becomes Thirty-eighth street; from Eureka street to the east line of Oakley's Central avenue tract, changed to Miles street; from Compton avenue to its easterly terminus it is to be Forty-third street.

Fortieth street from Western avenue to Wesley avenue is to be dignided by the title of Madison street; between Figueroa street and Moneta avenue it is to be known as Thirty-ninth street; from Figueroa street to San Pedro street, unopened, it is changed to Forty-first street; from Figueroa street all the way to the western city boundary it is to assume the historic name of Polk street; from San Pedro street to the east line of the Marlborough place, changed to Forty-third street; from South Park avenue to the east line of Oakley's Central avenue tract, changed to Forty-third street; from Compton avenue easterly to its eastern terminus and westerly to the Dorsey tract, changed to Bartol street.

Forty-first street from Santa Monica avenue to Western avenue moves four blocks nearer the center of the city, numerically, by becoming Thirty-seventh street; all the way from Main street to the western city boundary its name is changed to Haven street; from San Pedro street to the east line of Oakley's Central avenue tract, changed to Bartol street; from Compton avenue east to its easterly terminus and west to the Dorsey tract it jumps out three blocks and becomes Forty-fourth street.

Forty-second street between Vermont avenue and the west line of Gregory's subdivision is to be known by the name of Dodge street; from Vermont avenue southeast through undivided property the record name is changed to Dodge street, which, when the tracts are subdivided will become quite a pretentious thoroughfare; from Compton avenue westerly in the Dorsey tract, changed to Marshall street; between Main street and Central avenue it becomes Forty-fourth street; from Central avenue easterly to the east line of Hanson's subdivision, changed to Elmore street.

Forty-third street from Vermont avenue easterly is to become Dart street; this comprises only a small section of what is generally known as Forty-third street; from Moneta avenue to the western city boundary the name of Forty-third street is changed to Miles street; from San Pedro street to Central avenue, changed to Marshall street.

Forty-fifth street from Budlong avenue to the east line of the Normandie avenue tract is re-named Etna street; from Compton avenue to the western boundary line of the city the street becomes Ensenada.

Forty-ninth street from Denker avenue to Western avenue is now to be known as Portieth street; from Vermont avenue to Normandie avenue its name is changed to Harrington street.

Colfax street loses its identity by being merged into Athena street.

Confidence street from Main street west now forms a connecting link in Portieth street, and all confidence is lost, at least in name.

Austin street from Jefferson to Eureka street changes is name to Thirty-sixth street; from South Park avenue to Griffith avenue it again becomes Thirty-sixth street.

CHAMPIONSHIP DEBATE.

Judges Give Long Beach Speakers Decision Over San Fernando High School.

The second annual championship debate of the Southern California High School Debating League took place last night at the State Normal School before a large audience. The contestants were representatives of the Long Beach High School and the San Fernando High School. Long Beach won the decision of the Judges by seventy-five points, as against twenty-five for San Fernando.

The subject was: "Resolved, that England should adopt a protective tariff," and the speakers were Max Church and Marjorie Curts of Long Beach for the affirmative; and Estelle Porter and Riger Dutton of San Fernando for the negative. The presiding officer was Clayton Shipway of Covina, president of the League. The judges were Dr. Hugh K. Walker, C. T. Wright of Redlands, and Dr. George S. Sumner.

As a trophy of the victory a beautifully-designed silver cup was presented to the winning school by the associated students of Stanford University.

The League is composed of the High Schools of Anaheim, Compton, Covina, Downey, Hollywood, Pasadena, Pomona, Whittier, Santa Ana, San Fernando, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Monrovia, Throop Polytechnic; Los Angeles High School and Polytechnic High School. All of these places were represented in the audience gathered last night to hear the debate.

HIS DEBUT SUCCESSFUL.

Owen Moran Defeats Danny Dougherty Easily.

Is Hissed Frequently Because of Rough Tactics.

Honors for Looloos—Regular Games Transferred.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owen Moran, champion bantam weight of England, made his first appearance in this country, and defeated Danny Dougherty of this city at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club. Moran, except in one respect, made a hit with the crowd. He is a cool, clever and hard hitter with both hands. In this he failed to please the crowd and his rough tactics.

He is the most ever seen in the ring here and has been hissed so frequently as was used for roughness. Time after time he used his elbow on Dougherty's neck, and frequently he tried to smother him with the heel of his glove.

After the last round, Moran was disqualified by Referee Hyland, who declared he would stop the bout if Moran continued his rough work. In the second round, Moran lost his head after having Dougherty through the ropes, and threatened to strike the man who tried to prevent Danny from falling to the stage.

Moran's favorite blows were a left hook, which he landed hard in every round in Danny's face, and right swings to the arguments. He made nearly every one of his blows and leads count, and Dougherty was very tired at the finish. During the first round, which was fought even, and the fourth when Dougherty showed Moran hard, the Englishman had the advantage of every round. In the second round, Moran knocked Dougherty down three times with right-hand swings on the jaw.

JIM JEFFRIES'S HOME COMING.

WILL QUIT THE RING AND DEVELOP MINING CLAIMS.

Brothers and Mother of the World's Champion Rejoice Over His Decision to Retire from Pugilistic Arena and Return to Old Home to Live—Will Erect Residence.

Within the next two weeks, Jim Jeffries, champion pugilist of the world, will return to Los Angeles with his family, to settle down as a permanent resident.

Jeffries announced his intention of doing so when "the fighting business" no longer appealed to him, as one of his brothers termed it, and it is probable he will take an active interest in the development of mining claims in which the brothers are jointly interested in Arizona.

Jeffries and his wife are now in Chicago, where they will remain until the latter part of the month, when they will come to the Pacific Coast. They will stay in San Francisco a few days, and will then journey to the old homestead, which is on the East Side, where they will make their home for the present.

Mr. Jeffries is now out on the mining property near Quartzsite, Ariz., with a gang of men, sinking shafts, and is confident they have a valuable property there. Jack quit the fighting ring a year ago, and took up the study of chemistry and mining, with the idea of fitting himself for assayer's work. It is said he gained much knowledge in this line during the year, and this he will put to practical use at the Quartzsite property. He will remain there several months, until test ore can be taken out of the various veins, and will then go back to Los Angeles for further study. It is expected that the champion will go out with the party to the mines.

Jeffries's brothers and mother are delighted over the announcement of his intention to withdraw from the fighting game. They have urged this on him for some time past, and declare that Jim has held the championship belt long enough, and all claimants he can now retire with honor.

Jim Jeffries is in Australia, where he has been for the past five months touring tour. The mother of the champion is at the old home place, and the coming of "Jim" is to her a source of much pleasure. But, best of all is the thought that he has decided to settle down and make his home between Los Angeles and Oakland.

Jeffries property consists of a number of several acres in the valley between the hills to the west of Daywood and aligning Huron street. The boys, infected with the mining fever here, are having the property surveyed, and it is said that Jim Jeffries will erect a handsome residence for his own home on the "punch," which lies to the north of the old family place.

Jeffries, who is looking after the details at the home place, said today about the retirement of the pugilistic field. "We have believed this talk of Jim quitting the saloon business," said he, "and had plenty of chances to believe it, costing him a cent, if we wanted to, but Jim will go something different from that.

We had advised him to quit the game and have urged it for the past year, and, of course, it is pleasing to know that he has made up his mind to retire.

And you can count on that, for Jim is true to what he says, and he has agreed to retire and live on the ranch."

ELEVEN AND GRAY SCORE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—In a baseball game, Los Angeles today defeated the team from Oakland, the score being 11 to 1. No runs were made by Oakland during the game, when Flood scored on a pass and a hit by Dillon. In the next inning Oakland tied the score, making a run on two hits. In the ninth, Gray opened with a two-bagger, was sacrificed to third and scored on a bad throw by Byrnes, who endeavored to head off a man at second. Oakland made two hits in the last inning, but a fast double play retired the side. Score:

GIRLS' BATTLE, VICTORY HERE.

LONG BEACH BASKETBALL NOT ENOUGH FOR U.S.C.

Rough, Exciting and Closely-contested Game Results in Score of Fourteen to Ten for Team That Hasn't Been Defeated This Season. One Black Eye.

More than 500 persons packed on the basketball court at the University of Southern California watched with eager interest yesterday afternoon, a well played and closely-contested game between the Long Beach High School girls and the victorious U.S.C. quintette, which has defeated all opponents this year.

The game resulted 14 to 10 in favor of U.S.C., but the victory was not a certainty until the whistle had sounded for the close of the second half.

All previous contests of the season have seemed to lend to the battle fought yesterday to a conclusion that was a surprise to many who have followed the game this year. It was known that Long Beach has one of the best teams in the Woman's Basketball League and a doubt was expressed as to the ability of the U.S.C. girls, who are playing their second season, to stand against such an experienced five.

With the opening of the first half the players got into immediate action and the team work of both sides was a revelation. The excellent work of the Long Beach guards began to be a serious factor with which the Methodists were obliged to cope. Time and again a splendid chance for a field throw was foiled by the skillful guardian of the beach town girls, who were always in the game.

No team, however, has this year been able to overcome the splendid team work of the Methodists, who, contrary to the tactics of other players, use every member of their team. The forwards, Mabel Payton and Ethel Hogan, in spite of the defensive work of the opposing players, scored three field goals and assured victory for their team. Their playing was so fast that twice during the game a free throw for the basket was offered without the skillful resistance of the Long Beach guards, who were left behind in the race.

The big delegation from Long Beach now lining the bleachers with a pretty array of color was surprised at the result of the first half, which closed 9 to 6 in favor of the Methodists.

The second half was most spectacular. Both teams went in to win, and in the enthusiasm and excitement which became a part of the fight several of the players received severe bumps. Miss Payton, crack U.S.C. forward, sustained an injury to one of her eyes, the elbow of an opposing player being thrust with great force fairly on the eyeball, giving the young lady a black eye.

Though everybody was anxious to impress upon everybody else that the best of feeling prevailed, to the spectators on the sidelines the game seemed to be one of the roughest played by the women this season.

Several basketball experts who have a thorough knowledge of the game were present and expressed the opinion that Long Beach lost the game because of inability to keep players together for systematic team work, and also because of a peculiar play whereby the guards ignore the center and throw the ball across the court to the forwards, who are unable to profit to advantage because of the proximity of the opposing guards when the ball is received.

The game was played in halves of fifteen minutes. The officials were: Miss Rust, Marlborough, and Oliver Best, U.S.C., umpires; Miss G. A. Caswell, Marlborough, referee; C. L. Lowman, Girls' Collegiate School, scorekeeper.

TOURNEY AT SACRAMENO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—Trapshooters from various parts of the State are in this city today in attendance upon the eighth annual shooting tournament given by Kimball & Upson at their grounds at old Agricultural Park today.

Heretofore these events have been confined to entries from Northern California, but this year the tournament is given broader scope, being made a State affair, and in consequence there is a very large attendance of sportsmen. The tournament lasts three days, and several championships are to be decided.

BIG BREWERS HELP ANTI'S.

Eastern Beer Makers in a Strange Alliance.

Charged With Giving Aid to No-saloon Movement.

May be Scheme to Strangle Local Competition.

It is a trite saying that there are tricks in all trades, and yesterday emphasis was given to the fact that the brewery business is no exception. Local beer makers yesterday discovered to their amazement and chagrin that they have become the intended victims of a neat little political game which has for its object the destruction of their business. Strange as it may seem, there is reason to believe, so the local brewers say, that the big breweries of the Middle West have joined the forces of the Anti-Saloon League and are lending what moral support they can to the present effort to close the Los Angeles saloons.

At first blush such a story would seem to be beyond the bounds of reason. That brewers anywhere should assist in such a campaign would appear to be almost incredible, but the Los Angeles brewers have what they consider convincing argument that their suspicions may be based upon fact. For hours yesterday, representatives of the three Los Angeles breweries devoted all their energies to an effort to learn the truth about the matter. They started out with the belief that their suspicion was true and the more they worked the more firmly convinced they became that they were confronted by a new and serious danger.

"We would like to know just where Milwaukee and St. Louis stand in this fight," said one of them yesterday afternoon. "The interests of the Middle Western brewers are all with the anti-saloon crowd. At present local men control the beer trade, and eastern representatives have fruitlessly endeavored to break into the bulk-beer business.

"Now if the people decide for no saloons, the bottled-beer trade in restaurants, groceries, clubs, hotels and wholesale houses that do a family trade will grow enormously. The bulk-beer sales will go to smash, and we will be hard hit, while the easterners will lose scarcely anything.

"Then when Los Angeles gets tired of a regime of 'blind pigs,' we will be crippled and they will be strong, and they will get 50 per cent. or more of the business."

The Los Angeles representatives of the big eastern breweries, of course, know nothing about any such attitude on the part of their companies, and they strenuously deny that any kind of an alliance between the Anti-Saloon League and their breweries could be possible, but this denial does not convince the local brewers, who, their reputations to the contrary notwithstanding, are about as poor a lot of politicians as could be found. Collectively, they know practically nothing of the game of politics, and they realize that weakness, but in this matter they think they have hit upon something tangible, and what makes them feel it all the more keenly is the fact that no matter what they do, they cannot change existing conditions if it be true that those in their own line of business have gone over to their enemies.

MAKING VIGOROUS FIGHT.

Anti-saloon Forces Losing no Opportunities to Make Votes for Their Cause.

The members of the Anti-Saloon League and kindred organizations have begun carrying their "campaign of education" into all parts of the city and throughout next week they will do active work. Last night a meeting was held at Epworth M. E. church on Bellevue avenue at which Nathan Newby Esq., was the speaker. There will be no meetings today

Tomorrow afternoon two mass meetings will be held. One will be at the First Methodist Church, for women, at which a strong bone protection organization will be formed. Mrs. Eliza Tupper Wilkes will be in charge of the work of that society. The meeting for men will be held in the Temple Auditorium. Leonard Merrill will preside and addresses will be delivered by Dana Bartlett, J. M. C. Marble, John D. Works and other men of prominence.

Sunday evening no-saloon services will be held in almost every church in the city. In the Boyle Heights district the various congregations will unite in a union service at the Boyle Heights M. E. church.

PITY POOR "BABY."

"Don't Tell Your Name if They Kill You For it," Says the Disgraced Mother.

"Don't tell your name if they kill you for it," wailed a woman, who said she is Cora Davis, to a bright-eyed, flaxen-haired daughter of 5 years in the Police Station last night.

"The world may know my shame, but that child's life shall not be blighted," sobbed the mother, as she was led away to jail.

Time was when Cora Davis, who is still a handsome woman with a wealth of blonde hair, bore the proud name of wife, and her reputation was untarnished. She came of good parentage and married a man highly respected in social and business life in Los Angeles. Three years ago her husband died, leaving her a fair competence and a bright child, in addition to a large circle of loyal friends.

But the devil got into the widow's very being ere the husband's remains had lain in Evergreen Cemetery a month, and fortune and friends went to the four winds. Only the child remained, and all that was good in the woman's nature was lavished in affection upon the tender flower that bound her to the past.

Last night Cora Davis was arrested in an Alliso-street house. The charitable charge of vagrancy was made against her, and in default of $100 bail she was locked up and the child was placed in charge of the matron.

At the parting of the ways the woman wept hysterically, appealing piteously to be allowed to keep the child. Then, when she was denied the privilege, like an enraged tigress she sprang to the side of her offspring and admonished the open-eyed, innocent child to die before telling her name.

"It's Baby, only Baby; that's what mamma calls me and it's the only name I have," and the blue eyes smiled defiantly up into the face of the big policeman who questioned her.

"Yes, baby; that's the only name she has. Now I am ready for the jail," said the mother, as she passed within the steel doors.

arranged when the court finds permanent quarters.

For the present the Supreme Court quarters, now occupied but four weeks a year, will be used.

The personnel of the new court is of unique interest.

He is an old Harvard man, having received his legal education at the Harvard law school and at Iowa College. Coming to California, he was on the bench in Tulare county for eight years from which he was selected by the Supreme Court to be one of the court's commissioners. He was on that commission from 1899 until the establishment of this court, when the commission was abolished.

Col. George A. Smith was also appointed to the District Court of Appeals from the Supreme Court Commission. He is one of the pioneer lawyers of Los Angeles and a man of the highest scholarship and learning. He used to be of the law firm of Smith, Winder & Smith. At the time of his appointment as Supreme Court Commissioner to succeed Mr. Britt he was senior member of the firm of Smith, McNutt & Hannon.

Justice Allen's splendid career in this community, since he came here from Ohio in 1886, is well known.

Justice Allen has taken his old court clerk, W. D. Shearer, with him as clerk of the new court. Shearer made a fine record in the Superior Court, both by his courtesy and efficiency. Much of the system of the new court is for him to arrange.

His assistant is Harry C. Lillie. W. H. Morris, an attorney formerly on the bench in Nebraska, is bailiff. He bears a startling resemblance to McKinley. J. H. Crumrine, formerly stenographer for the police detectives, has been appointed stenographer of the Court of Appeals.

LIGHTS CHEAPER IN SAN DIEGO.

LOWER RATES FOR THE STREET ARCS AND GAS.

Latter is Reduced from a Dollar Fifty to a Dollar Twenty-five Per Thousand Feet—Death of Man Who Walked Alone Across the Plains.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, May 12.—The bid of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company for the municipal lighting, 200 arc lights, shows a marked lowering of rates from last year, when the rate per light per month was $8.87½. This year the prices call for light for $8.50 per lamp per month. Prices are also given for two, three, four and five years, the rate being lower the greater number of years being named in the contract. In the five-year contract the difference per light would be $22.50.

The company also announces a reduction to consumers of gas of from $1.50 to $1.25 per 1000 feet.

WALKED ACROSS PLAINS.

News has been received of the death at Oak Farm, Trinity county, Cal., of Christopher C. Patterson, formerly of Jamacha, this county. In 1850, Mr. Patterson made the journey from Illinois to California on foot. He started with a party of friends, but their progress was too slow for him, and he set out alone. He was so fortunate as to evade the Indians, although he sighted several bands. He arrived several days ahead of his companions.

BAY TOWN DRIFT.

Division Roadmaster Hall of the Santa Fé is in the city to oversee the replacing of the light-weight rails of the system between Ash and Twenty-third streets, with heavier rails, the new rails weighing about sixty-eight pounds to the yard.

The third in the series of Chamber of Commerce excursions was made yesterday to the Upper and Lower Otay reservoirs, the trip being made by 125 men in tallyhos and carriages. The excursionists report the reservoirs nearly filled with water and that the intervening country is at its best. The grain crop promises unusually well.

A farewell banquet was given last evening to E. A. Merwin, physical instructor of the Y.M.C.A., who is to leave Monday for San José to assume a similar position. During his residence in the city Mr. Merwin has acted as second lieutenant of Co. B, Seventh Regiment, N.G.C.

A warrant is out for the arrest of Harry Lord for a murderous assault on Leon Cesmit, a fellow-truckman in the employ of the Pioneer Truck Company.

While pitching in a practice game of baseball the other day, Ed Halloran, of the senior class at the Russ High School, fractured his arm near the shoulder.

CHOATE AND THE EQUITABLE.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, April 26.—It can be stated that the Hon. Joseph H. Choate soon will be available for consultation purposes as to the legal standing of the policy holders in the Equitable Life Assurance Society. When I saw him a few days ago Mr. Choate declined to discuss the matter, for diplomatic reasons, but I am able to state that while no definite understanding has been reached the matter will be considered by all parties interested as soon as Mr. Choate returns to the United States.

He is booked to leave England on May 13, which is the date of his recall. He states that he will never return to the active work of his profession, nor has he any idea of forming a new legal firm because of his age. He is now 73 and has decided to withdraw into privacy as much as he can and still have something to engage his attention. His future legal occupation, therefore, will be only as advisory counsel in specially selected instances.

Mr. Choate will spend this summer at his country residence at Stockbridge, Mass. He has made no plans whatever for his place of abode next winter or the extent to which he will accept professional engagements. The fact that Mr. Choate leaves on May 13 and his successor, Mr. Reid, arrives on April 28, disposes entirely of the story, published in New York, that Mr. Choate would take revenge upon Mr. Reid for the latter's reputed act in delaying the confirmation of Mr. Choate's appointment as Ambassador to England, by not retiring from his post here without pressure. This, however, Mr. Choate emphatically denies and it is pointed out that the formal transfer of an embassy is not a political measure so much as one of courtesy and custom.

Pen Points

It will be noticed that in his latest utterances, Mr. Rockefeller still insists in calling it "his" money.

Whenever the Kaiser opens his mouth he says something, and also scares Europe out of a week's sleep.

The universe must be getting rather big and unwieldy when England acknowledges that she can't control it herself, without anybody's help.

The world will laugh with you, provided it is not the world you are laughing at. In a case of that kind, you are more likely to get a punch in the face.

The President has gone back to work. After what he said to those Chicago strikers they probably wish they could do the same thing, and let it go at that.

The promoters of these new balloon companies claim they will not water their stock. There is a suspicion, however, that a great deal of it will be inflated.

This new idea of getting an option on a wife won't help matters much. That's about all that marriage amounts to now in altogether too many instances.

After the doctors had performed thirteen operations on a patient up north, the poor fellow died. And still some people will say that thirteen is not an unlucky number.

In making the proposition that the United States and England get together and control the universe, Lord Beresford clearly shows a desire to oust the Standard Oil Company.

The United States Census Bureau seems to have a grudge against San Francisco. It says that the population of that town is now only 364,677, including 'Gene Schmitz and Abe Reuf.

Mr. Rockefeller says he will continue to give money to any cause that appeals to him. But he adds he will do it "in his own way." It would be much quicker and more satisfactory, however, if he would do it in some other way.

As a cable sender Emperor William is a peace maker that the dove itself might love, but as a speech maker he can create more uneasiness with seventeen words of the German language than any other man that wears a brass helmet.

Lord Charles Beresford advocates a coalition between the United States and Great Britain for the purpose of "controlling the universe." No, thank you, Your Lordship, the United States hasn't any hankering after that kind of a job.

A Count named Czaykowski has been arrested for false pretenses in Paris. Doubtless the charge was founded on the fact that when he spelled his name it didn't spell anything that anyone could pronounce.

It is a notorious fact that very few tavern-keepers' sons ever became drunkards. They could drink if they wanted to, but didn't want to, just because they could. There may be a philosophy in this that can be applied to the present situation.

President Roosevelt has settled the Chicago strike, and he didn't have to appoint any commission for that purpose, either. He just said a few words that put the fear of God in the breast of every thug and walking delegate that heard them.

It has been vaguely understood for some time past that the German Emperor meant to come to blows with Uncle Sam sooner or later. Now, it seems, it is his intention to tackle the Jap. Well, let him go up against the brown man first and get a reputation. After that we'll consider his proposition, in case he should be in a condition to make one.

The Postoffice Department at Washington, some time ago, took a lot of the names of California towns and attempted to run them together like the colors in a piece of cheap calico after the first washing. But we wouldn't stand for it, and if the government hadn't backed down we wouldn't have bought any of its measly old postage stamps any more.

Notice is respectfully served on those Salt Lake visitors that in making love to Los Angeles they must not propose marriage. They can come down here on a visit and sit on our front porch any time they want to do so, but they must either hold to the town they have or get a divorce. The plural idea won't work here. They can't have us and have Salt Lake, too.

It is easy enough to understand the Kaiser's aspirations by simply following his train of thought as the words of his mouth elucidate the same. He has an army and navy that, in his estimation, is the most perfect slaughter combination that was ever screwed together. He is aching for a chance to try it on somebody, and, if he can't try it on anybody else, he proposes to try it on the Jap. Hoch der Kaiser! Hail the age of blood and butchery.

BUSINESS.

Stocks made a great show of strength today, and the demand expanded sufficiently to almost double the volume of transactions over that of several previous days. Money continued extremely easy. The market's closing was dull and heavy.

IN RE STRIKE-BREAKERS.

The visit of the President to Chicago, and his earnest words in behalf of law and order, seem to have stiffened the backbone of Mayor Dunne in some appreciable degree. A joint committee waited upon him, on Thursday, with a request that he revoke the order permitting policemen to ride on wagons operated by non-union crews. The committee represented the Chicago Federation of Labor, the United Garment Workers of America, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the Printing Trades Council, the Building Material Trades Council, and the Associated Building Trades Council. This was indeed a formidable array of union labor "influence." Of course, the only right and safe course for Mayor Dunne to pursue, under the circumstances, was to turn down the request. He might have haggled and halted and split hairs over the proposition, but he did nothing of the sort, to his credit be it said. He informed the committee in a straightforword, definite manner, that he had issued the order for the police to ride on the wagons, and that he meant to stand by it.

Let us give the Mayor of Chicago his due. He did right in issuing this order, in the first place; he did right in standing by the order, in the second place.

In urging their request, the committee contended that the policemen, when allowed to ride on the wagons, were used as "strike-breakers" instead of as guardians of the peace. The inequity of this contention is plain to any person who has the capacity to think with reasonable clearness. Of course the policemen are "strike-breakers," in whatever capacity they are employed for the preservation of the peace. Inasmuch as the strike has its sole foundation upon lawlessness and violence, every person who assists in the maintenance of order is a strike-breaker. The Mayor himself, in so far as he performs his sworn duty to uphold the law, is a strike-breaker. The entire community of peaceful, law-abiding citizens are strike-breakers. The courts, so far as they perform their proper functions in the enforcement of law and the punishment of violators thereof, are strike-breakers. If the State militia should be sent to Chicago to preserve the peace, every man of them would be a strike-breaker, including the Governor, by whose order they would be sent. If it should become necessary to send United States troops to Chicago, the President, by whose order they would be sent, and every man-jack of the regulars sent out, would be strike-breakers. In fact, no agency that makes for peace and justice and good order, can fail to exert an influence toward the breaking of this lawless and indefensible strike.

It is because these rioting strikers are engaged in acts which are forbidden by the laws of the land that they are afraid of the presence of troops, of police officers, and of all representatives of the law. They are industrial bandits, and they stand opposed to the laws, as do other bandits whom it is the duty of the law's representatives to seek out and punish.

AMERICAN CONSULS.

The Times recently called attention, as it has frequently done, to the necessity of reform in the consular service. The commercial interests of this country have grown so immense that we should not any longer tolerate the haphazard system of former days, when a consulate was regarded as a proper reward for political services and—if sufficiently far away—a good place to dump a persistent and annoying applicant for patronage. In consequence of this, Americans are often surprised, shocked and disgusted to find, occupying positions as representatives of the United States of North America in out of the way places, men who are impossible from the ordinary point of view, and who would not be tolerated for twenty-four hours in any responsible position at home. Such people as these often cause traveling Americans to blush with shame, and bring the name of the United States into discredit. On the other hand there are, among the ranks of American consuls, first-class men who realize the responsibility of their position, not only guarding American interests, but sending home interesting and valuable reports, containing suggestions that often result in largely increasing the exportation of American products.

On the same day that the editorial in The Times above referred to was printed, there appeared in the telegraph columns a dispatch from Boston, stating that Poultney Bigelow, now a newspaper correspondent, had created a sensation there by his startling charges regarding the United States consular service in China, South Africa and South America. Mr. Bigelow also announced the important-if-true information "that the United States is on the verge of war with another nation." However, that is another story. These statements were made before the Boston University students and faculty, in an address which was one of a series by Bigelow on "National Expansion."

In the course of his address he is quoted as saying:

"When I was in China in 1876, not one of our consuls at Shanghai was fit to associate with decent Americans. Col. Goodnow at Shanghai introduced the methods of Ames of Minneapolis, where he had been a garbage collector. When I was in South Africa, in 1896, there was not an American Consul there who was ever known to be sober."

Surely, this is an exaggeration. At least, let us hope so. Such generalities as this often do injustice to decent men. Mr. Bigelow came into notoriety through having been a college mate of "Emperor Bill" at Bonn, on the Rhine. The Emperor took quite a liking to young Bigelow, and he was high in favor in court circles, until, with Yankee thrift, he undertook to make this favor a financial asset, by accepting the agency for an American life insurance company, after which we are told the atmosphere of the imperial palace was somewhat chilly, when Poultney came down the pike.

All the same, there is, as The Times has said, a crying need for a thorough overhauling of the American consular service, and of its reorganization on a practical basis. A man, to obtain a consular position, should have to go through training at an institution provided for the purpose, just as does a candidate for admission to the army or navy, taking up, first, general studies, and then special studies relating to the profession, including a study of at least two foreign languages, and a consul should never be detailed for service in a country in whose language he is not competent. After admission, there should be no removal of a consul, except for cause, and promotion should be according to merit, without fear or favor. Such a profession would offer great attractions to ambitious and intelligent young Americans, and the establishment of such a system would be of immense value to American manufacturers. It would also tend to greatly increase the respect of other nations for the United States as an up-to-date world power, and would remove many flies from the ointment of traveling Americans.

Value of the Philippines.

Our supposed enemy need not cross the Pacific to close our Pacific ports. To keep them open, our Pacific squadron must go to Asia, where the enemy's fleet would be, and where, be it noted, every one of our possible antagonists has interests the destruction of which would alone be almost sufficient to end a war in our favor. Granting, then, that we must carry our naval war into Asiatic waters, as a defensive measure, though by offensive action, the value of the Philippines as a base is not open to argument. Dewey's plight when Hongkong was closed to him is sufficient evidence in point. From the Philippines as a base we could make, if only a diversion, such a diversion as would enormously embarrass the enemy by dividing his forces. One other supposable case is that of war with Japan. In that highly improbable event, our Pacific fleet could be reënforced by a large part of the Atlantic fleet, and the war waged on equal terms—but with this huge difference in our favor—that our Pacific ports would be 4000 miles from Japan's fleet, while all her commerce would be only 1000 miles from ours.—[Boston Transcript.

The Dog in Law.

A jury in Seattle has decided that a dog has a right to bite a man in self-defense. This is an interesting verdict. It appears that a dog bit a piece out of a man's leg, and the victim sued the owner of the dog for $10,000. The defense was that the dog would never have bitten the man if he had not been provoked to do so, and that as he was provoked to do so, the dog was standing quite within his rights in biting the man. The defense was upheld, and dog and owner alike ought to be happy. Many other cases of a similar nature have been brought before, but this case is said to be the first time that the jury has taken this point of view.—[Portland Telegram.

Improving an Old Phrase.

An English instructor in a rather comprehensive talk to the wise young women referred to the period that extends "from the cradle to the grave." Then he stopped abruptly. "No," he went on, "that is an obsolete phrase. There are no more cradles and soon there will be no more graves. The modern form should be 'from the bassinet to the crematory.'"—[New York Sun.

John Bull's Changes.

The influence of the old, staid Victorian middle class is passing away. The present generation has no such care for propriety or for self-restraint. Life has grown richer, more full of color, less correctly insular. We may not be worse than our fathers, but we are less reserved. What will it profit John Bull if he increases to be a hypocrite only to become a brute? There lies the danger.—[London Monthly Review.

A Simple Solution.

"Give you a nickel?" said Miss De Style. "Oh, no. I never dispense promiscuous alms. Why do you not obtain employment?"

"Please, mum," was the timid reply, "I have a small baby and people won't be bothered by a woman with a child."

"Then, you absurd creature, why not leave the child at home with its nurse?"—[Philadelphia Bulletin.

Two Kinds of Land.

"This," said the man who was showing the stranger around the city, as he pointed to a broad stretch of beach, "belongs to old Bigspud. It's all made land. That's his house, back there on the left."

"Is that on made land, too?" asked the stranger.

"No; that's on married land. He got it with his wife."—[Chicago Tribune.

RARE MINERALS, MINES AND METALLURGY.

POPULAR QUERIES AND EXPERT ANSWERS.

[Answers to legitimate questions in mineralogy, metallurgy, chemistry or mining will be given here, but only when of interest to the mining or commercial world. Personal questions, from curio dealers and mineral collectors, on ores, minerals, earths or metals of non-commercial value, and assays for metal, will not be answered, but should be written direct to analysts and assayers. Address The Times.]

Leading Questions.

MURRIETTA (Cal.) April 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you please tell me something of the mineral specimens I send you by this mail, with name on box. Is the silky-looking rock asbestos? It is from the same ledge as the samples and blue-streaked crystals. What is it, and does it contain mineral (it looks like it) if so, what? What is the many-colored rock? Is the flinty, slate colored rock porphyry? There is much mineral of some sort in plain sight in it; what is it? Is tin or silver ever found in that kind of rock? We read that at one of the new Nevada camps there is porphyry rock "fairly shot" with gold. Is there any kind of test for any minerals —short of sending each particular specimen to an assayer—available for greenhorns? No doubt there are many deposits of various kinds of minerals, undeveloped just because no one has seen them who is familiar with that particular kind or form. Nearly every one knows free gold when he sees it, but only those of experience know what tin, copper, or silver ore, in the rough, look like or what kind of rock they are likely to be in. Could you give time and space in The Times to some more descriptive articles? Those you have already given were very interesting. Any instruction on minerals would find many interested readers, and I would be very much obliged for answers to my questions, and names for specimens.

Yours respectfully,
F. G.

ANSWER: The above contribution is taken from a lengthy letter. Replying seriatim to the questions, knowledge of and on the mineral specimens submitted is asked for. The silky looking rock is not asbestos, i. e., of the chrysotile variety (the most valuable kind,) nor is it asbestos of the amphibole species; but it is a variety of pyrophyllite. "Not observed in distinct crystals. Cleavage: basal eminent. Foliated, radiated lamellar; also granular, to compact or cryptocrystaline, the latter sometimes slaty." The sample is of no commercial value. The gray-blue quartz sample, undoubtedly, carries metal sulphides. It should be assayed for gold, copper and cobalt. E. S. Dana and other authorities, give no such rock as "porphyry." A rock may be porphyritic, that is to say such as those mixed with mica, porphyritic granite and so forth. There is no porphyritic sample among your three specimens. Prof. J. D. Dana, in his work on geology, tells us of the red porphyry of Egypt which contains in the mass oligoclase (a calcium-sodium feldspar) and hornblende (amphiboe,) and also that the green porpayry (or Oriental verdantique) has labradorite and pyroxene in its compact mass and from the same author we specially quote "These porphyritic rocks are supposed to be igneous." Other authors believe such rocks to be metamorphic and not igneous. Porphyry, can be described as a "variegated stone" and porphyritic, as "relating to or containing porphyry." A porphyritic rock is one having distinct crystals of feldspar disseminated through it, "so that, when polished, the surface appears spotted with a light-colored mineral, usually between an eighth of an inch and two inches in length." Your many colored sample is a silicate of iron and magnesium, a mixture of no commercial value and almost worthless even as a specimen. Ores of tin are found, associated with "arsenopyrite, wolframite, scheelite, molybdenite, bismuth, blende, fluorite, apatite and lepidolite." Also with chalcopyrite and galenite. Ores of silver are found with lead ores, with those of gold and of antimony, bismuth, iron, chlorides, sulphides, mercury and other combinations. It is a pleasure to learn that "at one of the Nevada camps there is a porphyry rock fairly (and not unfairly) shot with gold." There are tests for all minerals. As to what is available for "greenhorns" depends. Such a term is available and used at times by those who do not belong to the class, still, no matter what experience teaches us, much can be added by closely studying Dana, and for blow-pipe tests, Brush-Penfield. This department of The Times will endeavor to give descriptive matter wherever and whenever possible. Your kind suggestion, on the point, is appreciated.

Manganese Oxide.

WINSLOW (Ariz.) April 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Under separate cover I mail you today a small sample of rock. Will you kindly classify it and state what it is composed of. Value?

Yours respectfully, R.

Estimating Gold in Quartz.

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) April 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] At present, having no library to refer to, I will thank you for the method of estimating gold in quartz.

Yours truly,
A. F. C., E. M.

ANSWER: The specific gravity of gold is 19.000. That of quartz is 2.600. These numbers are given here merely for convenience in explaining the rule; they do not accurately represent the specific gravities of all quarts and quartz gold." (California gold quarts, on an average, is not over 18.600.) (a.) Find the specific gravity of the rump. Suppose it to be 8.067. (b.) Deduct the sp. gr. of the lump from the sp. gr. of the gold; the difference is the ratio of the quartz by volume: 19.000 minus 8.067 equals 10.933. (c.) Deduct the sp. gr. of the quartz from the sp. gr. of the lump; the difference is the ratio of the gold by volume: 8.067 minus 2.600 equals 5.467. (d.) Add these ratios together and proceed by the rule of the proportion. The product is the percentage of gold by bulk: 10.933 plus 5.467 equals 16.400. Then, as 16.400 is to 5.467, so is 100 to 33.35. (e.) Multiply the percentage of gold in bulk by its sp. gr. The product is the ratio of the gold in the lump by weight: 33.35 multiplied by 19.00 equals 643.65. (f.) Multiply the percentage of quartz by bulk (which must be 66.65, since that of gold is 33.35) by its specific gravity. The product is the ratio of the quartz in the lump by weight: 66.65 multiplied by 2.60 equals 173.29. (g.) To find the percentage, add these two ratios together and proceed by the rule of proportion: 643.65 plus 173.29 equals 806.94. Then as 806.94 is to 643.65, so is 100 to 78.33. Hence, a lump of auriferous quartz having a specific gravity of 8.067 contains 78.53 per cent. of gold by weight. MAKES SECRETS PULP.

Firm Whose Specialty is the Destruction of Confidential Papers.

[New York Sun:] "I have just paid a few cents a pound for old books and papers for which someone in this town would give thousands of dollars," said a down town paper manufacturer a few days ago, and he told the truth.

The paper man pays for this valuable old paper, but only a few cents a pound. That is all it is worth to him for reduction into pulp. His rates are a bit lower, perhaps, than those of the junkman, but with his purchase he gives guarantee that nothing he buys shall ever be read or examined.

A list of his customers, which he gives for reference, is pretty good proof that he keeps his word and that the secrets of the waste paper bags never leak out. The reference list shows that the manufacturer has destroyed books, papers, etc., for about twenty banks, half as many insurance companies, a dozen bankers and brokers, several of the big wholesale dry goods firms and a large number of retailers.

"How do you destroy this valuable paper and make sure that nobody gets hold of it?" the manufacturer was asked.

"It isn't allowed to pass through very many hands," was the answer, "and the men who do take care of it are ignorant. Some of them cannot read, but they would not have a chance to glean much out of our waste if they could.

"When we get an order from a firm to destroy its books and papers we send a man up with a lot of big bags. The bindings are ripped off the books, their pages are worn apart, and they are stuffed into bags along with letters and any other waste the firm may have to offer.

"The bags are sealed and put aboard a freight car. Next day they arrive at our factory in Connecticut, and the seals are not broken until the bags are dropped beside a big vat filled with strong chemicals.

"The papers are dumped into this, which reduces them to a pulp. Another process cleans the ink from the pulp, and then it goes into new paper. You see, there isn't very much chance for anyone to get hold of any information set down on our waste paper, and I'm dead sure that our guarantee has never been broken.

"Do we do a big business in destroying documents? Well, I should say yes.

"Before we took hold of that new branch of the paper business it was a good deal of a problem for some firms to know how to get rid of their old books and papers. It is harder to burn a book than it is to burn a log. Papers are also easily carried up a chimney by a strong draught and burning didn't solve the problem.

"Junk dealers would buy the stuff, but they didn't give any guarantee as to privacy, and were always on the hunt for anything they could turn into money.

"I know of a case where a junkman bought a lot of letters from a dry goods firm, sorted them all out by States, and found that they gave the key to the identity of the firm's customers. A rival firm bought the letters and paid pretty well for them.

"Then there are lots of things on the books of almost any firm that a competitor would like to see—price lists, discounts, trade relations, and all that sort of thing. It wasn't safe to hand books containing that information to junkmen, and that's why we started in the destruction business."

How to Live Long.

Prof. Boyd Laynard of London, England's leading author of works on hygiene, gives these twelve rules for those who desire to live a healthy and long life:

(2.) Do not live to eat. Select those aliments most suitable for nourishing the body and not those likely to impair it.

(3.) Look upon fresh air as your best friend. Inhale its life-giving oxygen as much as possible during the day, while at night sleep with the bedroom window open at the top for a space of at least four or five inches. Follow this out even in the depth of winter. It is one of the great secrets of long life.

(4.) Be clean both in mind and body. "Cleanliness is next to godliness." It is a fortification against disease.

(5.) Worry not nor grieve. This advice may seem but cold philosophy and to be easier to give than to follow; nevertheless, I have known persons of a worrying disposition almost entirely break themselves of it by a simple effort of the will. Worry kills.

(7.) Have a hobby. A man with a hobby will never die of senile decay. He has always something to occupy either mind or body; therefore they remain fresh and vigorous.

(9.) Keep regular hours, and insure sufficient sleep.

(11.) Have an object in life. A man who has no purpose to live for rarely lives long.

The Lexicon of Youth.

Periodically the discovery is made by some literary light that the average person's vocabulary is preposterously small. Within a few weeks the collection of words which the contemporary young man has at his command has been stated at sixty-five or less. This is very much the lowest estimate ever made, and, as such, deserves consideration; but as each new edition of a dictionary published contains at least a few hundred more words than its predecessor, the problem is evidently not one of production, but of distribution. There are words in plenty, if people would only make use of them.

Even if the typical specimen of the generation now coming of age is only half as well off as Kipling's civil servants, with their equipment of "one hundred and fifty words and the adjectives," the situation is not altogether hopeless.—[New York Post.

Miss Hearst's Concert.

The "welcome home" recital of Miss Estelle Catherine Hearst, contralto, was given last evening at Dobinson Auditorium, and the sweet singer was greeted by a host of her friends, which filled the entire audience chamber. Flowers there were in profusion; clusters of roses, carnations and other blossoms were banked on the broad, swinging seat in the entrance-way and piled over the footlights until a rich, deep row stretched from pillar to pillar.

During her two years' sojourn in New York, Miss Hearst's voice has been broadened, increased in range, and bettered in most of the general effects. Her tone-production is not yet quite ideal. She uses "registers," instead of one broad sweep of unchanging tone from the top to the bottom of her range, and the result is sometimes unsatisfactory. Her upper voice has been built to large size, and her lower tones are good, although overspread occasionally. Her weakness lies in her middle voice, which is apparently fragile.

Because of her increase in range and power, as well as her added accomplishments in the realms of dramatic interpretation, Miss Hearst is enabled to programme songs that she dared not attempt before—songs which are unsexed, in fact, by but few contraltos. In instance may be given "La Cieca," from Ponchielli's "Gioconda," which she sang last evening, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden," that infinitely subtle study in delicate art, essayed by a thousand and translated by one.

Few contraltos in Los Angeles have the repertoire at command which is now amenable to Miss Hearst's will. She has made excellent use of her time in learning French, German and Italian, and her pronunciation is pleasingly distinct. As a mistress of style she has perfected herself without confusing the different schools, and combined the lyric, dramatic and ballad methods on a single programme most effectively.

It was in the gentler numbers, such as Gaynor's "If I Knew" and Stevenson's "Robin," and a dreamy little encore song, that she scored the most success. Tenderness, feeling and poetic sympathy were manifest in every note of these, and drew forth the heartiest applause from her intent audience.

Miss Hearst's programme embraced, besides the operatic excerpt and those simple ballads, Wagner's "Traume," a group of Grieg's lyric poems, Delibes's "Coppelia" waltz song, two folk songs and Massenet's "Ferme Les Yeux."

Interest in Festival.

The interior of the Temple Auditorium is to be entirely rearranged for the May Festival. Bandmaster Innes, who is still in Los Angeles, inspected the building yesterday, and decided that the proscenium arch in the big hall would have to come out. This is necessary, on account of the size of the band and choruses, which will need twice as much stage room as that used by the Conreid Opera Company. The first balcony in the auditorium will be arranged so as to afford accommodation for a part of the immense children's chorus, which even the enlarged stage will be unable to accommodate.

Much interest has been awakened in the festival, and the advance sale of single and season tickets has been larger than that accorded any similar entertainment in Los Angeles. Of the special programmes for the week, "Parsifal," on Wednesday night; the oratorio programme, Tuesday night, and "Americana," Thursday night, seem to have the call for popular favor.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Seldom has a president who was determined to refuse another term of office received so large a complimentary vote for nomination as was cast for Mrs. Roy Jones in the recent ballot of the Friday Morning Club.

Mrs. Jones has again and again rejected absolutely any proposition to put her up for another year, so the complimentary vote was the warm tribute to her ability and personal qualities by the club members. Though nominated, Mrs. Jones will not consent to run and the ticket for election will have only Mrs. Ernest Foster's name for the presidency.

The rest of the nominations are as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. Frank Gibson; Mrs. E. K. Foster, Mrs. George Wadleigh and Miss Collier; second vice-president, Miss Collier and Mrs. Frank Gibson; secretary, Mrs. Bernhold Baruch and Mrs. Bell Widener; treasurer, Mrs. N. K. Porter; board members, Mmes. Elsie Enderlein, Mrs. C. Whitney, Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, Mrs. A. T. Clover, Mrs. W. D. Turner, Mrs. Harriet Wright, Mrs. Alice Merritt Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Haynes, Mrs. Arthur M. Davidson, Mrs. William Pinet and Mrs. J. M. Sanborn.

Yesterday's programme was a song recital given by Paul England. Heine's verse, his poems of power and passion and tender beauty; Schumann's music thrilling and appealing, and England's dramatic baritone as a vehicle of expression—this was the rare treat given the club yesterday.

Mr. England is a poet and writer himself, with the poet's infinite comprehension. He is versatile, dramatic, has a great, splendid voice to express the heroic or hush itself to the faintest echo of a lover's sigh.

Schumann's song cycle, "Dichterliebe," was sung by Mr. England in the manner which has such a wealth of expression and sentiment. Mr. England's English translation of the six exquisite poems of Heine's were printed upon the programme.

He sang, besides the song cycle, Mozart's Serenade from "Don Giovanni," Rossini's couplets from "Mireille," and two songs, "Come Away, Death" (C. Bandelary) (C. A. Lidgey,) and this was not enough for the enthusiastic listeners, and Mr. England responded with encores with a merry French number. The accompanist was Miss Mary B. Orcutt.

This is the second appearance of Mr. England in Los Angeles. He came here some months ago from London where he occupies a conspicuous place in literary and musical circles. He is famous as the German translator of more than 100 lyrics taken from the German, French, Italian, Russian, Danish and Modern Greek literatures, and his own poems have found wide recognition.

At Cambridge University he won many honors during his four years of study. He obtained the Porteus gold medal for reading, and after taking his degree he was for four years librarian in the British museum, contributing during that time essays, criticisms and articles to leading periodicals.

In spite of his other gifts he has made his profession, studying

W. E. RICHEY ESCAPED DEATH AS IF BY MIRACLE.

Knocked Down by Southern Pacific Engine, He Clung to the Step While the Machine Traveled Considerable Distance—Scratches and Bruises His Only Injuries.

Dragged underneath the pilot of a switch engine a distance of seventy-five feet, while horrified spectators shouted to the engineer to stop, W. E. Richey, a jeweler of No. 609 Clarence street, faced death in a fearsome form yesterday.

Richey was crossing the Southern Pacific tracks on a bicycle at Third and Alameda streets early last evening and had just dodged behind a long freight train only to find a switch engine on the other side bearing down upon him. He tried to turn aside, but too late. The step which answers for a pilot on the engine struck him and hurled him on the track. Then, partly under the step, holding on like grim death, Richey was dragged and rolled for what seemed to him an interminable distance. All the while he was only a few inches in advance of the big driving wheels.

Finally the engineer was made to realize the plight of the unfortunate man and the locomotive was brought to a standstill. Too frightened to tell his own name and apparently half dead, Richey was dragged from his perilous position. His wheel had been demolished, but aside from a few minor cuts and bruises Richey was uninjured.

BLESSING THE STATUES.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, at St. Agnes' Church, Vermont and Adams streets, the ceremonies of blessing two handsome new statues will be performed. One is a statue of St. Agnes, patroness of the church, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Zenor; and the other, a statue of St. Joseph, patron of the universal church, a gift of Rev. P. F. Farrelly of Pasadena. The ceremonies will be performed by Father Farrelly, assisted by Rev. D. W. J. Murphy of Hollywood as deacon; Rev. John Sheehy of Monrovia, as subdeacon, and Rev. Clement Molony, rector of St. Agnes Church, as master of ceremonies. Father Murphy will preach the sermon, and the services will close with the solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament.

MYSTERY ON THE OVERLAND.

Los Angeles Citizen With Dislocated Shoulder Arrives and is Unable to Tell How it Happened. Phoenix (Ariz.) Man on Long Hunt for His Brother.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Julius Friend of Los Angeles was removed from the Santa Fé overland to a private hospital here this afternoon, suffering with a bad dislocation of the shoulder.

Much mystery shrouds the accident. Friend states that he was coming from Arizona to Los Angeles on the overland, and that the engine broke down at Summit, in the San Bernardino Mountains, and he strolled into a cañon and lay down under a tree to wait until repairs were completed on the locomotive.

He recollects nothing more until he came to consciousness on the train. He was brought here on a stretcher with a terrific pain in his left arm. His money and jewelry were taken charge of by J. W. Barton, a prominent Mason, for safety.

All afternoon he has been under an anesthetic. Dr. Mills, who is attending him, says the injury is not serious. The trainmen seem unable to give any account of the affair.

VALLEY LAND VALUES.

Superintendent Mulholland of the Los Angeles city water system was on the stand most of the day in the condemnation suit of the Arrowhead Reservoir Company against Mrs. Jesurum to condemn 320 acres in Little Bear Valley.

The respondent wanted him to give his opinion as to the value of the property for a reservoir site. The plaintiffs argued against his answering a hypothetical question on the ground that he had not qualified sufficiently.

For four hours Mulholland occupied the witness box, finally being withdrawn with the question unanswered. He will tomorrow make a special trip to the valley to qualify himself. A real estate agent named Victor of Los Angeles testified that the property is valued at $15,000. Others value it all the way to $35,000.

NEGRO SEEKS PARDON.

Sam Evans, a negro who engaged in a revolver fight with Policeman Jack Kering about three months ago, both being wounded in the left heel, is preparing to petition the Governor for a pardon. He was committed to the County Jail for eighteen months, and the jury having found him guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, the charge having been assault to murder.

LONG HUNT FOR BROTHER.

J. H. Moss of Phoenix, Ariz., was here this morning looking for his brother, R. L. Moss, whom he has not seen in twenty-five years. Two years ago while in Bakersfield, he was accosted by a stranger who mistook him for his brother. This was the first inkling he had that his long-missing brother was in this State. Since then he has been on a hunt, and recently heard that the brother had run a sawmill in this vicinity three years ago. Failing to locate him, Moss has gone to Reno, Nev., on another clew.

ONTARIO ANNEXATION.

There was a conference of attorneys at Los Angeles this morning relative to the suit of A. G. Wallin and the People against the city of Ontario, which was appealed to the new district court from the Superior Court of this county, and has been set down for argument May 22. The action was brought to annul an annexation election held several months ago at Ontario, which resulted in annexing twelve miles square to the town, which originally covered but 160 acres. The orange growers in the new territory objected to annexation on the ground that they would be taxed for the public utilities enjoyed in Ontario while receiving no benefit from them. The Superior Court held that the election was legal.

CUT WORMS' INVASION.

The horde of cut worms which have been increasing by millions in this valley in the last few weeks, has begun an attack on orange orchards. Growers are alarmed and have called on the County Horticultural Commissioner to take steps at once seeking a remedy to save the crop.

The worms are not eating the foliage, but have attacked the green fruit and buds, boring through the rind of all fruit and devouring the interior.

Some trees are already cleaned of fruit.

TEST OF SHEEP ORDINANCE.

F. R. Dosses was arrested by Constable William Allen last evening for driving more than 100 head of sheep along a country road. Dossen's flock numbers 2000 head. He has employed an attorney to test the validity of the ordinance, the hearing being set for May 23 in the township court.

SAN BERDOO BRIEFS.

Senator Smoot and his party from Salt Lake arrived here this afternoon and remained several hours. They came up from Riverside.

Clifford J. Baker is organizing a company of Spanish war veterans here, and has already secured fifteen names to the muster roll. The initial meeting will be held next Wednesday in the Armory Hall.

Seth Hartley, who has investigated the feasibility of building a street railway between San Bernardino and Rialto, announced today that he has abandoned the project.

Attorney R. E. Bledsoe has received a pathetic letter from a woman claiming to be the wife of Joseph Dennis, who writes from Marblehead, Mass., requesting assistance in locating Dennis, who is said to have kept a store here many years ago. The woman is said to be in destitute circumstances.

REDLANDS.

WORKING FOR BONDS.

REDLANDS, May 12.—A mass meeting for open discussion of the proposed street bonds has been called for tomorrow evening in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium. Chairman J. J. Suess of the Board of City Trustees will preside, and addresses will be in order from Attorney Kirk H. Field, City Attorney Leonard and City Engineer Brown, after which the meeting will be thrown open for five-minute talks.

The city is being thoroughly canvassed in the interest of the bonds by a committee representing both the City Trustees and the Improvement League, and it develops that the general sentiment is in favor of a bond issue for permanent street improvements, only a large proportion of the citizens feel that the sum suggested, $50,000, is inadequate, and that $75,000 or $100,000 would be none too large. On the latter basis, as the bond issue is expected to cover only one-third of the cost of the improvements, the city to do one-third, and the property owners the remainder, Redlands will in a couple of years acquire $300,000 worth of permanent streets.

SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The school census just completed in this city shows that there are 2678 children in the Redlands, Lugonia, Crafton and Railroad districts, the four school districts of the city. This, according to the usual method of computing the population, gives Redlands a population of over 16,000. The same method in 1904 gave the population 8611.

COLTON.

REMOVING A LANDMARK.

COLTON, May 12.—The bandstand—a familiar landmark of Colton, was yesterday forced to give way to the march of progress. The stand, which has stood for several years on the corner of Eighth and I streets, the site for the new hotel, has been moved. Ten years ago, it was built in the Southern Pacific Park with money raised by contributions.

RIVERSIDE.

CURFEW DAY HAS COME.

RIVERSIDE, May 12.—Young America in Riverside will have to be good after tomorrow. The new curfew ordinance will go into effect on that date. This provides that juveniles under 16 of both sexes must be off the streets before 8 o'clock in winter time and before 9 o'clock in summer, providing of course that they are not attended by adults of mature years. The steam whistle at the electric light plant will be utilized for a curfew warning.

MACCABEE MEMORIAL.

Riverside Tent No. 19, Knights of the Maccabees, will hold memorial services at 2 p.m. on Sunday in I.O.O.F. Hall. Short addresses will be delivered by Judge H. C. Hibbard and Arthur F. Clarke and music will be furnished by a ladies' quartette.

CUP DEBATE.

The final debate for the Swing Cup, offered to the high schools of Riverside and San Bernardino county high schools, is held at Perris tonight. Riverside and Perris qualified for the final debate, the subject for which is "Resolved, That the interests of California demand that the State be divided." Paul Hatkin and Charles Campbell represent Riverside and Albert Trujillo and Paul Brown speak for Perris. The Riverside High School sent over a good-sized delegation of rooters on the 4 o'clock train. The judges are Gen. Prescott of Redlands, Judge Wilbur of Los Angeles and E. H. Jolliffe of Ontario.

CITRUS CENTER NOTES.

The Y.M.C.A. gymnasium classes are arranging to give an exhibition on Monday evening in the Loring theater.

Miss Idale Edmiston died of consumption yesterday afternoon at her home on Grand avenue. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Church of the New Jerusalem. Miss Edmiston was at one time deputy county clerk.

Reed Smoot and wife and Editor Penrose of the Deseret News of Salt Lake were members of a party of about twenty of the Mormon contingent which visited Riverside today. After lunch at the Glenwood and a drive about the valley the party left for Redlands. Smoot says his wife will return and make a more extended visit at the Glenwood.

COACHELLA.

WATER THROUGH QUICKSAND.

COACHELLA, May 12.—The well recently sunk through the quicksand has not reached the desired depth but the big pump has been set up and is pumping about thirty inches of water. As soon as the melon season is over and the well men are again at liberty, they will put the hole down ten feet deeper, with the expectation of getting twenty inches more of water.

The well on the railroad company's land, put down by subscription, as an experiment in deep artesian wells, has reached a depth of 1035 feet, the deepest in the valley. It is not yet cased, the railroad company will probably put in the casing, with the hope of having a paying well.

Work will have to be pushed on the refrigerating plant in order to have ice by the time the melon crop is ready for shipment which will be in about three weeks. The two missing carloads of lumber, and the carload of cement that are causing the delay, have been heard from in Arizona, where they were diverted by mistake.

Of the 1000 acres of cantaloupes planted this year at Brawley, 250 acres are owned and shipped independently by F. Groshen. Mr. Groshen has already contracted for 20,000 crates for his early crop.

SANTA ANA.

ORATORICAL TRY-OUT.

SANTA ANA, May 12.—The try-outs to select representatives of the local High School for the annual county interscholastic oratorical contest resulted in the choice of Hazel Thomas for the senior class; Harry Smith for the junior, Edith McPhee for the sophomore and Clyde Runyon for the freshmen. The representatives of the two upper classes will deliver orations, the sophomores will read essays and the freshmen will give declamations. Contestants from Anaheim, Fullerton and Santa Ana schools will take part in the events, which will be held at Anaheim on the evening of May 19.

SANTA ANA JOTTINGS.

Marriage licenses were granted today to Charles N. Leach, aged 39, and Maud Baker, aged 22, both residents of Santa Ana; to J. G. Parsons, aged 22, and Belle P. Johnson, aged 22, both residents of Santa Ana; to Harry D. Vandever, aged 24, and Janie A. Frederick, aged 21, both residents of Los Angeles.

A final decree of divorce was entered today in favor of Mrs. Juanita Diiges from Harry Dilges.

Riverside High School baseball team has sent notice to Santa Ana that it will not play the game scheduled for Saturday. By this default Santa Ana wins the game, 9 to 0.

Blue gums at special prices this month. Geo. B. Warner, Santa Ana.

ORGANIZING NEW BANK.

ANAHEIM, May 12.—C. E. Holcomb, who has been here the past week completing arrangements for the establishment of the new United States National bank, left last night for Thermal on the desert to market his melon crop. Just before departing he received word that Senator Clark will be a heavy stockholder in the new institution along with I. W. Hellman and J. A. Graves. It is understood Mr. Graves will be president; Mr. Holcomb, cashier, and Otto Strodthog, assistant cashier.

Local residents have subscribed nearly $600 to purchase a site for the new pathological station, provided the State decides to locate it here.

There are seventy-four children of school age in Buena Park district, which is a slight increase compared with last year's report.

SANTA BARBARA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 12.—The California Homeopathic Medical Society concluded its work today and finally adjourned.

Upon the invitation of Dr. Simpson of San José, it was voted to hold the next annual meeting of the society at San José.

On motion of Dr. M. B. Campbell of Los Angeles, the American Institute was invited to hold its annual meeting in Southern California in 1907, provided a suitable location and accommodations can be obtained. Venice and other places were suggested for the big convertion. A committee, consisting of Drs. Salisbury and Buell of Los Angeles, Ward and Tisdale of San Francisco and John S. Hunt of Santa Monica, was appointed to secure the location and extend the invitation at the next meeting of the institute.

Tomorrow the delegates will go to the summit of the Santa Ynez range, where a barbecue dinner will be served.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

DEFENSE PUT UP A STRONG CASE.

Taking of Testimony Was Completed Yesterday at Fresno—Witnesses Deny that Guards Were Employed, When it Was Common Report that They Were.

The fight in the Argentine Oil Company's suit for the possession of the famous section 25 in the Midway district will be finished in this city, where Judge Wellborn will hear arguments on the twenty-seventh of next month. The taking of testimony was concluded at Fresno yesterday afternoon.

The defense finished its case late and the plaintiff put on only one witness in rebuttal. That witness was J. A. Waltman, who was impached on Thursday by Bakersfield men who declared that he could not be believed under oath. Waltman declared that each and every witness testifying concerning him had a personal grudge against him.

E. S. Vanmeter, a Fresno attorney, and former Congressman A. A. Barlow of Bakersfield testified that during April, May and June of 1901 there was no armed guard on section 25 to keep off the agents of Chanslor and Canfield and that it was common report in Bakersfield at that time that such guards were maintained.

A Fresno dispatch to The Times last night says that Frank H. Short of Fresno, Charles G. L. Amberson of Visalia and George E. Whitaker of Bakersfield, attorneys for the defendants, are conceded to have put up a stronger case than the plaintiff. They have shown that Chanslor and Canfield did not do the assessment work in 1900; that the reports of armed force used in keeping them off in 1901 were exaggerated; that the mineral locations were on superficial grounds; and that the J. E. Moran claim is doubtful.

COMMANDER CONART'S AIDES.

Division Headquarters of the Sons of Veterans Issues Important Order.

Division Commander George W. Conart of the California Division, Sons of Veterans, U.S.A. has issued Orders No. 2, Series of 1905, from Division Headquarters, Room 526 Bullard building, this city, in which, after announcing the names of officers elected at the recent encampment in San Francisco and his subsequent choice of staff officers, heretofore published, the Division Commander names E. J. Hromada of Lincoln Camp, No. 16, of San Francisco, and Past Camp Commander John A. Goodrich of Phil Kearney Camp, No. 7, of Pasadena, as his personal aides and a list of special aides-de-camp, which he states he has endeavored to select from the workers of the Order, as follows:

Past Camp Commanders, Wm. H. Collins and I. L. Stout, Oakland; F. W. Heidel and Nieson Irvin, Los Angeles; Fred Hawlay and George H. Lisle, San José; Ben Hahn and L. E. Jarvis, Pasadena; Past Camp Commanders, F. S. Currens and A. R. Hazeltine, Long Beach; Past Camp Commander L. N. Taylor, San Bernardino; Past Camp Commander B. P. Oakford and M. P. Suley, of San Francisco Camp, No. 15, San Francisco; Past Camp Commander David S. Cahen, Lincoln Camp No. 16, San Francisco; Past Camp Commander G. B. Walker, Los Gatos; George W. Swing, and Harry V. Stocking, Riverside; C. L. Carr and John Vaughn, Redlands; W. Kratzer and J. J. Tompkins, Sawtelle; H. M. Hampton and W. I. F. Brown, Myrtle Creek, Or., these appointments to date from April 4, 1905.

Other important matters are treated of in Division Commander Conart's order, and Camp Commanders are urged to see that Memorial Day is properly observed.

FLORISTS' SOCIETY.

Southern California Interests May Join in Branch of National Organization.

J. C. Vaughan, gardener and florist of Chicago and New York, who has passed the winter at Pasadena, has taken steps for the organization in Southern California of a branch of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists, of which he is the president.

H. Piath of San Francisco, vice-president of the society for the State of California, is expected to arrive in Los Angeles within the next two weeks, when a meeting of persons interested will be held.

Several previous attempts have been made without success to form a similar organization in this section, but there has been so great a growth in the industry within the last few years that it is believed the present movement will succeed.

Mr. Vaughan is said also to contemplate the establishment of greenhouses in this vicinity, following the lead of John Lewis Childs, the Eastern florist, who has made a like move in Pasadena.

FLOWER SHOW MAKES BOW.

Unique Display of Trees and Plants Opens.

Stride in Move for the Garden Beautiful.

Plea for More General Tickling of the Soil.

Germs of a more beautiful Los Angeles were sprouted yesterday at the opening of a flower show under the auspices of P. D. Barnhart, at Masonic Hall, Hill near Fifth street. It would seem hardly probable that anyone who attended left the place without a determination to plant a tree, a shrub, a vine or some other growing thing that would add to the attractiveness of his surroundings.

It probably was the first systematic attempt ever made here to call the attention of the public to the great possibilities offered by the soil and climate of this section in the growing of such things as go to make for the esthetic in nature. That the public did not turn out in any great number to view the display is the loss of the public, but there yet is time for its redemption as the show is to be open today.

It is a creditable exhibit of the flora of this section, and, according to Dr. W. A. Lamb, member of the Board of Park Commissioners of Los Angeles, is the best idea ever promulgated for the education of the people in what can be done to add to the beauty of their homes and to the attractiveness of the city.

Mr. Barnhart, who conceived the plan of inducing florists, seedmen, nurserymen and others to make the display, is gardener for W. C. Patterson, W. J. Washburn and other prominent residents whose home places are wonders of natural beauty.

Barnhart got tired of seeing people waste their breath in admiration of set pieces, in which man tries by every effort of ingenuity to improve upon the work of the Creator, so he rustled around and persuaded a number of growers to join in the exhibit. He also interested several gardeners who devote their time to the beautifying of private grounds.

The result is the show, which, if given proper support, will be repeated frequently.

SIMPLE BUT EFFECTIVE.

The exhibit is not arranged with the idea of overwhelming spectators with its grandeur. It simply is a collection of the choicest trees and plants from gardens and greenhouses. There are many little-known and yet easily-grown trees; potted plants that need only to be stuck into the ground to transform unsightly and weed-grown back and front yards into floral bowers; ferns and palms that give a glimpse of mountain dell and tropic tangle; vines that, rooted at the side of a house, would hide the unsightliness of many an exterior now barren.

There are hundreds of plants and shrubs, staggering under unpronounceable Latin names, and withal of form and color so entrancing and of fragrance so intoxicating as to drive away any thought of a common name for a thing so rare.

One of the largest and most attractive of the exhibits is that from Singleton Court, the home of John Singleton. It is in charge of A. D. Peterson, gardener. A striking feature is a display of platycerium alcicorne, or elk-horn fern, a fern with leafy projections that sprout like the antlers of an elk. It is a parasite that grows on the trunk of a tree, and is exceedingly rare.

Another novelty in this exhibit is a philodendron, a tropical parasite that has great, spreading leaves and a fruit that resembles an ear of corn and tastes like banana. There also is a tree of "St. John's bread," the "locust and wild honey" growth of the desert, of which there are but a few in Los Angeles.

Among the branches of trees shown in this exhibit are those of the copper beech and of several varieties of holly, including the European and the tortuosa. Among the vines in the southern wild smilax, or sarsaparilla plant, which is as different from the common smilax as an oak is different from a peach tree.

ATTRACTIVE TREES.

In the exhibit of Theodore Payne are the Japanese oak tree, English and Irish yews, Monterey pine, and two varieties of the Norfolk Island pine, with its whorls, or shelf-like branches, not to mention the rather well-known bunya-bunya, or "monkey puzzle" tree of Australia.

The largest display of trees is made by the Pacific Nursery, which shows many of the trees that may be grown with ease and at little expense in yards and as street ornaments. Nineteen varieties of eucalyptus and fourteen of acacia are in this collection, together with forty-seven ferns, an alligator pear, a cherimoya, or Mexican custard plant; the Australian "flame tree," or "burning bush," and numerous others.

A dozen or more dwarf zinnias, an inch in height, and each with a diminutive flower, are in the display of the Figueroa Nursery, which also shows a "baby" primrose, a new geranium, lately come from Europe; Chinese primroses, everblooming begonias, maidenhair ferns and other novelties for the garden.

There are "tramp" and "freak" trees and plants from all parts of the world, most of them taking readily to the soil and climate of Southern California, and giving promise of what can be done here with a little intelligent selection and a certain amount of care.

Among the exhibitors are Homer Laughlin, the Germain Seed Company, John Getz, Euclid Heights Rose Farm, Ethelind Lord, W. Scott Way of Pasadena, the Girls' Collegiate School, Edmund Burke and Mr. Barnhart, who makes a display of flowers from the gardens of Messrs. Patterson and Washburn.

The Apollo Club aided in the entertainment of visitors at the show, and the seed pods of the jacaranda were given as souvenirs of the occasion.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A spoonful of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine after meals for a few days is almost sure to relieve this distressing complaint. It strengthens the nerves of the stomach, stimulates the secretions, and accelerates the progress of digestion. Try it. If first bottle does not benefit you get your money back, so it costs you nothing if it fails.

Truth For Men

DR. O. C. JOSLEN
The Leading Specialist

Seventeen years of successful practice in men's diseases, with hardly an instance where I have not effected a complete cure in all the cases I have treated. This would be sufficient reason for my having claim to the title of "Leading Specialist." But I have done more. I have discovered modern methods of treating Men's Diseases which are practiced by no physician other than myself—distinctive local methods that never fail.

Weak Men

and men who are afflicted with contracted ailments should not experiment or delay. Consult me and I will be frank and honest with you. If I can't cure you I will say so at the start. My knowledge, gained by my long practice, enables me to distinguish the incurable cases, and these I utterly refuse to treat. But any case I accept, so sure am I of securing a complete and radical cure, that

MEN

We are specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Diseases, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Varicocele

We GUARANTEE AN ABSOLUTE AND PERMANENT CURE in every case we treat of varicocele. We will show to any man suffering to be cured, upon leading business men of Los Angeles that we have cured. This fact, with our GUARANTEE of a cure ought to convince men that they can be cured of varicocele.

Weakness

This trouble—the bane of men of all ages—we cure. Our treatment is direct, effective and the cure sure and lasting. We take pleasure in making clear to every man who calls for consultation the cause, the course and the outcome of his particular case. There is no charge for consultation.

Contracted Diseases and Blood Poison

These troubles are thoroughly understood by Dr. Harrison and his associates. For over 21 years they have successfully treated this class of troubles. Everything is founded on a thorough medical education, has brought to them perfected methods by which they can positively promise a cure.

Stricture

This trouble we treat successfully by improved methods, which never fail to bring about a cure. Electricity or electric belts cannot do this trouble any good; when you employ either you throw your money away. Call and let us explain the nature of the trouble and how you can be permanently cured.

Kidney and Bladder Trouble

Dr. Harrison & Co. are phenomenally successful in these troubles, every case that comes to them is carefully examined and the true causes found for existing conditions. It is then easy for us to treat the case understandingly; not all cases are easily understood; not all men know how to treat them. Our experience for years has taught us just how to cure the very worst of these troubles. Our success in curing demonstrates the positive proof of our ability.

[New Series]

An Ordinance declaring the intention of the Mayor and Council of the City of Los Angeles to establish the grade of Avenue Fifty-two, from Granada street to Aldama street.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Los Angeles do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That it is the intention of the Council of the City of Los Angeles to establish the grade of

AVENUE FIFTY-TWO,

At a point on the east side 380 feet north of the north line of Granada street the grade shall be 568.17 and 568.13 at a point on the west side opposite thereto.

At a point on the east side 420 feet north of the north line of Granada street the grade shall be 572.35 and 572.31 at a point on the west side opposite thereto.

At a point on the east side 460 feet north of the north line of Granada street and at a point on the west side opposite thereto the grade shall be 577.17.

At the intersection with Aldama street the grade shall be 632.00 at the southwest and southeast corners.

And at all points between said designated points the grade shall be established so as to conform to a straight line drawn between said designated points.

Sec. 2. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published for ten days in the Los Angeles Daily Times and thereupon and thereafter it shall take effect and be in force.

I hereby certify that the foregoing Ordinance was adopted by the Council of the City of Los Angeles at its meeting of May 1, 1905.

Notice of Street Work.

Public notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 17th day of April, A. D. 1905, the Council of the City of Los Angeles, did, at its meeting on said day, adopt an Ordinance of Intention, Numbered 10,922 (New Series,) to have the following work done, to wit:

1st. That

in said city from the south line of Washington street to the north line of Twentieth street, including all intersections of streets (excepting such portions of said street and intersections as are required by law to be kept in order or repair by any person or company having railroad tracks thereon, and also excepting such portions as have already been graded and graveled and accepted,) be graded and graveled to the official grade in accordance with the plans and profile on file in the office of the City Engineer and specifications for grading and graveling public streets in the City of Los Angeles with the natural gravel of the street, on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city, said specifications being No. 17 (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 8572 (New Series.)

2nd. That a cement curb be constructed along each side of the roadway of said New England street, from the south curb line of Washington street to the north curb line of Twentieth street (excepting along such portions of the line of said roadway upon which a cement or granite curb has already been constructed to the official line and grade,) in accordance with specifications for constructing cement curbs, on file in the office of the City Clerk, said specifications being No. (New Series) and adopted by Ordinance No. 8573 (New Series.)

3rd. That a cement sidewalk five (5) feet in width be constructed along each side of said New England street from the south curb line of Washington street to the north curb line of Twentieth street (excepting such portions of said street between said points along which a cement or asphalt sidewalk five (5) feet in width has been constructed to the official line and grade,) said sidewalk to be constructed in accordance with specifications for constructing cement sidewalks on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city, said specifications being No. 3 (New Series,) and adopted by Ordinance No. 8572 (New Series.)

Sec. 2. The Council of said city hereby finds upon estimate of the City Engineer, that the total cost of said improvement will be greater than fifty cents per front foot along each line of said street, including the cost of intersections, and it is hereby determined, in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved February 27th, 1893, as amended by an Act of the Legislature amending said last named act, which amending act became a law March 2nd, 1899, that bonds shall be issued to represent the cost of said improvement. Said bonds shall be serial, extending over a period of ten years, an even proportion of the principal sum of which shall be payable annually, on the second day of January of each year; the second day of January of each year by coupon, after their date until the whole are paid, and to bear interest at the rate of seven (7) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the second days of January and July of each and every year.

Reference is hereby made to said Ordinance of Intention for further particulars.

Notice of Street Work.

Public notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 17th day of April, A. D. 1905, the Council of the City of Los Angeles, did, at its meeting on said day, adopt an Ordinance of Intention, Numbered 10,953 (New Series,) to have the following work done, to wit:

That a public sewer is to be constructed in said city along the center line of

from the existing public sewer manhole in the intersection of Douglas street and Edgeware Road to a point 1239.32 feet southwesterly from the southerly line of Kensington Road, and across all intersections of streets, together with one (1) manhole and one (1) flushtank, all to be connected with said sewer.

Said sewer is to be constructed of vitrified, salt-glazed pipe eight (8) inches in internal diameter.

Said manhole is to be constructed of brick and mortar and is to have a concrete bottom and an iron cover and is to be circular in horizontal section with an internal diameter of four (4) feet and is to have a capacity of three hundred (300) gallons.

All of which improvement is to be constructed in accordance with the plans and profile thereof on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City of Los Angeles and specifications therefor on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Los Angeles, said specifications being entitled "Specifications for the construction of a sewer in Douglas street between Edgeware Road and Kensington Road."

Sec. 2. That said contemplated work of improvement is, in the opinion of said Council, of more than local and ordinary public benefit, and hereby declares that the exterior boundaries of the district to be benefited by said improvement and to be assessed to pay the cost and expense of said improvement shall be as follows:

Commencing at the most northerly corner of lot 13, block 29, Angeleno Heights, according to map thereof on file in Book 7, page 43, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County; said point of beginning being the southeasterly corner of Douglas street and Kensington Road; thence easterly from said point of beginning along the southerly line of said Kensington Road to the most easterly corner of said lot 13; thence southerly along the easterly line of said lot 13 to the most southerly corner of said lot 13; thence westerly along the northerly line of lot 11 of said block 29, to the most easterly corner of said lot 11; thence southerly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 11 of said block 29; thence westerly in a direct line to the most easterly corner of lot 9, block 13, of said Angeleno Heights; thence southerly along the easterly line of said lot 9 to the most southerly corner of said lot 9; thence westerly along the northerly line of Edgeware Road to the most westerly corner of lot 17, block 13 of said Angeleno Heights; thence northerly along the westerly line of said lot 17 to the most northerly corner of said lot 17; thence northerly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of lot 1, block 13, of said Angeleno Heights; thence northerly along the westerly line of said lot 1 and along the westerly line of lot 4, of said block 29, to a point; thence southerly, measured along the westerly line of said lot 4, from said southerly line of Kensington Road; thence easterly and parallel to said Kensington Road to a point in the Westerly line of lot 2 of said block 29; thence northerly along the westerly line of said lot 2, to the most northerly corner of said lot 2; thence easterly and along the southerly line of said Kensington Road to the point of beginning, excepting therefrom any portion of any public street or alley which may be included within the above described district.

Reference is hereby made to said Ordinance of Intention for further particulars.

JAMES HANLEY,
Street Superintendent.

MEMORIAL IN HOLLYWOOD.

REQUEST THAT THERE BE NO SPORTS ON THAT DAY.

Committee Appointed to Arrange for the Celebration, Which is to Include a Parade, Music and Speechmaking and to be of Special Interest to the Schools.

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—A meeting of citizens was held Thursday night to consider the observance of Memorial Day in the Cahuenga Valley. While there is no G.A.R. post here, there are many Grand Army men. Col. J. J. Steadman was elected chairman and Mrs. P. J. Beveridge secretary. Brief addresses in favor of the proposed exercises were made by Herve Friend, Rev. J. H. Hay, P. J. Beveridge and Rev. Dr. Will A. Knighten.

A general committee of fourteen was appointed to prepare a programme, select the time and place of meeting and make the necessary arrangements. This committee consists of Col. J. J. Steadman, Herve Friend, A. N. Denman, J. O. Churchill, Maj. Montgomery, D. F. Bacon, E. C. Taylor, R. B. Lyon, Herbert Clark, Rev. D. J. Murphy, Mrs. H. J. Whitley, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Beveridge, Mrs. Hanchett and Mrs. Douglas.

Representatives will visit the schools on the afternoon of the 26th inst. and address the children. A union service will be held in one of the largest churches on the 28th.

On Memorial Day it is proposed to hold an outdoor meeting with brief speeches, a parade, band and vocal music. This meeting is to be of special interest to the schools.

The committee requests that there be no athletic contests on that day.

FOOTHILL CITY NOTES.

Work is being rushed on the three-story brick building on the corner of Prospect and Highland avenue. This will be the largest business house in the city.

Mrs. Ira Gambel Edward, in behalf of the W.C.T.U., of Hollywood, this morning presented a picture of Frances Willard to the Fremont school. A similar picture has been given to the Grant school by the same organization.

Col. W. J. Fife has left for an extended trip north.

SOLDIEKS' HOME.

SHOES AND THINGS PASS.

SOLDIERS' HOME, May 12.—Col. T. T. Knox, completed his work in this branch and, on Thursday, departed for the North. Among the multifarious duties of the inspector was the condemning of articles, classified as 'imperishable property,' which are no longer serviceable. A rough estimate of value would place these in the present instance at nearly $20,000. Many of these articles are stored for future sale at auction, but the greater part of stuff is not salable, and is taken to the "dump"—a place at the northeastern extremity of the home, where all home garbage is consumed—and burned.

In the train of wagonloads thus treated, the other day, was a pile of government shoes numbering nearly 1400, which would have excited envy in the heart of a regiment of Weary Willies. Chairs, lamps, mats and matting, linoleum, mattresses, tables, tools, etc., which would have stocked a second-hand store of large proportions—all were doomed to be consumed by the inexorable rules of the home, and the "article of war."

APPOINTMENTS.

Maj. Will D. Graham, recently appointed clerk, is promoted to Commissary Sergeant, vice Cronheim, resigned. C. S. Clary, late Co. B, Twelfth Kentucky Cavalry, is appointed Commissary Clerk, vice Graham, promoted.

RECENT DEATHS.

Michael F. Barron, late Co. F, Twenty-fourth Ohio Infantry, a native of Ireland, admitted from Prescott, Ariz., in 1891, died May 7; aged 73.

George Simmons, late Co. B, First Washington Territory Infantry, a native of Switzerland, admitted from San Bernardino, in 1898, died May 7; aged 78.

John S. Carter, late Co. B, Fourth United States Artillery, a native of Bombay, E. I., admitted from Prescott, Ariz., in 1904, died May 9; aged 73.

Elias A. Read, late Co. B, a native of Canada, admitted from Los Angeles in 1904, died May 10; aged 61.

MONROVIA.

INCREASING WATER PLANT.

MONROVIA, May 12.—The Board of City Trustees have decided to purchase machinery of increased power for the White Oak pumping station which is used constantly during the summer irrigating season. The new pump is to be a fifty horsepower centrifugal and is guaranteed to utilize the entire twenty-two pound pressure from the Chapman plant.

The trustees have accepted the statement of the builders that the equipment will pump eighty inches through the 2500 feet of ten-inch pipe. At this rate it will place sufficient water at the disposition of the city with ten hours operation. The present plant must be operated twenty hours per day at a very great expense to supply the need.

Owing to the condition of the city's funds, the pump and engine will be bought on the rental plan, payment being completed in about fourteen months. The total cost will be $2600, which it is calculated will be saved to the city in decreased operating expenses.

COVINA.

BUY OIL FOR ROADS.

COVINA, May 12.—The City Trustees have contracted with E. E. Lapp, of Los Angeles, to furnish the city 1800 barrels of oil for road purposes. The oil is to be 14 deg. gravity and free from water. The price is 62 cents f. o. b. Covina. The board also accepted the resignation of Justice C. F. Parker as City Recorder and appointed C. E. Crawford to fill the vacancy.

WONDERFUL BABY SHOW AT LONG BEACH.

Fearful Task of Unmarried Men Chosen to Award the Prizes—Construction of Auditorium Will be Delayed—H. C. Dillon Home on Signal Hill Sold—New Bank.

LONG BEACH, May 12.—The bathhouse Casino resembled a nursery today, with laughing, crying and cooing babes in the arms of fond mothers and surrounded by admiring and criticising matrons, whose own babies had long since grown up. Sidling in and out among this crowd were three anxious, pale-faced men, who wore a hunted look and occasionally dodged. They were the judges, A. C. Malone, Dr. Robert Dodsworth and C. M. Truitt, three young bachelors selected without their consent and dragged into trouble by main force.

Between forty and fifty babes were on parade and the judges had no easy task. Their awards as finally made were as follows: Prettiest Mexican baby, Mercedes Vallejo, born in the City of Mexico; baldest-headed baby, Marshal Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young, Jr.; red-headed baby, Percival Landers; youngest baby, with fewest teeth, Edward Anderson; blue-eyed baby, Norma Wilson; brown-eyed baby, Mildred Swearengen; curly head, James Irvin McDonald; black-headed baby, La Verne Reitz; best all-around baby, Rowan Pease; best Ebell baby, tie between Carl Oakford and Theodore Schilling, prize divided; heaviest three-year-old, Alvin Smith; heaviest one-year-old, Jacob Smith; smallest baby, Helen Young; best-shaped head, Gordon Riley; tallest baby, Mary Bickford Howe. The three judges are now avowed cellbates.

DELAY IN AUDITORIUM.

There will be another delay in the construction of the pavilion auditorium on the beach. S. E. Rommel & Co., who secured the contract for $22,455, have refused to sign, and forfeit $300 bond. The next lowest bidder is George Beard, $36,000, but this would exhaust the bond issue without provision for seating and wiring, and the Trustees will probably decide to readvertise for bids, which will occasion a still further delay, and it is not probable that the new pavilion will be completed before November. Richard Loynes, who is building the foundation, is not affected by Rommel's defection, and his part of the work will continue.

DILLON HOME SOLD.

The beautiful and picturesque home of Attorney H. C. Dillon on Signal Hill, together with the forty acres of ranch, was sold today to Samuel Brown of Exira, Iowa. The consideration is reported as between $40,000 and $50,000. The Dillon ranch lies on the southern slope of Signal Hill, with a magnificent view of the ocean and surrounding country, and is one of the show places of this community. It is planted in citrus and small fruits, the guava orchard being probably the largest in Southern California. At the foot of the ranch runs the Huntington Beach Short Line. The future plans of Mr. Dillon and family have not been made public.

NEW BANK.

Long Beach is to have another financial institution, to be known as the California State Bank of Long Beach. At a meeting last night the following officers and directors were chosen: President, Walter Snider; vice-presidents, A. M. Goodhue and J. W. A. Off; cashier, Harry Barndollar; assistant cashier, G. H. Gaylord. The capital stock is to be $100,000, which is oversubscribed. The directors are Walter Snider, J. W. A. Off, Willis Mitchell, W. Scott Smith, A. M. Goodhue, Harry Barndollar, G. H. Gaylord.

SEASHORE RUMBLINGS.

Frank Bradshaw was arrested today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, and is under $1000 bond for preliminary examination next Monday. Bradshaw on Tuesday attempted to plunge a pitchfork into Luther Willson, and did succeed in perforating his victim's hand.

C. E. Redman, Alamiton agent of the Salt Lake, has been transferred to Las Vegas, Nev., and is succeeded by H. E. Taylor.

Rev. J. Lewis Smith of Tacoma has officially accepted the call from the First Baptist Church of this city and will take charge of the pastorate July 1.

TROPICO.

FOOTHILL VALE NOTES.

TROPICO, May 12.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church gave a social at G.A.R. Hall Wednesday evening. A musical and literary programme was rendered, in which the Tropico Orchestra, Mrs. Edgar Ayres director, participated. John Hobbs and Will Dutton won gentlemen's prizes, and Mrs. John Hobbs and Mrs. Jesse Dutton ladies' prizes in the peanut contest.

The new officers are Guy Maxwell, chief templar; Miss May Cornwell, vice-templar; Miss Freda Bothick, past chief templar; Charles Hexmalhalch, marshal; Miss Bertha Patterson, deputy marshal; Miss Lucy Bettannier, chaplain; Miss Eulalia Richardson, secretary; Miss Nettie Shears, pianist, and Charles Patterson, guard.

A feature at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Club was an address by Mrs. Ellen Newsomb, on "California Wild Flowers." She also read some original verses. Mrs. Rusn Byram spoke of the medicinal qualities of some of the flowers. Among other numbers in the programme were piano selections by Miss Wells, a vocal duet by Mrs. W. C. Fraley and Mrs. Pritchard. An address by Mrs. F. G. Taylor and a vocal duet by Mrs. Fraley and Mrs. Mable Hackman.

OCEAN PARK.

GAS TURNS TO THIN AIR.

OCEAN PARK, May 12.—The home gas company that promised to afford this beach competition in fuel and illuminant by July 1 has apparently fallen by the wayside. In Santa Monica, although the franchise was secured, no bond has been filed as yet, nor has any work been done. No mains have been laid; no gas factory built. In Ocean Park a rank outsider gobbled up the franchise when it was offered for sale. The local company asked that a second one be offered for sale, but no advertisement for its sale has yet been issued. It is, therefore, a physical impossibility for the beach to have competition in gas, as promised, by July 1. The $60 contracts that were secured from prospective consumers stipulated that the company would be prepared to supply gas by the date named. These will of course all prove worthless, and before anything is done again by any company a new ground work will have to be erected. There are those on the beach who see in the collapse of the project the fine Italian hand of the Edison company in warding off competition and resulant reduction of rates.

COSTLY BOARD BILL.

Nat Grate used to board with Mrs. Stephens on South Second street, and when he went away last July he forgot to pay a board bill amounting to about $15. When he returned recently from San Francisco his arrest on charge of defrauding an innkeeper reminded him of his forgetfulness. When arraigned before City Recorder Guidinger of Santa Monica this lapse of memory cost him double the amount of the original claim, as he had to pay all court expenses.

FIND BODY BY LONG WHARF.

DEATH OF NIGHT WATCHMAN OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

Santa Monica Municipal League Declares for a Conservative Residence City Rather Than for a Pacific Counterpart of Coney Island. School Teachers Named.

SANTA MONICA, May 12.—For the third time in recent years old ocean has claimed as its victim the night-watchman on the Southern Pacific's mammoth wharf at Port Los Angeles. The body of Bruno J. Franke was found this morning in the surf, bruised and battered, tightly wedged between rocks.

During the long vigils of the night it was Franke's wont to fish from the pier and this morning when the day workers put in their appearance the absence of the night guardian was noted. His fishing pole and basket were found on the north side of the pier. The line was half drawn out of the water and lying beside the rod was his fish basket and the unfortunate man's coat and vest. The time clock indicated that he had pushed the button at 3:10 this morning, but there was no record on the clock of any later report.

He should have made a record at 5 a.m. Search was promptly instituted and at 10 o'clock the body was found close in shore on the south side of the pier. This circumstance, taken in connection with the fact that he had evidently been fishing on the opposite side of the wharf adds a dash of mystery to the affair.

The presence of the coat and vest on the pier is also confusing, inasmuch as the night was a chilly one. The supposition of Franke's friends is that he accidentally slipped off the pier while leaning far over in an attempt to pull in a fish or to disentangle a fouled line.

Franke was an old sea captain and was fearless. He would take hazards that no ordinary fisherman would risk.

The body was brought to Guidinger's undertaking parlors, where Acting Coroner Summerfield will make an official investigation at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

Franke, who was 42 years of age, lived with his wife and fifteen-year-old son on Eleventh street. He came to this bay five years ago from San Francisco.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

The Board of Education has decided to hold the annual commencement exercises on Friday, June 9. L. C. Gates will deliver the address. Sunday, June 4, will be baccalaureate day and Rev. J. D. H. Browne will deliver the sermon at the Methodist Church, the services being a union one of all the churches of the city. Tuesday, June 6, has been set apart as class day.

The public schools will open for the fall term on September 11. The following teachers have been chosen for the year: High School—C. S. Taylor, Miss Anna G. Fraser, Miss Eunice Reed, Miss Nellie Barnhardt. Grammar grades—Misses Elizabeth Hamlin, Elsie Holway, Alma Gunning, E. W. Fellows, Belle Banks, Zoe McClure, Dorothy Day, Elizabeth Harkness, Mary E. Whelan, Grace Stanwood, Pauline Leach, Jessie Saunders, Jessica Wilson, Lena Lovejoy, Florence M. Clute, Marie J. Smith, Bertha R. Hunt and Nettie B. Rice.

PIER PERMITS.

The City Trustees, in executive session last night, decided to grant to M. R. King permission to erect a pleasure pier at the foot of Marine street. A like permit will be given to Gilman & Dormer to erect a similar structure where the waves wash the feet of Pier avenue. C. H. Rutledge will be refused a license to sell liquor with meals at the Casa del Mar. The petitions for special elections to vote bonds for a septic sewer system and for the annexation of Irwin Heights will be referred to the City Clerk to be checked up.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

One of the latest announcements of policy of the Municipal League is in favor of having the town recognized as a conservative residence city rather than a Pacific counterpart of Coney Island, and with this object in view, committees are to be named to have charge of the preparation of literature descriptive of the city and its resources and attractions.

Another committee will look to the securing of a site for the "National Rest Home" soon to be established here for the retired clergy of the Episcopal church. Funds for this project are being raised by private subscription and the appeal that has been made throughout the country is meeting with liberal cash responses and pledges for financial aid when needed.

Another committee will have charge of the collection and installation of a comprehensive exhibit to be placed in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. President Robert F. Jones has named committees to work along the lines stated.

SEASHORE WHIFFS.

The Public Library trustees have made an appropriation of $100 to send Miss Effie Mosse, the librarian, to Portland to attend the meeting of librarians of the United States.

Edwin Waller of Sawtelle will be tried before Justice of the Peace Jenness Monday on a charge of attempting to evade the payment of a room-rent bill.

The Sunday-afternoon baseball game here will be between the Los Angeles Pacifics and the Merchants of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wood, Pasadena; Mrs. R. M. McKinley, Riverside, N. Y.; George Lawrence, London; H. W. Lawrence, Salt Lake City; C. A. Barnes, Los Angeles, are among recent arrivals at the Arcadia.

COOKING WITH GAS

Transactions on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday were confined to less than one dozen shares of Associated Oil at prices ranging from 35 to 35¾. The stock closed fractionally higher than on the previous day, but the bonds went to a lower level.

Central Oil declined three points, closing at 63, but there were no bids. Fullerton gained fractionally, closing at 30½, without offerings. Union gained 1½ points, closing at 85, but nothing was offered, and Union Petroleum appreciated 2 points in the buyers' terms, without change in the closing. In mining, Bonita gained 2 points, probably the result of a new strike at the mine on a 300-foot level.

Bidding was active in the bank list, but there was little exchange hands. First American National gained a point, closing at 117@122, but Broadway Bank and Trust declined 2 points, closing at 147. Merchants' National gained a point, closing at 300, without offerings.

1200 Associated Oil	35
200 Associated Oil	35¼
2000 Associated Oil	35½
1000 Associated Oil	35¾

DAILY REPORT OF ORANGE MARKET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oranges are moving briskly at auction sales, even though sales have been relatively heavy all the week, and many of the arrivals showed the effect of age. Bidders were anxious for fruit again this morning, and all sound stock was held firmly. The expected shortage due to transportation difficulties has not been much in evidence yet. Wholesalers are enjoying good business at full range of values, and retail movement is still active, with prices good. Sicily lemons have advanced 15 to 20 cents a box, under increased demand from consuming trade.

Local Citrus Movements.

The shipments of citrus fruit Thursday were 82 carloads of oranges and 26 carloads of lemons; grand total of shipments, 32,321, of which 1686 were lemons.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

The cherry receipts were 1200 boxes, but under a strong demand beginning with snappy trading in the early hours, prices were maintained with a tendency to higher figures for extra fancy stocks. Black Tartarians were jobbing at 65 to 75 cents a box; 90 for extra fancy; bulk 40 to 55; whites, 40 to 55 cents for extra fancy; bulk, 4 to 5 cents. The strawberry arrivals were 300 parcels of Monetas and 200 crates of Jumbos, with the market steady. Monetas jobbing at 5 to 6 cents and Tropicos, 7. Raspberries were in fairly good supply. Tropicos jobbing at 10 and Orange 25 cents; loganberries were lower at 15 cents, and blackberries steady at 8.

Eggs were firm at 19 to 21 cents.

Creamery butter was cleaned up, but valley creamery was in plenty, but under heavy shipping orders stocks were fairly well absorbed.

Two cars of Utah potatoes arrived and sold readily at 1.65 to 1.85; two cars of Colorados also came in and jobbed at 1.30. The market in old potatoes is strong, and some fancy potatoes afford comparatively little relief as these are arriving in light supply. Rhubarb stiffended perceptibly, jobbing at much improved demand, and stocks moved off freely at 90 cents to 1.00. Peas were in abundance and weak at 2½ to 3 cents; beans were a drug and weak at 4 to 5 cents for stringed and at 2½ to 3 for wax. Liberal receipts of tomatoes arrived which had a depressing effect on the market, Floridas jobbing at 2.00 to 2.50; Mexicans, 2.00 to 2.20; Hollywoods, 1.00 to 1.25. Summer squash was steady at 75 cents to 1.00; cucumbers easy at 75 cents, but cabbage was in over supply and weak at 1.00 to 1.25. Chiles were steady at 12 to 14 cents; green and dried silverskin onions were in abundance and weak, green jobbing at 20 to 25 cents, and dried 2.50 to 3.00; asparagus was easier at 9 to 10 cents, and artichokes weak in undertone at 40 to 50 cents.

The arrivals of bananas have been somewhat liberal this week and stocks were jobbing at 2½ to 4 cents. Medium and choice oranges found ready sale at 1.50 to 1.75; lemons were in fair request at unchanged quotations; the routine trading in fancy stocks brining slightly better prices. Trading in grapefruit was indifferent with no change in prices, and tangerines continued scarce and steady.

Fifteen more crates of apricots arrived from Yuma and jobbed at 2.00 to 2.50.

Loquats were in little better demand and stocks were moving at 3 to 4 cents.

The Produce Exchange reported receipts for May 11 as follows: Eggs, 385 cases; butter, 19,800 pounds; cheese, 1725 pounds; Irish potatoes, 1166 sacks; sweet potatoes, none; onions, 50 sacks; beans, 11 sacks.

Fifteen cars of No. 1 grain hay arrived from the North yesterday and sold readily at 15.00 to 16.00; a car of the new crop came in from Imperial and is quoted at 14.00. Wild hay is selling at 9.00 to 10.00; little local alfalfa is coming into the market.

Barracuda and halibut were scarce in the fish market; mackerel and bonito were in oversupply; receipts from the North were light, some German carp that arrived meeting with a snappy demand. Crabs were in plenty.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say that unsettled weather still retards retail trade, and uneven distribution of moisture prevents crops prospects from attaining an ideal position, but the general result is much better than normal, and far more satisfactory than at this time in 1904. Mercantile payments are fairly prompt, money is easy and abundant, while confidence in the future is the ruling sentiment. The dollar in Wall street is the lowest average for the sixty most active railway securities since last January has had no perceptible effect on business, and railway earning continue to make favorable comparisons with last year's figures, the early returns for April showing a gain of 8.7 per cent. Manufacturing activity is unabated. Foreign commerce has again shown an increase at this port over the same week last year, imports gaining $2,195,000. For the first time in many weeks the comparison as to exports was unfavorable, but the decrease was only 122,553. Real estate transfers are very heavy in all parts of the country, and in addition to the large amount of building operations in progress, the number of permits indicate that much more structural work is contemplated. Little interruption of the labor controversies is still cause for gratification. While the hide market has lost none of its strength, it is less active, but there is a notable scarcity of country hides which are especially firm. Failures this week in the United States are 197 against 207 last week, 206 the preceding week and 226 in the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 21, against 22 last week, and 13 the preceding week and 23 last year.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say the wholesale trade for fall delivery trade has stimulated by good public and private reports as to winter wheat, but heavy rains or continuously cool weather have interfered with retail trade, except in a few sections. Spring wheat seeding, however, has been finished and the increasing acreage, helped by abundant moisture, has a good start. The iron trade displays increased inquiry, with price concessions offered. The building trades offer an immense outlet for lumber, hardware and building materials generally. Railroad tonnage fell somewhat behind March, but the increase in earnings over April, 1904, is fully 4.7 percent, against a gain in March of 9.1 per cent. Trade on the Pacific Coast is of a last-week-season character at wholesale. The wool markets are very high, and the West excitement reigns, with sales of wool on the shearer' backs bringing prices higher than the Eastern level. Failures in the country for the week ending May 11 number 158, against 198 last week. Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending May 11, are 999,622 bushels, against 1,279,864 last week and 734,638 this week last year.

Bank Clearings.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The following table, compiled by Bradstreet, shows the bank clearings at the principal cities for the week ended May 11, with the percentage of increase and decrease, as compared with the corresponding week last year:

	Amount.	Inc.	Dec.
*Chicago	182,805,000	4.6	....

Why These Hats Are Half Priced

Worth Listening To

The making season, in so far as new styles are concerned, is practically over with. We bought a number of pattern hats, both imported models and some of the best of New York's make, from which to make copies in our own work room, as is the usual custom everywhere. Now that these pattern hats have served their purpose, they are going to be reduced to one-half their original price, and you will find by comparison of quality, that they are as good as those priced at double in other stores, for the styles are to be found here exclusively. Some of the hats may be a little soiled as to the lining, but in no way is their utility or beauty impaired, so for a nice hat, make your purchase Saturday.

French Pattern Hats Worth up to $30, choice Saturday $14.85

These are the Paris originals, imported from the best makers; no two of them alike, and the lot is not very large. They are so distinct in style, that a printed description would not adequately portray their worth; they must be seen to be appreciated.

$18.50 Pattern Hats Choice Saturday $9.50

They are all exclusive in style and make; are the very newest shapes, consisting of small smart street hats, as well as light colored and white picture hats, for evening wear; some were used for models, and would cost up to $20.00 to duplicate. Others are values up to $18.50.

Fine Millinery worth to $12.50, Saturday $7.45

Include new white "Maxine Elliott" sailors, of best hair braid, with maline ruffles and facing, trimmed with black velvet ribbons; white and colored hair braid Polo turbans, with silk rosettes and French sailors of plain or fancy braids; also maline and braid hats in new popular shapes and colors. None worth less than $10.00. Some of them $12.50

SECOND FLOOR.

$8.50 Suit Hats Choice Saturday $4.85

They are of good quality braids; some have shirred facings, of silk, and are trimmed with ribbons, flowers and ornaments; are in black and colors; also natural Cuba hats, and are such values as other stores would ask $8.50 for, and are in a choice assortment from which to select.

$3.95 Street Hats Saturday at, Choice $1.95

A number of styles, for women and misses, including sailors, turbans and flares; are of fine soft braids, in all the wanted colors; are nicely made, prettily trimmed, and are sold at beginning of season at $3.95. Now priced at choice, $1.95.
